The Toronto industrial index, which measures investors' sentiment toward key stocks, fell 1.50 to 173.25, for its fourth setback in a row.

Losses in the main list outnumbered gains by 156 to 85 and all 19 indexes registered by the exchange were lower.

The bank index fell 1.17 to 147.98 with all five listed chartered banks taking losses. Nova Scotia dipped 1/4 to 73 1/2, Imperial Commerce 1/4 to 68 1/2, and Toronto-Dominion 1/4 to 66 1/2.

some of the Authors and Artists who were commissioned to create the Canadian Centennial Library

THE ILLUSTRATED CANADIAN CENTENNIAL LIBRARY is an "All-Canadian" publishing project, which, to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of our nation, will distribute a series of handsomely matched hard-cover books during 1966 and 1967.

Among the illustrious contributors whose works will be included are:

Franklin Arkuckie, painter, muralist and illustrator, is without doubt Canada's most famous artist. Through countless journeys to every corner of the nation, he has captured for all time the essence and mood of the Canadian scene.

Ken Lefoi has long studied the Canadian Look as former editor of "Maclean's Magazine," as a reporter and broadcaster. You will be amused by his keen observations on the sights and styles of the Canada of yesterday and today.

Trent Frayne brings to this series twenty-five years of experience as news reporter, freelance writer, copy editor, public relations director, entertainment columnist, sports columnist and television personality.

Dr. William Kilbourn, eminent as an educator and historian, his documentary skill is again apparent in the Canadian Centennial Library volume, "The Making of The Nation," a stirring account of our first hundred years.
