$20,000 Damage centre line. He introduced in evidence photos of the scene showing the location of the vehicles involved. Johnston described the road and said the straight stretch on which the accident happened came following a curve and a steep rise when coming towards the city. He had prepared a scale plan of the area which he produced and explained in detail. He also said that the driver of the Army truck was on the scene all through the investigation and afterwards until the vehicle was moved.

Cross examined by Mr. Large regarding the position on the road of the dirt previously mentioned, he said none of it was under the truck, and it apparently came from the Ford. He stated the scene was approximately 510 feet from the curve from a hollow up a hill of about 60 feet elevation. He said the Behm car had a sealed beam headlight, not original equipment, which generally are much brighter than ordinary lights.

He testified that the left front bumper of the truck was bent back. At this point Mr. Nicholson entered an objection to testimony regarding lights and bumper as witness was not an expert on these matters. The objection was sustained. On further questioning Sgt. Johnston said he had served overseas in the last war and was familiar with driving the 60's. Regarding their speed he stated the ones he drove were difficult to get over 50 miles per hour, but said there may have been motor changes in newer models.

Stayed Half An Hour Frederick Nicholson, Kilmuir, farmer, said he was around his farm the day of the accident and an Army truck drove in with two men in it. He was introduced to the driver and had a couple of drinks. The visitors stayed about half an hour and left in the direction of Montague. The driver had no difficulty handling the truck. He later saw it at the scene of the accident while on his way to Charlottetown to attend a meeting of the potato growers that did not stop.

Otis MacLeod, Uigg farmer, said he left his home in the evening to attend the meeting in Charlottetown. He was in his own car sitting in the rear seat with two other MacLeods, Sam and Haddon, while his daughter was in front seat with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon MacLeod. As they turned onto the pavement at Vernon River he saw an Army truck parked at a store there. After they had gone about a mile the truck passed them on the road to town. He saw the truck again later when it was parked in front of a store at Cherry Valley. It passed them again at Mt. Mellick and they had to slow down to let it by as another car was approaching. The next time he saw it was after making the turn at Cannon's Corner, it was crossing on the road then. He saw the other car and the men in his car got out and investigated.

Wedge Behind Wheel The driver of the Ford was wedged behind the steering wheel and his face was covered with blood. He did not recognize him although he had known Mr. Behm for many years.

The men with him, aided by the driver of the truck, succeeded in getting Mr. Behm from behind the wheel. They then backed up their car and took another road to get to the city. He did not know who the victim was at the time but later that evening learned his identity. He identified a photo of the applicant taken while in the uniform of the R.C.A.F. during the last war, but said his face was all changed since the accident. He did not know how fast the truck was going but he thought, "It was going 'considerably over 40'." He was briefly cross examined as to a statement about seeing dust rising from the Ford.

MILLTOWN CROSS, Sunday, June 13, 2:30 p.m. Salvation Army Band service.

LODGE MEETING - There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of Acme Rebekah Lodge, Montague, Thursday evening. Mrs. Catherine Stewart presided and the meeting opened in regular form. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Lillian MacDonald, and were approved as read. The correspondence was read and discussed and two bills were presented for payment. Plans were discussed for conferring the degree on June 24. Mrs. Hilda Hickey gave a report of the proceedings of the district meeting in Montague on Wednesday. At the close of the meeting lunch was served.

Mr. Gordon MacLeod, driver of the car, said he was travelling about 50 m.p.h. when the truck first passed him. He tried to prevent it passing the second time by speeding up, but the truck went by anyway.

Mr. Sam MacLeod, Uigg, said he had known the applicant for a long time and his appearance had changed a great deal since the collision. He had heard the truck blow "for the road" and knew it was trying to pass. He was not aware of an increase in speed of their car.

During both direct and cross examination of the witnesses Judge Fournier frequently broke in with questions of his own or to have different points clarified.

Doctor's Testimony Earlier in the morning the Court had heard the brief testimony of Dr. I. A. Rachmel, who treated the injured man in the P.E.I. Hospital, and Major J.T. Davies who told the Court he had some knowledge of Army vehicles as he was covering of a vacancy for a mechanical engineer. He gave the dimensions of a 60 as a wheelbase of 159 1/2 inches and an overall length of 20 feet, 6 inches. He said the width at the rear of the box was seven feet two inches.

Mr. John MacBeath, Grandview, farmer and mail driver, said he knew the victim and saw him often but did not recognize him when he first came home from the hospital. His face had changed.

Dr. Wendall MacDonald, Charlottetown, radiologist, testified that he had made several x-rays of Mr. Behm. Following the accident he did some x-ray work, but though the patient had had some first aid treatment he was not in as good condition as could be wished for x-ray work.

He produced in Court the x-ray plates he had made showing views from front to back and from the side. He said they showed fracture of the nasal bones and the face about the nose appeared to have been pushed back by force. He said he had frequently taken x-rays of the patient involving his spine, stomach "and practically everything else but his head."

Called to the stand Mrs. Behm, wife of the applicant, said the photo of her husband in evidence which he was on leave with his family. He was then stationed in Newfoundland. She said there was no material change in his appearance from the time of the picture until September 1952, but his face had changed after the accident.

New C.N.T. Manager

Mr. J. L. Doyle (above) recently appointed local manager Canadian National Telegrams in succession to Mr. J. F. Fraser, retired.

Mr. Doyle is a native of Halifax, N.S. where he attended public school and afterwards entered the telegraph service in 1924. He remained there in various clerical capacities until March 1943 when he was released on leave to join the Canadian Army Signals Corps.

ed at Grandview since 1932 except for the war years. He had also served in the infantry in the First World War. He had been wounded and was in hospital in Quebec when it ended.

He said his car was working good the day of the accident. Just prior to coming to Cannons Corner he stopped the car to light a cigarette. He always did this when driving alone at night. He noticed a First Aid Post sign as he parked and put on his dim lights.

As he started the car again he noticed car lights ahead when he shifted into second gear. Did not remember very much about accident itself. He said he receives a pension as a result of war services and also one under war veterans' allowances. He had been told his car could not be fixed.

The witness was cross examined by Mr. Eaton as to previous illnesses and his inability to work following them. He had been given the Pension Board when he had arthritis.

Crown Witness First witness for the Crown, and the only one heard yesterday, was WO2 Gallant, driver of the Army vehicle. He said he drove them as part of his duty and had 12 years experience. The one he was driving at the time of the collision was a right hand drive machine.

That day he had been ordered by the Quartermaster to go to Montague and pick up some stores. He left the city about two o'clock that afternoon and arrived some time after three when he proceeded to the caretaker's residence and went with him to the Armouries. He loaded the stores and drove down town where he picked up another man and drove to a farmhouse where he bought two bags of potatoes. Afterwards he went back to Montague and had supper before leaving on return to the city.
