secutive surplus to report. The details of this work in full are printed in this report and show the results of extraordinary work carried on during the year by this Committee under the expert leadership of their untiring Chairman.

"The Endowment Fund was well remembered in 1952, a number of Bequests were received and are shown in detail. The interest only on all these investments is used for Current expenses and the name of all Estates are preserved as shown in our lengthening lists. This fast growing fund is a real safe-guard for the future.

"The Adoption Committee has been very active through the year, with the constant movement of children in and out of the Orphanage. Utmost care must be taken to see that suitable homes are provided for outgoing children which requires considerable time from members of this committee.

The Property Committee reports the building and grounds in excellent condition. A number of necessary changes have been implemented as suggested by the Fire Marshal.

"The Buying Committee has endeavored during the past year to provide all the necessities for growing children despite the ever increasing prices. The health of the children has been maintained by their well-balanced diet as shown in the Medical Report of Dr. Tidmarsh.

"The Home Committee composed of a number of Ladies of the Board have an important role working in co-operation with the Matron and her staff, in attending to the many details of such a large family.. The home must be kept in order at all times to assure cleanliness, and create a pleasing atmosphere for the many visitors and friends who call from time to time.

"The School continues to give excellent instruction as the Inspector's report readily shows. The Royal Arch Masons have maintained the high standard of the classroom in supplying all necessary equipment and supplies. We are also indebted to Mr. Frank Johnston for the great interest he has taken in providing Musical Instruction for the children.

"Ladies auxiliaries: If there is a special word to be said for any working group, here is ample opportunity. Their grand work has been our success and without them we could not carry on. When they hold their annual meeting, it is not difficult to recognize where our strength lies.

"I would like to express sincere appreciation to Doctors Tidmarsh, Lantz, Waye and Houston who have given so freely of their time in rendering medical aid to the children in our care; and also to the Prince Edward Island Hospital for free hospitalization."

Prisoners Attempt Hunger Strike But Soon Come To Terms

—Prisoners in Prince County jail refused to eat the noon meal yesterday but by supper time had decided that five sausages per man were better than no sausages so gave up the temporary fast and settled down to the serious task of eating.

On enquiring as to the kind and quantity of meat to be served for dinner the prisoners learned that sausages were on the menu and that there were sufficient to provide each man with five sausages and still have enough left to provide each man with part of a sixth sausage.

Some of the prisoners figured that at least six full sausages were necessary to make a half-pound, and decided they were being under-fed with only five and a fraction sausages per man.

Inspired by the vocal leadership of two or three, they united in a refusal to eat their dinner.

Because of this attitude by the prisoners, visiting privileges were cancelled for the day, and at supper time the uneaten dinner was served again to the prisoners who by this time, had apparently decided that sausages for a main course wasn't so bad after all—even if they did have to get by on less than six per man.—S.

Valuable Accomplishment By Alberton District W. I. Shown At Annual Convention

—The Women's Institute District Convention for the Alberton area met in Alberton W. I. hall Tuesday afternoon and evening, June 23.

Some 80 members, representing 14 institutes, were present at the afternoon session for which the presiding officer was Mrs. Harry Pridham, a member of Montrose institute. Mrs. Ralph Fraser, president of Montrose institute was secretary.

Honored guests were Miss Mary Robin, Supervisor of Institutes, Mrs. Julian Herring and Mrs. Alan Stewart, all of Charlottetown.

On behalf of Montrose, the entertaining institute. Mrs. Ralph Fraser welcomed the delegates and Mrs. James Hodgson of Brooklyn made reply.

Reports from the institutes showed a wide variety of worthwhile work for home and country accomplished during the past year. Schools benefitted greatly from the active interest of institute members. Desks, teaching equipment, prizes and treats have been purchased and in a number of cases schools have been cleaned or redecorated. Many institutes are members of the local film council and have arranged showings of films for the pupils. All institutes have remembered ill, shut-in and bereaved folks and have donated money to a large number of charitable institutions such as the Red Cross, Salvation Army, March of Dimes, etc. Red Cross sewing and knitting have been done, Red Cross swimming and water safety classes organized, a Red Cross loan cupboard sponsored and a Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic organized.

Two institutes have studied First Aid during the year. The spirit of friendliness and co-operation has been evident in all institutes and a number of them have enjoyed a social gathering in the form of a turkey or goose dinner. Alberton institute celebrated its 25th anniversary since the last district convention.

Members of the executive for next year's convention were named. Rosebank will be the entertaining institute; exhibits will be from Elmsdale, Fortune Cove, O'Brien Road and St. Lawrence; the educational talk will be given by Montrose and fun and nonsense will be provided by Elmsdale.

The members enjoyed a lively singsong led by Miss Robin, with Mrs. Michael Ahearn of Alberton at the piano. Mrs. Alan Stewart spoke briefly on the value of music in rural schools. "Fun and Nonsense" took the form of a laughter-producing skit by members of Alberton South W. I.

Miss Robin commented on the enthusiasm shown by the institutes of this area. She spoke briefly on a number of topics of interest to women. First she mentioned drama festivals which help people learn to express themselves and become better members of their communities, then of sewing clubs which are of great benefit to girls. An extremely interesting demonstration of color and design will be remembered with benefit. Miss Robin referred to the different types of handicraft which is now in demand by tourists and also gave information concerning the W. I. Handicraft van which is now being prepared for use on P. E. I.

In an interesting and enlightening talk, Mrs. Laughlin Horne of Rosebank explained some of the modern methods of teaching arithmetic and reading to beginners at school.

Mrs. A. C. Green, Red Cross convener of Alberton Institute, gave information concerning the Red Cross Blood Loan cupboard located in Alberton and also concerning the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic.

At the close of the meeting a pass-around supper was served by members of four institutes and everyone present had the opportunity to view the display of beautiful handicraft which included hooked rugs, quilts, knitting, crocheting, embroidery, etc., of interest were quilt squares from Holland, Australia and New South Wales.

EVENING SESSION

At the evening session Mrs. Julian Herring concentrated into a brief address, some informative and interesting material.

The program included a duet by Gail and Gloria Adams of Elmsdale, a playette by St. Lawrence W. I., a humorous reading by Mrs. G. R. Leard of Fortune Cove, and a solo by Dale Fraser of Montrose. Two films were shown, the projector being operated by Billy Clark of The Dock. The first "Family Tree," depicted the settlement and growth of Canada, and the second, telling of birds of Canada, showed the spotted sandpipers, the sora rail and Barrow's gold eye.

Proceeds from the evening's admission fees amounted to $31.88, and will be divided between Alberton Public Library and the Canadian Institute for the Blind.

Resolutions sponsoring a shorter work week and payment for overtime work were backed by organizations across Canada. One of the proposals requesting a five-day, 35-hour work week was turned down.

During the session the convention studied resolutions of the constitution committee. Non-controversial issues were discussed.

A new section was introduced in the constitution whereby the president and general secretary of the federation will be employed on a full-time basis and receive a set "reasonable" salary. The change of status, however, will not be implemented until the next national convention in 1956.
