

Nasser's Position As Leader Of Arab World Is Uncertain

Interpreting the News
By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

While plans are being made in Cairo for a new meeting of the leaders of Syria, Saudi Arabia, Jordan and Egypt, the position of Gamal Abdel Nasser as the leader of the Arab world seems to be deteriorating.

A new element has been added to the ferment in the Middle East—an element of fright among its leaders. More and more frequently the world hears warnings from Arab leaders of the threat of communism. Strong Communist influence in their countries would be a heavy price for these leaders to pay for the luxury of having an Arab nationalist hero in Cairo.

Even inside Egypt, Nasser's position seems to be weakening. The president's policies have hurt badly the one class he really could not afford to hurt—the middle class which runs the country's business and supplies its administrative and political leadership.

One evidence of this growing resentment against Nasser comes from the feminist leader, Mrs. Doris Shafik, who recently led a hunger strike because she declared Egypt was being ruled by a dictatorship. She picture Nasser as pushing the country toward bankruptcy and ruin, and she called for a free government for Egyptians.

A short time ago such a statement would have been unthinkable. Nasser was so much the hero that none would dare speak out against him for fear of the violent reaction of his passionate worshippers in Cairo's streets. But now, Mrs. Shafik's outspoken complaint probably finds much support among the embittered middle class, who wonder how long Egypt can continue in her present path.

It may not have been Nasser's intention to do so, but his policies

Report Mothers' March Campaign Big Success

"Despite the inclemency of the weather, the Mothers' March carried out in the city last evening was an outstanding success," stated Mrs. Rose Savage, Campaign Manager of the provincial March of Dimes appeal, sponsored by the P.E.I. Chapter of the Polio Foundation.

102 ladies out of the 147 who volunteered to carry out this canvass were able to complete the area to which they were assigned. Snow drifts still block some of the outlying sections of the city thus preventing the door-to-door canvass from being carried out in those areas last night. These districts will be covered as soon as travelling conditions improve, the campaign manager declared.

To date a total of $906.30 has been realized by this collection more than the final sum turned in by the same effort last year, Mrs. Savage reported.

A group of ladies from the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion and the Polio Foundation

Committee, headed by Mrs. Jennie Bonebrake, set up field headquarters in the Ladies Parlor at the Legion Home. Reports and returns were handled there.

The winner of the cake awarded to the collector amassing the greatest return will not be announced until the campaign has been completed.

Zion Scout-Cub Supper

The annual get-together of the Boy Scouts, Cubs with their parents as guests met last evening in Zion Church Hall for a pot luck supper. A splendid meal under the supervision of Group Committee was served and enjoyed by all.

Grace was asked by the Rev. E.C. Evans.

After supper the following short programs were given: Sing-song led by Scout and Cub leaders; talk on scouting by Rev. W. C. Evans; Investiture of Two Star Cub Gordon Ranking.

It was announced by R.C. Parent that a special service would celebrate the 100th birthday of the founder of Scouting, Lord Robert Baden Powell, and also the 50th anniversary of the founding of the scout movement.

The banquet closed with The Queen.

C. C. F. Organizer Visits This Province

Mr. Carl Hamilton, M.A., B.Sc., National C.C.F. organizer arrived on Prince Edward Island on Saturday night's express and was the weekend guest of the Provincial C.C.F. Secretary, Mrs. Muriel MacInnis, Borden. Mr. Hamilton is at present in Charlottetown where he is scheduled to address a meeting of the Provincial C.C.F. Council. This address will be broadcast.

It is expected that the council meeting will be followed by a nominating convention in the near future. Mr. Hamilton leaves by plane on Tuesday for Halifax, enroute to Ottawa.

Enjoy Dance At Main Brace

The Main Brace St. Valentine's dance held in the Clover Club last Thursday evening was an overwhelming success. The difficulty of securing musicians threatened the project with failure but this was overcome by excellent music which was provided.

The entertainment committee came up with another surprise during the intermission when a talented sleight-of-hand artist kept the audience completely baffled.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion provided an excellent buffet during the entertainment. The evening closed with the promise of another dance in the near future.

Rotary Elects R. C. Parent As President, Salute To Scouting

Featuring Scouting and Guiding as an after luncheon program at the weekly meeting of Rotary held at the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday, Provincial Commissioner Bob Parent as Rotary chairman was flanked at the head table by leaders in both activities, and four young folk who received rounds of hearty applause as they explained Scouts, Guides, Brownies and Cub Scouts.

Mr. Parent was elected President of Rotary for the coming Rotary year, along with other officers, during the business portion of the meeting.

Rotarian Gordon Kerr, Provincial Executive Commissioner gave a brief summary of the career of Lord Baden-Powell as a soldier and war-time Scout, particularly in South Africa where he used boys to carry messages and perform other duties previously carried out by trained men. He referred to Feb. 22 as the fiftieth anniversary of the Brownsea Island Camp, the first Boy Scout camp in history, the birthday of the Boy Scout Movement.

This month also marks the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Baden-Powell, the founder of the movement which now includes the four activities, Scouts, Guides, Brownies and Cubs.

"There are more than six million members in the world, including a quarter of a million in Canada," Mr. Kerr said.

SCOUT SPEAKERS
The tone of the meeting took on new meaning when John Curtis, the fourteen year-old son of Rotarian Frank Curtis and a member of the St. James' troop speaking for the Scouts, traced the progress and experience of the average member as he passes through the various stages of instruction. "With the object of qualifying for as many as possible of the 80 proficiency badges available," Our weekly meetings and frequent hikes are a source of constant pleasure," he said.

Francis MacDonald, 12-year-old daughter of Rotarian Frank MacDonald and a member of the fifth Charlottetown Holy Redeemer Girl Guides described the work of the organization, stressing the importance of making others happy, especially in the home, Wolf Cub

Parents Jailed For Non-Support

GASPE, Que. (CP)—The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Labrecque have been placed with a family at nearby Riviere-aux-Renard. The parents were given jail terms for non-support.

The children left hospital at Maria, on the north shore of Baie des Chaleurs, Feb. 14. They had been kept there since provincial police found them suffering from frostbite and exposure in their home at St. Jules Jan. 26. The four are between two and nine years old.

The Gaspé social service said more than 100 letters came offering to care for them.

Labrecque, 58, a lumberjack, was sentenced to three months in jail and his wife to seven months. They will have to obtain court authorization to get their children back.

Adjourn Hearing On Springhill Mine Disaster

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—Donald MacFadden, chief engineer with the Cumberland Coal Company here, told a royal commission Friday there was an "explosive" amount of gas in No. 4 mine the day before the Nov. 1 explosion.

Mr. MacFadden said No. 4 mine manager Randolph Carter advised him of gas leakage at the 4,400-foot level of the mine where 39 men died. He said he retaped a leaking bleeder pipe there.

"At the fringe of the gas," he said, "it would be explosive—and it was probably more dense beyond that."

The three-man commission, headed by Halifax lawyer Donald McInnes, adjourned until March 25, hoping that by then the mine will be reopened for inspection by commission, union and company officials.

At the hearings Friday, Dosco Coal Chief Harold Gordon said many of the 88 survivors would have died had they left by the mine's natural exit.

He and President Tom McLachlan, District 28 United Mine Workers, spoke strongly against a suggestion of escape route drills.

Said Mr. Gordon, "it may be that the designated road is the deadly road. In the No. 4 explosion the natural exit was through the intake airway and in that case it was the most deadly road."

USE BUDDY SYSTEM
He said miners should be given only "very general" instructions for their protection in a mine mishap, avoiding hard-and-fast rules that might mislead.

Mr. McLachlan said younger miners should stick by older experienced men. "In a mine disaster a man has to keep his head," he added.

Robert Bowden, underground manager in No. 4 mine, said stonewalling, a method of keeping coal dust down, was "very good" except at the 4,400-foot level which was a difficult place to carry it out. He said the 44-level was marked dangerous and arrangements had been made to repair the gas-leaking pipe there.

The commission, which opened Feb. 11, took more than 300,000 words of testimony by adjournment Friday. Many spectators at the inquiry were miners who had escaped from the blasted mine or relatives of dead miners.

Home And School Has Dr. O'Meara Speak
A meeting of Central Royalty Home and School Association was held on Tuesday, February 12, at 8 p.m. with the president, Mr. John Richard in the chair. There were thirty members in attendance.

Mr. Gordon Roper reported for the committee, dealing with the proposed beautification program for the school grounds. Mr. Roper pointed out that the committee would have to function as an assistance basis with the school trustees. Mrs. Dover, principal of Central Royalty school, stated that she felt that recreation for the pupils must be given consideration.

Mrs. A.M. Johnston gave a favorable report on the hot lunch programme for Grade 1. Miss MacCormack agreed to continue serving hot cocoa and soup at noon. Correspondence from the Provincial Home and School Association and the Prince Edward Island Festival committee was read by the president and discussed.

It was decided to hold a White Elephant sale to April 11. An attendance contest was proposed and met with unanimous acceptance.

Mr. John MacAleer introduced the guest speaker Dr. B.J. O'Meara, chief Dental Health officer for Prince Edward Island. Dr. O'Meara began his dental career in Birmingham, England. He served 6 years in the Royal Navy and one year in China working for the U.N.R.A. in a Dental Health capacity.

Dr. O'Meara present work is to improve the Dental Health of the Province. Dr. O'Meara indicated his great enthusiasm for his work. The doctor has found that the overall picture of dental health here in P.E.I. is in other parts of Canada is definitely poor. There is a tremendous amount that can be done by teaching good dental hygiene.

Dr. O'Meara gave some enlightening but rather startling figures. On the average 6-7 years of age there are 6 decayed primary teeth and 1-2 decayed permanent teeth.

12 years of age, 7-8 permanent teeth decaying, 3 filled, 1 last, 3-4 untreated.

15 years of age, 15 unfilled, 2 gone, 5 filled, 5 unfilled.

It was pointed out by the doctor that the dental health problem must be faced from a prevention stand point. People who have a poor dental condition are definitely handicapped.

Dr. O'Meara feels it is the duty of parents to enforce good dental hygiene. It has been well proved that tooth decay is an interminable process. When sweet foods are eaten an acid is formed. The saliva will neutralize a minimum of acid, but when we partake of an excess of sweets the saliva can not cope with this and then the teeth are attacked.

Dr. O'Meara outlined the programme for topical application of sodium fluoride to children's teeth from ages 3 years — 13 years. This service is available through the Department of Health. This treatment has proved successful with a 40 percent reduction in tooth decay in those who have been treated and who followed up with good dental hygiene.

In view of the great strides made in Research in T.B. etc., it was felt by Dr. O'Meara that the Research people will undoubtedly come up with a different approach to control dental caries. A very educational film on dental health was shown by Dr. MacAleer.

Considerable enthusiastic discussion followed Dr. O'Meara's address. Mr. E.D. Reid expressed the sincere appreciation of the meeting to Dr. O'Meara. Mr. E.D. Reid is chairman of the programme committee. The meeting was adjourned and lunch was served by hospitality committee.

R.M.A. Told Trading Stamps Are "Economic Parasites"

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO (CP)—On the whole this should be a good year for retailers. A. B. Munro of Toronto, president of the Canadian Retail Federation, said Monday in an address to the federation's annual conference.

"Retailers," he commented, "are never happy with credit restrictions of any kind, and presumably we will have to accept a continuation of that line, but I hope it will not prove necessary to take more stringent steps than we have had so far."

"I shall be somewhat surprised, however, if the trade as a whole does not show at least some slight increase in volume over what we did in 1956."

"Any merchant who maintains his liquid position should be in good position to meet any situation that arises."

TRADING STAMPS HIT
The conference—a gathering of representatives of the country's storekeepers—was told by other speakers that trading stamps are "economic parasites," and that they may as well accept night shopping hours.

F. A. B. Rands, general manager of the Retail Merchants Association of Canada, who applied the "parasite" tag to the stamps, said they increased consumers' costs without benefit to consumers, and provided "exorbitant profits" for trading stamp companies.

"At a cost of two to three per cent," he stated, "stamps represent two to three times the cost of rent; three to four times the usual cost of advertising, and 25 to 50 per cent of the usual wage bill."

This could only be paid for in higher prices. Additionally, it had been estimated that more than 30 per cent of the stamps were not turned in with the result that the issuers of the stamps—the trading stamp companies—never had to redeem them.

He quoted a letter from Justice Minister Garson which recalled that legislation prohibiting stamps had been passed in 1905 and retained in the 1954 consolidation of the Criminal Code.

"However," the letter added, "once the criminal law has been enacted it is the responsibility of its law officers to enforce it."

If some way had been found to create a trading-stamp scheme that would not be contrary to the present law, he would consider its merits any submission made.

Mr. Rands said that so far only Manitoba had pressed charges, but he expected other provinces to follow suit.

Mau Mau Hanged

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—Mau Mau terrorist leader Dedan Kimathi, 34, self-styled field marshal and "knight commander of the African empire," was hanged Sunday. The former dairy clerk became the most hunted man in this British colony as the self-styled leader of the Mau Mau "liberation army."

Fear Stronger Anti-Western Line From USSR

LONDON (Reuters)—Andre Gromyko's emergence Friday as Soviet foreign minister is seen here as implying a stiffer anti-Western line from the Kremlin.

The shakeup in which Dmitri Shepilov was relieved of the post he had held only 8 1/2 months, also will mean tighter control by Moscow on the policy of the Communist satellite states.

Gromyko's name as a skilled exponent of the cold war foreign policy of the Stalin regime, as ambassador to the United States and to Britain and as chief Soviet representative at the United Nations.

His appointment also is seen here as indicating that party chief Nikita Khrushchev has lost a chief in the wild struggle for the leadership of Russia. The round has gone to Vyacheslav Molotov. Shepilov was Khrushchev's man and was associated with what is regarded as Khrushchev's policy of co-existence with the West.

OLD BOLSHIEVIST
Gromyko on the other hand is the lieutenant of the opposing school of "old Bolsheviks" within the Kremlin—that group around Molotov. During Molotov's long reign as foreign minister during the Stalin era, Gromyko was his right-hand man. Gromyko was lukewarm toward the Khrushchev policy of "making friends" once again with Tito's Yugoslavia.

Informed quarters here pointed out that Gromyko's successor as first deputy foreign minister, Nikolai Patolichev, is a high Communist party functionary, believed to specialize in inter-party relationships within the Communist bloc.

Observers here did not believe that the dropping of Shepilov from the post of foreign minister meant an abandonment of the Middle East policy outlined in his speech last Tuesday and conveyed to the Big Three western powers in formal notes.

Soviet affairs observers here say that Gromyko's position likely will parallel that of Andrei Vyshinsky in the 1949-53 period in which the foreign minister was not so much a policymaker himself as a spokesman for the policymaking party praesidium. Gromyko is not a member of the praesidium.

Bank Robber Is Sentenced

TORONTO (CP)—William (Red) Aitken, 37, who pleaded guilty Monday to stealing $7,051 from a mid-town branch of the Imperial Bank, was sentenced to one year definite and six months indefinite in reformatory by Judge Robert Forsyth.

Aitken said he was employed by the bank for three months. Hired as a junior clerk, he was made teller in less than a week, he added.

Aitken told how he and two friends discussed the theft the night before he committed it.

"I knew it would not be hard to take the money," he said. "Next day at lunch hour I took it."

The theft was on Jan. 7.

Aitken said he and his friends drove to Hamilton and then to Kapuskasing, Ont., where they took a train for Winnipeg. There he said he purchased a second-hand car and drove back to Toronto alone. The youth was arrested Jan. 28.

Only $685 of the money has been recovered. Aitken's two companions have not been found. It is believed they headed for Vancouver while Aitken drove back to Toronto from Winnipeg.

A three-man delegation presented an appeal for increased income tax exemptions for students to William Bennickson, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Harris.

David Greenstam of University of Toronto was elected secretary; Jean David of McGill University, Montreal, assistant secretary, and Guy Stelmman of McGill, treasurer.

NEW PRAVDA EDITOR

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda publicly identified its new editor Saturday as Pavel A. Satukov. PRINCIPLES OF BROTHERHOOD

There is perfect brotherhood underlying humanity. All are servants of one God and belong to one family. Potentially brotherhood inhabits this earthly globe. Brotherhood from birth are elements of one human society, subject to the necessity of agreement and cooperation.

This material brotherhood does not prevent, nor remove warfare; it does not dispel differences; but the real brotherhood is spiritual for it emanates from the breath of the Holy Spirit.

Therefore we supplicate God to dispel these gloomy clouds so that the Nations will embrace each other and ideal spiritual brotherhood illumine the world.
