

The Silver Lining.

A fisherman sat at his door one day, Watching the clouds that heavy and grey, Obscured the sunlight's shining;

I think when our skies are cold and grey, And we vainly seek to find the way, Somewhere the light is shining,

We shall be led to a higher way, To a better work than we do to-day, And find love's sunlight shining;

The Elder Got Ahead.

Old Potiphas Bledsoe, of the southern Tier, is an authority on horses and ministers, and this is one of his experiences: "I never knewed Deacon Expeters to git beat but onct in my life, and that was done by Elder Smiles, who worked the Tioga circuit down in Pennsylvania. This ere Expeters had a bay filly that Elder Smiles wanted, an' he offered Expeters a big brown gelding which 'ud weigh about twelve hundred, even up for the filly. You see the elder wanted that filly mighty bad to ride on his circuit. But this ere Expeters asked the elder $14 boot money, an' the elder hemmed an' hawed 'round considerably an' went off finally, an' there warant no trade that day. But in about a week arter this ere Expeters dropped in on the elder in a careless way like, an' the question of the boss trade cum up, and this ere Expeters says:

"Wall, elder, I've bin athinkin' considerable about what we said the last time we talked hoss, an' the more I thought the more the Lord seemed to be whiserin' in my ear: Let the elder have the filly; let the elder have the filly." The Lord seemed to kinder put it to me in the light of a duty I owed to the cause, an' so, elder, if you say so, the filly's your's an' I'll take the gold ing.

"Wall," says the elder, "if what you say is true, it would rather look like my duty to take the filly, considerin' all the circumstances, an' you don't know how grateful I am to you, Brother Expeters, an' if you say trade its a trade."

"All right," said this ere Expeters, an' they shook hands on it.

"I guess," says the elder, "I'll go over and git the filly now."

"That'll be all right," says this ere Expeters, an' these two Christians went up to Expeters' paster, an' when they got to the bars they found the filly lying there as dead as a kit of pickled whitefish. The elder looked at the filly an' then he looked at Deacon Expeters, who was whittlin' the top of the fence an' chewin' a splinter. He never looked up at the elder onct.

"That's my filly, ain't it?" said the elder quietly.

"Yes, that's your hoss, Elder," said this ere Expeters.

"An' you still stick to it, that it's a trade?"

"Yes, it's a fair trade," said this ere Expeters, kinder dogged-like.

"All right," says the elder, "I'll go up to your house an' git a claw hammer an' a cold chisel an' take the shoes off. I took 'em off the gelding which died last night afore the trade was consummated. The shoes appear to be about all I'm ahead on the deal."

How to Brush the Teeth.

This is a matter of no small importance. Most people brush across from the teeth from right to left. This manner of brushing will not remove the accumulations from beneath them, but tends rather to force the debris into the interstices. The brush should be placed against the teeth at the gums, and rotated toward the masticating surfaces. It will thus act somewhat like a bundle of fine tooth-picks. In order to make the work effectual, the brush should be applied, as described, both inside and outside of the teeth, and also upon the grinding surfaces of the double teeth.

A Fish Vessel.

Preserved fish at the age of twenty-one, was made captain of a New Bedford whaling vessel. During the first cruise a revenue cutter bore down upon him and demanded the name of the brig. "The Flying Fish," shouted back the young commander, "What's the cargo?" "Pickled fish." "And who is captain?" "Preserved Fish." The government officer did not propose to be made fun of by anybody in this way, and on board he climbed with his lieutenant, to find that nothing but the truth had been told him.

NOTES.

Not the promissory, but facts about WELCOME SOAP, an article that does not contain one particle of the adulterations used to reduce the cost of "Pure Goods," but does possess the value of legitimate Washing Qualities, the demand for which proves the advantage gained by the use of the genuine over soaps of doubtful character. None should be deceived even by Red and Yellow Wrappers, or any of the imitations of WELCOME, as a pair of clasped hands is stamped on every bar. Made by CRERIS, Davis & Co.

MANHOOD

How Lost, How Restored. We have recently published a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical and permanent cure (WITHOUT MEDICINE) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses. Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cts or two postage stamps. The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Address: THE CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO. 41 Ann St., New York. Post Office Box 460. may
