From his bed he designed a bus that would accommodate wheel-chairs, and thus give to crippled veterans and others, outings which they could not otherwise enjoy. At the recent sessions of Grand Lodge I.O.O.F. held here, both the Grand Lodge and Rebekah Assembly voted substantial sums of money to this fund. "Perfect Murder" Seen Sole Motive

NOTTINGHAM, England, Sept. 19 (AP)—Herbert L. Mills, 19, was accused in court today of strangling a woman with the sole motive of committing a "perfect murder."

The victim was Mrs. Mabel Tattershaw, 47, mother of two. Her corpse was found in an orchard here Aug. 9, after she had been missing for six days.

Mills led police to the spot after they caught him in a telephone booth talking to the city editor of the "News of the World." The editor had kept him talking while an aide called the police on another line.

The prosecutor said Mills made a date with Mrs. Tattershaw Aug. 3, and choked her to death in the orchard.

He said Mills told police: "I had always considered the possibility of the perfect murder. I was satisfied I had found a perfect victim. Here was my opportunity. No motive, no clues. 'I was very pleased. I think I did it rather well.'" harmful," but that it now is possible to carry out large-scale experiments in growing tobacco with a low nicotine content.

Dr. P. Gisque, director of the Tobacco Institute of Bergerac, France, said smoking is harmful to expectant mothers, that it increased blood pressure, affects the functioning of the nerve centre and is bad for digestion.
