IN MEMORIAM

ADAM D. McLURE
On Wednesday, October 23, 1957, the death occurred at his home of Mr. Adam D. McLure, a well known and much respected citizen of Montague.

He leaves to mourn, his wife, the former Edith Millar, Murray Harbour, who solely and lovingly cared for him during a lengthy illness, and two daughters, Elsie (Mrs. Watterworth, Montague) and Etta (Mrs. Martin Currie, Charlottetown). Also surviving are one sister, Miss Belle McLure, Taunton, Massachusetts and four brothers, Charles, Chester, Howard and Benjamin, all of Montague. Three brothers, George, William and Cameron, and one sister, Barbara, predeceased him.

Mr. McLure was born in Murray Harbour North on February 28, 1887. He was the son of the late Carney D. McLure and his wife, Margaret Dixon McLure. As a very young man, he worked as a carpenter in Summerside, and while still young he joined the firm of the Montague Furnishing Company Limited as foreman of the cabinet building and trimming department. He was vice president of the Company and remained associated with the firm until he was forced to retire because of illness.

The late Mr. McLure was of a quiet, practical disposition, and gave unselfishly and willingly of his efforts and natural talents in the interests of the community.

At the time of his retirement from public life, he held the office of chairman of the Community Welfare League.

He was a member and faithful supporter of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Montague. He served for many years on the board of Trustees and in later years as chairman of the Session.

The funeral was held from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Montague. The service was conducted by the minister, Rev. D. A. Campbell. Mr. Malcolm Munro, soloist, sang "The Lord's My Shepherd" (Crimond). The congregational hymns were "By Cool Siloam's Shady Rill" (a favorite of the deceased) and "Lead kindly light". The organist was Mrs. A. F. Campbell.

The honorary pall bearers were L.M. MacKinnon, Milton Fraser, Claude MacKay, Heath Stewart. Active pall bearers were Harry C. Johnstone, Douglas MacGowan, Athol MacKinnon, Fulton Campbell, Glen MacLaren and William MacEachern.

The funeral arrangements were in charge of the Montague Funeral Home. Interment took place in Lower Montague Cemetery.

Launch Shaw's Alphabet Seven Years After Death

LONDON (Reuters) — George Bernard Shaw's cherished dream of a phonetic English alphabet was launched Thursday, seven years after the death of the great Irish playwright.

A long legal battle produced a compromise settlement allotting £2,300 to the revolutionary plan for a 40-letter alphabet made up of half-longhand, half-shorthand writing.

The amount was far less than Shaw had hoped for. In his will, he left more than £100,000 — almost all his estate after taxes — to a proposed "alphabet trust."

MANY REVISIONS
The crochety writer with the biting wit revised the will several times, trying to make it what he called "legal-proof." But the man who advocated classic simplicity in writing wound up by producing one of the most complicated documents British lawyers ever had seen.

Shaw said his proposed alphabet would save two months a year for anybody who had much writing to do.

But he foresaw the legal arguments his plan might produce and left himself an escape clause. If the courts ruled against the alphabet the money was to be turned over in equal shares to the British Museum, the National Gallery of Ireland and the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art.

TWO APPEALS
The British Museum and the two Royal Academies appealed the will and Shaw's "alphabet trust" was judged an invalid charitable organization. Only the Irish National Gallery did not oppose the will, "not wishing to urge anything which would defeat the intention of a fellow Irishman."

The Shaw Society appealed the court's decision and Thursday's compromise was the result.

Reginald Baukwill, the public trustee in charge of the Shaw estate, will call for additional ideas for the phonetic alphabet, with the winner of the competition receiving £500. Shaw's play Androcles and The Lion then will be translated into the new alphabet and distributed throughout the world.

"I believe we can carry out Shaw's wishes with the money now available," Baukwill said, "and I think the play in its new translation will be a good seller, especially in America."

PITMAN HEADS PANEL
Isaac Pitman, a descendant of the man who developed the Pitman shorthand system, will head a panel of three linguistic experts who will advise on the selection of the new alphabet.

Pitman, a leader of the simplified spelling society, said he thinks a new phonetic alphabet is practicable and could be taken up by schools, as Shaw had hoped.

"It would telescope printing," Pitman said. "Books could be half as big and twice as cheap."

Says U. S. Oil Import Curbs Violate Pact With Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Donald Fleming charged Friday that oil import curbs ordered by the United States government violate agreements with Canada covering economic co-operation for defence.

Mr. Fleming told the Commons the Canadian government plans to send a note to Washington protesting the presidential order restricting imports of crude oil on the Pacific Coast.

He said the import restrictions, which will directly affect for the first time the flow of Canadian oil to the U.S., make no sense. They do not promote the actual security interests of the U.S., he added. Not only that, but they were an offence against the tenor and purpose of the principles of Canada-U.S. defence co-operation set forth in an exchange of notes between the two governments Oct. 26, 1950, in the first year of the Korean War.

Mr. Fleming said the restrictions also are not in accord with the communique issued at the close of the NATO summit conference in Paris last month. The communique said the NATO nations would co-operate among themselves for economic stability and expand trade by reducing trade barriers.

OTHER ITEMS, TOO?
Mr. Fleming also expressed apprehension about possible further restrictions by the U.S.; covering other commodities;

In reply to questions by Paul Martin (L-Essex East), he said the government has no assurance that the U.S. won't impose higher tariffs on Canadian lead and zinc.

The oil import curbs, announced Christmas Eve by President Eisenhower, likely will result in production cutbacks by Canadian oil companies of between five and 10 per cent.

Major U.S. refiners in the West Coast were asked to reduce crude oil imports into the West Coast area by 15 per cent during the first six months of this year.

The White House said the step was based on a fear that excessive imports will result in an eventual decrease in the rate of oil exploration and development in the U.S. and lead to premature abandonment of marginal production.

WANT HOME SUPPORT
American authorities described the action as part of a program to make sure there is enough domestic oil production to meet U.S. needs in the event of war.

Mr. Fleming said the import restrictions were largely the result of a campaign waged for several years by American independent oil companies which do not own fields outside the U.S.

Federal Gov't Experts Work At New Spending Program

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament has approved only a fraction of the government's current year expenditure but the experts are already at work at next year's spending program.

When the bill is presented to Parliament, perhaps in February, it may turn out to be a whopper, an all-time high of $500,000,000 or more. The new fiscal year starts April 1.

Included likely will be an unusually large allocation for public works. In making up the 1957-58 estimates, a lot of public projects were shelved in the face of the inflation threat.

Now the experts consider that threat is over. The country is in an uneasy mood. The economy has slipped. One federal economist described the current economic dip as the worst recession since the Second World War. New strength is expected in mid 1958.

Officials said the 1958-59 estimates will include large outlays for various projects, such as wharves, airfields, docks, post offices, customs buildings and other construction. This may help absorb some of the economic slack.

MORE FOR PENSIONS
The new estimates, now being roughed out for treasury board approval, are expected to reflect higher outlays for old age pensions, family allowances, civil service salaries and national debt interest charges.

The estimated record $500,000,000 would be roughly $100,000,000 more than the total current-year outlays. But not included in the roughed-out figures are any new federal payments that may be made to the provinces.

Another federal-provincial fiscal conference is to be called early in the new year when the central administration may offer the provinces a larger slice of the Canadian tax pie. This may show up in the next budget as larger payments under federal-provincial tax rental acts.

The suggested higher outlays—even after some possible snips in defence spending—brings up the possibility that the government may go into deficit financing.

MAY BREAK EVEN
This year the government may just about break even. It has made some minor tax changes and figures it will end up with a surplus of $80,000,000. This is based on a gross national product—value of all goods and services produced—of $31,250,000,000.

However, there now are indications national production may fall a little short of that, perhaps to $30,800,000,000. This in turn may mean that federal revenues may not be as high as anticipated and the $80,000,000 surplus may not materialize.

C. P. R. Earnings Show Decline

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian Pacific Railway Monday reported a decrease of $2,871,643 in net earnings for the first 11 months of 1957.

The amount was down to $34,460,626 from $37,332,269 for last year's corresponding period.

Railway revenue was $448,633,638 against $463,026,178, a decrease of $14,392,540; railway expenses amounted to $413,593,012 compared to $425,693,909, a decrease of $12,100,897.

For the month of November, an increase of $69,608 in net earnings was reported, up to $4,994,393 from last year's $4,904,785.

Railway revenue was $41,910,169 against $42,999,220, a decrease of $1,089,051; railway expenses totalled $36,915,776 compared to $38,694,435, a decrease of $1,778,659.

PROVIDE DESIGNS
NEW YORK (AP)—The United States is planning to provide France with designs and fuel for atomic powered submarines if Congress permits, the New York Times says. The newspaper adds that eventually similar data will be supplied to other members of the Atlantic Pact.
