As such, you bear great responsibility. For defined, "a pioneer is one who goes before, preparing the way for others to follow."

The Church reaches out to you in greatest urgency. It needs you to help, by example and precept, combat the greed and intolerance that today threaten our world.

The Church needs you as another pioneer in Christian example and thinking. You can help prepare the way for others by promoting generosity, kindness, and love toward all other human beings.

Through the Church you can, as a pioneer, strive most effectively toward generous, tolerant, tomorrow for your fellowman.

Loving The Poor Is Basic In Every Christian's Faith

By CARDINAL MACGUGGIN

St. Vincent De Paul once said: "The poor are our most demanding master: we must love them so they will forgive us the bread that we give them." We rarely think of him as a master of paradox, yet in this epigram St. Vincent struck a profound truth about Christian charity.

It seems strange at first glance to think of the poor as our masters. We tend to rather think of them as our inferiors, the recipients of our liberality.

But St. Vincent was looking to the real fruit of Christian charity, the spiritual benefit of the giver. When we truly love the poor, we stand to profit thereby. The poor, then, are really our benefactors, our masters, who have the right to demand love in God's name, and who confer on those who love them an eternal benefit.

Once we have come to know the poor, then we must learn to love them. More than this, we must learn how to love them in such a way that the expression of our love will not point to their happiness here and make a hollow mockery of the love itself.

PROPOSAL BY MAIL.

This love of God in his our will will never be carried out in practice merely by writing letters, even for those we have come to know. What young lady would take seriously a lover who made his proposal by mail, money order enclosed?

If we claim to love the poor, it must be with the qualities of a love—a burning personal interest in their happiness here and hereafter, a concern for their welfare in every sense, a compassion for their weakness, and a understanding of their all too human frailties.

But if merely writing a cheque is not enough to love the poor, how then are we to do it? Do we ever think of learning about a poor family and then visiting them and literally feeding and clothing them?

An experience of this sort can teach us more about poverty and its effects than all the sociology texts ever written. It can also be quite humbling and thought-provoking.

ESSENCE OF FAITH

Loving the poor is not something optional for the Christian; it is the very essence of his faith and it makes sense only in the light of the faith. Christ himself has given us a very practical reason for this personal love for the poor.

The most momentous day of our lives, he will say to the elect: "I was hungry, and you gave me food, thirsty, and you gave me drink; I was a stranger, and you brought me home, naked and you clothed me, sick and you cared for me, a prisoner, and you came to see me. Believe me, when you did it for one of the least of my brethren, you did it to me."

RHODESIAN RIOT

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (Reuters)—Police in the Northern Rhodesian copperbelt town of Bulawayo used tear gas to break up rioting Negroes Friday, according to police here.

Three Negroes were injured in clashes between rival gangs of supporters of the United Nations and the Rhodesian Independence party and the African National Congress.

Deliverance in Trouble ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

When people reject God, they suffer in darkness and in gloom, prisoners in affliction. But when they cry to the Lord with all their loving desires, He brings them out of their darkness, delivering them.—Psalm 107:10-15.

Those who have sinned and those who are afflicted with illness, when they cry out to God in their distress, He sends forth His word and heals them, delivering them from destruction.—Psalm 107:16-21.

Those in peril, such as the men who go to sea in ships, know the Lord's deliverance from trouble. He can still the storms and calm the waves.—Psalm 107:32-34.

Those who have sinned and those who are afflicted with illness, when they cry out to God in their distress, He sends forth His word and heals them, delivering them from destruction.—Psalm 107:16-21.

Divine Protection is Promised

By N. SPEER JONES

The psalm in today's lesson is the promise of divine protection for those who put their trust in the Lord.

Most every adult can single out at least one time in his life when he felt that he had had an overwhelming experience with God Himself. The idea of God as our refuge (verse 2) can be traced all the way back to the Song of Moses (Deuteronomy 32:37). The idea of God as
