The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	1 ♠	1NT	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	Pass	4 ♠
Pass	Pass	Dble.

Opening lead—five of hearts.

The bidding by the opponents frequently provides the declarer with a blueprint of their hands. The picture may not be entirely clear, but the declarer will often obtain all the information he needs to guide him to the best method of play.

For example, take this hand where South is in four spades doubled and West leads a heart. East takes the queen and continues with a heart which South ruffs.

Declarer sees that he must lose two club tricks, come what may, so his only chance of making the contract is to avoid a trump loser.

Ordinarily, with this spade combination, declarer would lead a low spade to the king and another back, planning to finesse the jack and hoping that East originally had either the Q-x-x or the Q-x—in which case he would lose no spade tricks.

But declarer does not have to be a mindreader to realize that the normal way of playing the spades is bound to fail in this hand. He should certainly assume that West has the queen of spades, since West overcalled the spade bid with one notrump.

Declarer has no way of knowing whether West's spade holding is Q-10-x, Q-x-x, Q-10-x x or Qxxx, but he should proceed on the assumption that West has one of these holdings.

Accordingly, at trick three, he cashes the ace of spades. When both opponents follow suit, he continues with the jack, planning to finesse if West follows low.

This play settles the issue, regardless of whether West covers with the queen or not. In either case, South makes the contract, since he avoids a trump loser.

Note that South's method of play, unusual though it is, cannot cost him a trick, and, at the same time, it gives him a chance to gain one. If he finds West with the Q-10-x or Q-10- x-x, the jack play does no harm, but if he is lucky enough to find West with the Q-x-x, he picks up the entire suit without loss

Small Plane Licensing Stiffened

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP) Transport M i n i ster McIlraith has stiffened federal control of small - plane charter licensing while promising an early declaration of Canada's air policy in the jet age.

Speaking to the Air Transport Association of Canada, the minister said a major review of aviation problems — international, transcontinental and regional—is under way. An announcement could be expected "before may w e e k s have passed."

He said the objective of the air policy will be the "best service possible for Canada, at home and abroad, on a sound economic basis, and a strong industry to provide this service."

He announced that the Air Transport Board will no longer issue charter licences to operators of small aircraft unless the service to be provided is in the public i n t e r e s t. The change means that the free-for-all approach to charter services—opened up by the previous Conservative government in 1958 and 1959—will be dropped.

At the same time, the minister said no further applications will be accepted for licences to operate specialty air services until the results of a study under way are known.

The freeze applies to new licences for such operations as forest-fire control, crop dusting and aerial photography.

There had been complaints from the aviation industry that the former policy allowed too many charter services to start up, leading to cut-throat competition and bankruptcies for some lines.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

A C L A S G E A I B U M N G V M C M I G B
Y U A G L E B L H T V I U G E G M H C G S. — N K G S G C W T H P
