

SPORTS FRONT

Flying Hawks Meeting Brails

By JIM CULLEN

John's Flying Hawks turned in a very creditable performance in Saint John Saturday afternoon as they dropped a 7-6 squeaker to the Sussex Stars of the Southern New Brunswick Hockey League.

Alan "Smell" Gillis was playing defence for the Flying Hawks and the converted wing turned out to be a high scoring defenceman.

The Brails with playing coach Doug McPhee, former star with the Halifax Schemers, had their hands full with the battling Hawks in Saturday's contest.

The management of the Flying Hawks has arranged for the Sussex aggregation to travel to Charlottetown for a return engagement with the local peewee team.

Alfie Curver, coach of the Hawks, will be putting his squad through their paces this week in preparation for Friday's contest.

The Hawks have yet to taste victory this season and you can be sure they will come up with an all out effort to make the Sussex pucksters the victims for their first victory.

Action gets underway at the Charlottetown Forum at 2:00 Friday afternoon and we think this should be an excellent place for local hockey enthusiasts to spend New Year's afternoon.

Tid Bits From Here And There

Sonny Liston is scheduled to appear in court in Denver today on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

The Cleveland Browns led by their star fullback Jim Brown, came on strong in the second half to draw the Baltimore Colts in what is recognized as the world championship of football Sunday afternoon.

Those Chicago Black Hawks are really on the move and they downed the slumping Maple Leafs in Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday night.

Cookie Gilchrist led the Buffalo Bills to the American League Football championship Saturday afternoon as they defeated the San Diego Chargers 20-7 to win their first AFL championship.

AF Flanagan denied the twines for the Halifax Schemers at the Halifax Forum Sunday night but the Windsor-Dorchester pucksters toppled the Halifax outfit 5-3.

By JOE DUPUIS

MONTREAL (CP)—The setting was a press reception staged at the Montreal Forum.

It was symbolic in a way. For although the rink retains its name as general manager of the National Hockey League club, he had made such an attempt to put the pressure on the sport that he will always rate a place in any hockey scene.

He holds no official position with the team itself, having turned the reins over to Frank Pollock, but he is still vice-president of the board of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Company, which owns Canadiens.

He has his own office in a newly renovated building and five chambers above the Forum where, behind a big desk that almost fills his office, he sits in his frame, he is almost constantly on the phone.

He has been spending only part of his week at the home of the time he has had at the park building in a new show. On his discharge he moved to Toronto where he is still a card holder in the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

He coached the University of Toronto Schools team, then the St. Cecilia Church junior club and, in 1924, reorganized the old Marboro team with financial help from Conn Smythe, later to be his boss at Maple Leaf Gardens.

The construction project represents a sort of reply to any of those who suggests that it is slow moving.

"It is in perfect health and if you don't believe it come and see me work on my house," he says.

Graciously, as he sits on the floor, Selke accepts his diminishing role in hockey circles. Asked if he's summoned much now to give counsel, he replied with a smile: "Oh, not at all. People don't really want advice."

It was a typically realistic appraisal by a man who had given 58 years of hard-headed, clear-thinking energy to hockey.

Son of Polish immigrant, Selke began building a personal legend at 15 when he put aside dreams of being a player himself.

He remained with Leafs as assistant manager for 18 years until, having inherited Smythe's displeasure with the team, he was overruled in the Second World War, he resigned in 1946.

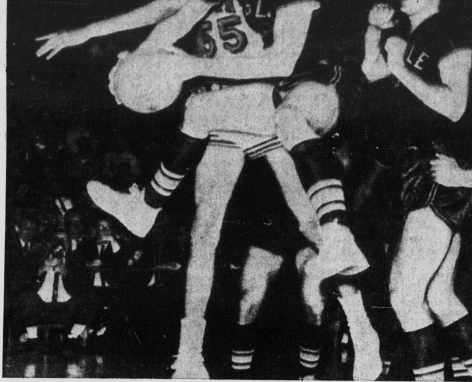

Smythe was unhappy because Selke, acting on his own judgment, made a player deal eventually to the boss's orders.

Selke's judgment eventually proved sound—Leafs got star players like Ken Kesler, but by that time Frank was managing director of Canadiens.

Having been associated with three Stanley Cup champions in Toronto, Selke went on to even bigger things in Montreal. Canadiens finished first eight times and won the Stanley Cup six times, including an unprecedented five in a row.

By JIM CULLEN

McDonald, K. Hughes, B. Mabon, Les MacDonald vs. H. Blair, L. Sinclair, P. Warner, O. Bennett.

George P. Wall 134 of La Salle holds the ball for a shot for a score in first quarter of ECAS Holiday Basketball Festival at New York's Madison Square Garden yesterday.

Canadians Meet Russians On Final Day Of Olympics

TAMPERE (CP)—Canada meets Russia on the final day of the 1965 World Hockey Championships today.

The 1965 world championships will be held in this Finnish industrial city Nov. 3 to 14 in a newly-built 10,000-seat indoor stadium.

The Russians are the defending world champions as well as the Olympic champions. Russia won the world title in 1963 at Stockholm by a single goal in goal average over Sweden.

Canada's national team could do no better than fourth in the winter Olympics at Innsbruck as the Russians won seven straight games in the championship round-robin to take the gold medal.

SEVEN IN POOL A

But only Pool A matches will be played at Tampere. Already qualified for Pool A are Russia, Canada, the United States, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Finland and Sweden.

SEVEN IN POOL B

The following is the curling draw for Tuesday night at the Charlottetown Club. (Spare's needed.)

Ice 1 — Praetise Doug Cameron.

Ice 2 — Dr. MacDonald, K. Duhmel, M. Pursey, P. Perry vs. Dr. Gallant, L. Blakeney, R. MacDonald, D. Taylor.

Ice 3 — C. Flemming, Dr. Jekls, K. Myers, F. Burke vs. G. MacMillan, W. Redden, H. Coffin, F. Dillon.

Ice 4 — E. Tanton, D. Douglass, J. Shefferson, E. Jay vs. G. Storey, E. Gillespie, S. Patterson, Bob O'Rourke.

Ice 5 — H.R. Carruthers, S. Dighton, G. Gallant, B. Tanton vs. E. MacDonald, B. Jones, N. Dooley, B. Stevenson.

All ices open for scratch games for ladies and men.

Selke coached the University of Toronto Schools team, then the St. Cecilia Church junior club and, in 1924, reorganized the old Marboro team with financial help from Conn Smythe, later to be his boss at Maple Leaf Gardens.

The construction project represents a sort of reply to any of those who suggests that it is slow moving.

"It is in perfect health and if you don't believe it come and see me work on my house," he says.

Graciously, as he sits on the floor, Selke accepts his diminishing role in hockey circles. Asked if he's summoned much now to give counsel, he replied with a smile: "Oh, not at all. People don't really want advice."

It was a typically realistic appraisal by a man who had given 58 years of hard-headed, clear-thinking energy to hockey.

Son of Polish immigrant, Selke began building a personal legend at 15 when he put aside dreams of being a player himself.

He remained with Leafs as assistant manager for 18 years until, having inherited Smythe's displeasure with the team, he was overruled in the Second World War, he resigned in 1946.

Smythe was unhappy because Selke, acting on his own judgment, made a player deal eventually to the boss's orders.

Selke's judgment eventually proved sound—Leafs got star players like Ken Kesler, but by that time Frank was managing director of Canadiens.

Having been associated with three Stanley Cup champions in Toronto, Selke went on to even bigger things in Montreal. Canadiens finished first eight times and won the Stanley Cup six times, including an unprecedented five in a row.

By JIM CULLEN

Michigan Flays Oregon in Rose Bowl Game

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Michigan and Oregon State, the two best teams in the United States college football teams, met in the Rose Bowl Saturday afternoon.

Michigan with a 6-1 record is ranked fourth among the teams in Bowl action while Oregon, 5-2, is ranked eighth.

New Year's lineup also includes: Orange Bowl—Alabama 10-0, ranked No. 1 vs. Texas, 9-1.

Colton Bowl—Arkansas 10-0, No. 2 vs. Nebraska 9-1, (No. 6).

Orange Bowl—Louisiana State 7-2-1, (No. 7) vs. Syracuse 7-3 (unranked).

The following day, Jan. 2, Jacksonville, Fla., meets Florida State in the Gator Bowl and the East and West meet in the annual Shrine game.

ALL-AMERICAN LEADS

In the Rose Bowl, Michigan's all-American Bob Timberlake, a 215-pound quarterback is the prime mover in the ground game oriented offense of the Big Ten champions.

Oregon State, the Pacific Eight conference champion, has surrendered to a measure buried in the midst of controversy after being picked for the Rose Bowl over Southern California following the latter's upset over Notre Dame, although Oregon was the better record.

Alabama's Orange Bowl team has won two of its last three games the second time in four seasons this year.

Florida, hobbled by a knee injury all season, and Steve Sloan provide an awesome quarterback duo while

Florida State, which has enjoyed its best season in history (8-1), will be even more pampered in the Gator Bowl now that fullback Lee Narramore, the No. 2 crowd-gainer, has dropped from school because of scholastic difficulties.

The overcast battery features quarterback Steve Fensi, sixth ranked passer with 121 completions, and All-America Fred Biletnikoff.

Oklahoma will be running at Florida State's defensive strength with the fifth best rushing attack in the land coached by fullback Jim Grisham, Oklahoma amassed 272 yards on the ground and does just enough passing to keep the opposition off balance.

In what could be the best Shrine game ever, the East is stacked with defensive talent. Navy's Roger Staubach, 1963 All-America and Heisman Trophy winner, plus Fred Marzetti from Pitt share quarterback duties.

The West never had greater potential for a balanced offense which often in the past has leaned heavily to the forward pass.

The quarterbacks are second time All-America Craig Morton of California and Bob Berry of Oregon.

STYMIED ON SCORING TRY

John's (55) in his attempt to try for a score in first quarter of ECAS Holiday Basketball Festival at New York's Madison Square Garden yesterday.

Michigan with a 6-1 record is ranked fourth among the teams in Bowl action while Oregon, 5-2, is ranked eighth.

New Year's lineup also includes: Orange Bowl—Alabama 10-0, ranked No. 1 vs. Texas, 9-1.

Colton Bowl—Arkansas 10-0, No. 2 vs. Nebraska 9-1, (No. 6).

Orange Bowl—Louisiana State 7-2-1, (No. 7) vs. Syracuse 7-3 (unranked).

The following day, Jan. 2, Jacksonville, Fla., meets Florida State in the Gator Bowl and the East and West meet in the annual Shrine game.

ALL-AMERICAN LEADS

In the Rose Bowl, Michigan's all-American Bob Timberlake, a 215-pound quarterback is the prime mover in the ground game oriented offense of the Big Ten champions.

Oregon State, the Pacific Eight conference champion, has surrendered to a measure buried in the midst of controversy after being picked for the Rose Bowl over Southern California following the latter's upset over Notre Dame, although Oregon was the better record.

Alabama's Orange Bowl team has won two of its last three games the second time in four seasons this year.

Florida, hobbled by a knee injury all season, and Steve Sloan provide an awesome quarterback duo while

Florida State, which has enjoyed its best season in history (8-1), will be even more pampered in the Gator Bowl now that fullback Lee Narramore, the No. 2 crowd-gainer, has dropped from school because of scholastic difficulties.

The overcast battery features quarterback Steve Fensi, sixth ranked passer with 121 completions, and All-America Fred Biletnikoff.

Oklahoma will be running at Florida State's defensive strength with the fifth best rushing attack in the land coached by fullback Jim Grisham, Oklahoma amassed 272 yards on the ground and does just enough passing to keep the opposition off balance.

In what could be the best Shrine game ever, the East is stacked with defensive talent. Navy's Roger Staubach, 1963 All-America and Heisman Trophy winner, plus Fred Marzetti from Pitt share quarterback duties.

The West never had greater potential for a balanced offense which often in the past has leaned heavily to the forward pass.

The quarterbacks are second time All-America Craig Morton of California and Bob Berry of Oregon.

By Norman Macdonald

Summerside Bureau of The Guardian

SPORT ECHOES

By Norman Macdonald

Summerside Bureau of The Guardian

Merry Christmas

We got a brief, but devastatingly unsigned note in the mail recently. It read: "Yours was the only column I saw which didn't end with a Merry Christmas last Tuesday. Don't you believe in Christmas?" Yes, Mr. Anonymous, we do believe in Christmas, and our face was red as Rudolph's nose when we noticed the oversight. Orally we said "Merry Christmas" and the only column I saw which didn't end with a Merry Christmas was yours." Of course, and we tried to mean it every time.

We had a card from Dr. and Mrs. King Grady of Vancouver. It reads: "Bling you with the season's finest wishes." Ray, the only column I saw which didn't end with a Merry Christmas was yours." Of course, and we tried to mean it every time.

We believe in Christmas so much that we think it might be a good idea to have the celebration the 25th of every month, and then a week later we could wish everyone a "Happy New Year!" Eliminate the exchange of presents. Perhaps we don't want to see everyone go broke, and, oh, yes, leave out the turkey. Our plum pudding, and trimmings became a lot of us couldn't take that bit of punishment every month and survive. "Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow you die!" is our slogan for Christmas. But for this month!

We're taking a trip to Toronto during the holidays. Through the kindness of Cliff Ramsay and the P.E.I. Bag Co., we have two tickets for the game in Toronto on January 2. We appreciate this fine gesture very much. Detroit Red Wings will be in the Gardens, so the home fans are not going to like our cheering for Gordie Howe and his mates. Guess this is the end, and we admit this sports column resembles some of that boarding-house lobster salad. You've got to have a little of Sherlock Holmes in you to find the lobster.

Circle as Sent 20 Yrs. in NHL Circles

By JOE DUPUIS

MONTREAL (CP)—The setting was a press reception staged at the Montreal Forum.

It was symbolic in a way. For although the rink retains its name as general manager of the National Hockey League club, he had made such an attempt to put the pressure on the sport that he will always rate a place in any hockey scene.

He holds no official position with the team itself, having turned the reins over to Frank Pollock, but he is still vice-president of the board of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Company, which owns Canadiens.

He has his own office in a newly renovated building and five chambers above the Forum where, behind a big desk that almost fills his office, he sits in his frame, he is almost constantly on the phone.

He has been spending only part of his week at the home of the time he has had at the park building in a new show. On his discharge he moved to Toronto where he is still a card holder in the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

He coached the University of Toronto Schools team, then the St. Cecilia Church junior club and, in 1924, reorganized the old Marboro team with financial help from Conn Smythe, later to be his boss at Maple Leaf Gardens.

The construction project represents a sort of reply to any of those who suggests that it is slow moving.

"It is in perfect health and if you don't believe it come and see me work on my house," he says.

Graciously, as he sits on the floor, Selke accepts his diminishing role in hockey circles. Asked if he's summoned much now to give counsel, he replied with a smile: "Oh, not at all. People don't really want advice."

It was a typically realistic appraisal by a man who had given 58 years of hard-headed, clear-thinking energy to hockey.

Son of Polish immigrant, Selke began building a personal legend at 15 when he put aside dreams of being a player himself.

He remained with Leafs as assistant manager for 18 years until, having inherited Smythe's displeasure with the team, he was overruled in the Second World War, he resigned in 1946.

Smythe was unhappy because Selke, acting on his own judgment, made a player deal eventually to the boss's orders.

Selke's judgment eventually proved sound—Leafs got star players like Ken Kesler, but by that time Frank was managing director of Canadiens.

Having been associated with three Stanley Cup champions in Toronto, Selke went on to even bigger things in Montreal. Canadiens finished first eight times and won the Stanley Cup six times, including an unprecedented five in a row.

By JIM CULLEN

McDonald, K. Hughes, B. Mabon, Les MacDonald vs. H. Blair, L. Sinclair, P. Warner, O. Bennett.

By JIM CULLEN

McDonald, K. Hughes, B. Mabon, Les MacDonald vs. H. Blair, L. Sinclair, P. Warner, O. Bennett.

Canadians Meet Russians On Final Day Of Olympics

TAMPERE (CP)—Canada meets Russia on the final day of the 1965 World Hockey Championships today.

The 1965 world championships will be held in this Finnish industrial city Nov. 3 to 14 in a newly-built 10,000-seat indoor stadium.

The Russians are the defending world champions as well as the Olympic champions. Russia won the world title in 1963 at Stockholm by a single goal in goal average over Sweden.

Canada's national team could do no better than fourth in the winter Olympics at Innsbruck as the Russians won seven straight games in the championship round-robin to take the gold medal.

SEVEN IN POOL A

But only Pool A matches will be played at Tampere. Already qualified for Pool A are Russia, Canada, the United States, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, Finland and Sweden.

SEVEN IN POOL B

The following is the curling draw for Tuesday night at the Charlottetown Club. (Spare's needed.)

Ice 1 — Praetise Doug Cameron.

Ice 2 — Dr. MacDonald, K. Duhmel, M. Pursey, P. Perry vs. Dr. Gallant, L. Blakeney, R. MacDonald, D. Taylor.

Ice 3 — C. Flemming, Dr. Jekls, K. Myers, F. Burke vs. G. MacMillan, W. Redden, H. Coffin, F. Dillon.

Ice 4 — E. Tanton, D. Douglass, J. Shefferson, E. Jay vs. G. Storey, E. Gillespie, S. Patterson, Bob O'Rourke.

Ice 5 — H.R. Carruthers, S. Dighton, G. Gallant, B. Tanton vs. E. MacDonald, B. Jones, N. Dooley, B. Stevenson.

All ices open for scratch games for ladies and men.

Selke coached the University of Toronto Schools team, then the St. Cecilia Church junior club and, in 1924, reorganized the old Marboro team with financial help from Conn Smythe, later to be his boss at Maple Leaf Gardens.

The construction project represents a sort of reply to any of those who suggests that it is slow moving.

"It is in perfect health and if you don't believe it come and see me work on my house," he says.

Graciously, as he sits on the floor, Selke accepts his diminishing role in hockey circles. Asked if he's summoned much now to give counsel, he replied with a smile: "Oh, not at all. People don't really want advice."

It was a typically realistic appraisal by a man who had given 58 years of hard-headed, clear-thinking energy to hockey.

Son of Polish immigrant, Selke began building a personal legend at 15 when he put aside dreams of being a player himself.

He remained with Leafs as assistant manager for 18 years until, having inherited Smythe's displeasure with the team, he was overruled in the Second World War, he resigned in 1946.

Smythe was unhappy because Selke, acting on his own judgment, made a player deal eventually to the boss's orders.

Selke's judgment eventually proved sound—Leafs got star players like Ken Kesler, but by that time Frank was managing director of Canadiens.

Having been associated with three Stanley Cup champions in Toronto, Selke went on to even bigger things in Montreal. Canadiens finished first eight times and won the Stanley Cup six times, including an unprecedented five in a row.

By JIM CULLEN

Corran Ban Is Victorious

Corran Ban in a WHVO Fort Augustus 8-1 in a Cipped League game played at St. Dunstan's Rink Sunday night.

The winners were paced by a two goal performance from N. Morrison and E. Beardon.

Other scorers for Corran Ban were: J. MacDougall, E. Doyke, J. Hughes and K. Hughes all with one goal apiece.

J. MacDougall was the lone marksman for Fort Augustus.

There will be a figure skating practice held at the Charlottetown Forum for the Figure Skating Club, Wednesday, December 30 from 10:00 a.m. until 12 noon.

From 10:11 a.m. will be reserved for the girls-nine years of age and under, Girls 10 years of age and over will have a practice from 11-12.

Regular classes resume on Thursday, January 7.

Figure Skating

There will be a figure skating practice held at the Charlottetown Forum for the Figure Skating Club, Wednesday, December 30 from 10:00 a.m. until 12 noon.

From 10:11 a.m. will be reserved for the girls-nine years of age and under, Girls 10 years of age and over will have a practice from 11-12.

Regular classes resume on Thursday, January 7.

Hawks Coach THIS WEEK Is Released at the FORUM

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Harry Galatin was fired Monday as coach of the National Basketball Association's St. Louis Hawks.

Veteran Hawk guard Richie Guerin was named coach and winner of the National Basketball Association's St. Louis Hawks.

Kerker said Guerin would serve as a player-coach for the rest of the season.

Galatin coached the Hawks in 1962 from a Southern Illinois University coaching job. His record in 1962-63 was 111 games won and 82 lost.

Female Chosen Athlete Of Year

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet sports writers have for the first time chosen a woman as Soviet athlete of the year.

Lidia Skoblova, world speed skating champion and winner of four gold medals at the Innsbruck winter Olympics, headed the list of 20 Soviet athletes chosen by news, radio and television men.

Valery Brumel, Olympic champion in the high jump and top Soviet athlete for the last three years, finished eighth in the 1964 poll.

The P.E.I. Reg's Band Skate

Skating to the P.E.I. Regimental Band

TUESDAY, DEC. 29th 8:00 — 10:00 P.M. Admission 75c

Band performance by the kind permission of Lt. Col. D. J. McCormack, C.O.—J.A. C. MacGregor, Bandmaster.

CH'TOWN FORUM SKATING

Mon. Dec. 28 2-4 p.m. Tues. Dec. 29 2-4 p.m. All Ages Children 15c Adults 25c

For Your New Year's EVE PARTY

AN INVESTMENT IN GOOD TASTE THE GLENGUARD by Hyde Park

The mark of a man on the golf impeccably tailored by Hyde Park, a Glenguard gives a lift to your life... puts you at ease in any company. For the widest choice of fall patterns, shades and fabrics, see our outstanding collection now. About $50.

Hyde Park

Men's and Boys' Wear

Great George St. Charlottetown

Men's and Boys' Wear

Great George St. Charlottetown

Men's and Boys' Wear

Great George St. Charlottetown

Men's and Boys' Wear

Great George St. Charlottetown

Men's and Boys' Wear

Great George St. Charlottetown

Men's and Boys' Wear

Great George St. Charlottetown

Men's and Boys' Wear

Great George St. Charlottetown