

ACTIVE IN FESTIVAL

Mr. and Mrs. Raul Reymond, talented musicians both of whom as weekly visitors to the Montague schools have developed many of their vocal pupils to the extent that their marks in the Musical Festival have been outstanding.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Ellen And James Enjoy Contents Of Daily Paper

"That's a nice cat," Ellen's James says looking up from his paper at the furry black gentleman napping on the couch. "And quite a mouser too. I saw him catch one today. He's as quick as a flash!"

Due to press of work, James' newspaper has awaited this hour. Up to this he has paused to comment on various items like: "That row in the East, Ellen, doesn't appear to be any nearer settlement than it was some months ago. It's taking a long time; I see Mr. Eden's coming along nicely — it's to be hoped he will have some years left to him yet. That's a trying business he is in. There is no freedom to it — or thanks either! Not like working on a farm where you're only yourself to please. But" with a chuckle "numbers seem to like it — it's the best they've, I guess."

They're into the heat of the election campaign all across the country now. It must be wearisome on the leaders of the different parties — no quiet, no rest. But I suppose it's their "bread and butter" — their way of life that's at stake. I see where Mr. ... has passed away. Pretty full of years too! But life's sweet to matter the age.

And Mrs. ... 's new babe is here, we offered "did you notice" Now the cat has roused, yawns, and blinks against the sun and proceeds to tidy himself with his paws, straightening his back and ears with tongue and paw, a straightening vest and ties with a casual air.

And "What's on your mind?" we wonder. There is no expression — no hint of sharing his confidences. Green eyes are unfathomable, face deadpan. He eases down from the couch now, a handsome lad, dark and taking, and pads softly to the door.

MARY HAWORTH On The Outs Since Marriage

Dear Mary Haworth: We have been married almost a year and had known each other for three years previously. During this time Ray's widowed mother and I were the best of friends — until the day of the wedding.

Not wanting a big wedding, we were married in the pastor's study, with just our parents and two close friends present. After the ceremony, Mrs. X wishes us "the very best" and said to call her as soon as we got back from the honeymoon.

Two or three days after our return, we telephoned to ask if she would come to supper the following week. When she declined, I asked her to suggest a date but she replied that she would be very busy for the next month.

COLD SHOULDER
I telephoned her early the following week, just to talk — but she said she was very busy, with no time to talk. A few days later I saw her in the supermarket and she was ignored. Then Ray and I made two more telephone calls and got a quick brush-off. To this day she won't talk to either of us.

On Christmas eve she was "busy" when we telephoned to wish her a merry Christmas; and she declined our invitation for New Year's day. When we told her our baby is due in June, her only comment was an offhand "Oh!"

I miss her friendship very much — and I am sure Ray must miss the happy carefree mother he once had. Where have we gone wrong? And what can we do to make her the woman she once was? We are at our wits' end. Should we give up and move or less forget her? Or keep on trying? Ray is her only son, D.G.

MOTHER OUTRAGED
Dear D.G.: In your letter, (here condensed) you say Mrs. X "seemed very happy for us when the marriage was broached. Also she gave you a beautiful supper (party)" the night before the ceremony. On the wedding day she wished you "the very best" and asked you to call her directly you got back from the honeymoon.

As to what went wrong thereafter, I gather you made her frigidly furious when you failed to call her first thing on returning home from the honeymoon. Evidently she was on the alert for a spontaneous reunion at the earliest possible moment — where, as you took your own good time (from her view) about checking in. You delayed two or three days, you say, before telephoning to ask her to supper the following week.

FELT REBUFFED
As Ray is her only son, and you and she were the best of friends (before you became her daughter-in-law) and she had evinced great cordiality towards

CWAC's Reunion Is May 4, At Campbellton

CAMPBELLTON (Special) — The eighth annual reunion of former members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps will be held in Campbellton on May 4.

The CWAC's at the North Shore consider it a great honor to have the opportunity of being hosts of such an event and hope for a large attendance of former members from many points in the Maritimes.

It is the aim of ex-members to get together once a year to renew old acquaintances and sing old songs.

At 5.30 p.m., members will gather at the Sergeants Mess, 8 Adam Street, for a pre-dinner social hour after which a banquet will be held at the new Florence Hotel Water Street, when J. C. VanHorne, M.P. for Restigouche-Madawaska counties, will be the guest speaker, and Mayor J. W. Howard will extend a civic welcome.

The members will be entertained at a coffee party in the Band Room of the Legion Hall on Union Street. This will be a time of viewing pictures, old and new, and enjoying a sing-song.

Invitations have been sent out for the re-union but any woman who has served in the CWAC is invited to attend. Reservations will be made upon request and further information may be had by contacting the ex-CWAC Reunion committee, 8 Duke Street, Campbellton.

American Lawyer Donated Patent Rights To Blind

Frank Lewis Dyer was married to Eliza Jane MacEachern, Mar- tin formerly of Prince Edward Is- land. Frank L. Dyer one of the well-known Americans of his day was a lawyer and inventor. He was born in Washington, D.C., August 2, 1870, the son of George Washington and Kate (Huntress) Dyer. The Dyers came to and settled in Weymouth, Mass. The following is a summary of the life of Frank L. Dyer.

After receiving his preliminary education at public schools in his native city, the son Frank studied law in the office of his father, at Columbia (later George Washington) University, admitted to the District of Columbia bar in 1892, he practiced there until 1897 when he became associated with his brother, Richard N. Dyer, also a patent lawyer, in New York City.

In 1903, at the request of Thomas A. Edison (q.v.), he moved to Orange, N.J., to take charge of the legal aspects of Edison's enterprises. In this manner he became familiar with the inventor's business affairs and on the retirement of William E. Gilmore from the management of the various Edison companies in 1908, Dyer succeeded him.

He became president of the National Phonograph Co., Edison Business Phonograph and Bates Manufacturing Co., vice-president of the Edison Manufacturing Co. and Edison Storage Battery Co., and general manager of the Edison Phonograph Works. At the same time he had supervision over the legal matters of all the Edison companies in the capacity of general counsel.

In 1908 he also founded and became president of the Motion Picture Patents Co., which introduced order into the chaotic motion picture patent conditions previously existing, eliminated price-cutting on the part of manufacturers, removed costly litigation, and protected exhibitors from unfair competition. In 1910 he was one of the organizers of the General Film Co., and in 1912 he resigned his position with Edison to serve as president.

With headquarters in New York City and offices in fifty principal cities, the company was engaged in the distribution of films to motion picture theatres. He left that firm in 1914 to establish a practice in New York City as a mechanical and electrical expert, continuing in that capacity until his retirement in 1929. During 1910-20 he was also treasurer of the Condensite Company of America (later the Bakelite Co.), among Dyer's 100 inventions, the most important was a talking book for the blind. It was a special phonograph having about 50,000 words on each record, which ran about two-and-a-half hours. He gave partial patent rights for the invention for exclusive interest of blind people through the American Foundation for the Blind.

Other inventions included a round bale cotton press, an electric steering gear for ships, and liquid air. He was inventor of porous concrete which was manufactured by the Aerocrete Company of America. With T. Comerford Martin (q.v.), he was co-author of the two-volume "Edison-His Life and Inventions" (1910). For some years he was chairman of the Montreal (N.J.) Academy.

He was a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and a member of the American Geographical Society, Sons of the American Revolution, Institute of Patent Agents of London, England, Patent Law Association of Washington, D.C., the Masonic Order (32d degree), Southern Society of New York, Engineers Club of New York City, Sea View Golf Club of Absecon, N.J., and the Congressional Country Club of Washington, D.C. Politically he was a Democrat. Reading, fishing and playing golf were his chief recreations.

Mr. Dyer's death occurred in Ventnor, New Jersey. At a meeting of the Board of Directors of "Thomas Edison Inc." resolutions were adopted, regretting the death of Mr. Dyer, as former president of General Council and Director of the Corporations, who passed away at his home in Ventnor, N.J. also that there will be placed upon the records, as an expression of sorrow and sense of loss at his passing, and the appreciations of the note-worthy services rendered by him, as legal advisor and executive officer of the Edison organization throughout his long association with the Edison's Corporation. It was stated that the intimate relationship existing between Mr. Edison and Mr. Dyer, as inventor and patent lawyer, Mr. Dyer also won the esteem and friendship of all his associates.

The above was signed by members of the Board and beautifully bound in morocco leather. Copies were sent to his wife and family at the time of his death. The late Frank L. Dyer motored to many points of interest with Mrs. Dyer

Miss Marjorie Scott of Halifax, is being very pleasantly entertained by her many friends prior to her marriage on May fourth.

It was a happy occasion for Senator George H. Barbour and Mrs. Barbour, when on Wednesday afternoon, they celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in their family and friends at their home on Upper Prince Street. A reception was held from four to six o'clock when a great many friends called to offer best wishes. Senator Barbour and Mrs. Barbour received the guests, who were ushered to the dining room by Mrs. Tra Shaw. The attractive tea table was centered with gold mums, flanked by tall golden tapers in crystal candelabra. Mrs. Ethel Rogers and Mrs. Annie Bennett presided over the tea cups, assisted in serving by Mrs. Wendell Barbour, Mrs. Roy Strang, Mrs. Stanley Thompson and Mrs. George Sheffoon. Mrs. Sheldon Duncan, the only daughter of Senator and Mrs. Barbour attended the door.

Mrs. L. B. Mellicham during her recent visit with her niece Mrs. Frank L. Dyer motored to many points of interest with Mrs. Dyer metabolism: When three meals are eaten, the specific dynamic effects keep the metabolism raised for 12 to 16 hours.

ENERGY CARRYOVER
Also, there is a better carryover of power of protein to build slowness is made startlingly clear when you realize you can reduce faster on a diet that includes extra protein (extra means more than the amount needed for repair work) than you can on a diet containing exactly the same number of calories but less protein.

Women

Lena Caroline McLure, Women's Editor, Phone 8508

Page 8 The Guardian Monday, April 29, 1957

HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. John Deifenbaker arrived by plane from Charlottetown Sunday evening. Mrs. Deifenbaker will attend all the functions in connection with her husband's visit to this Province.

Mrs. F. H. Barlow, Oak Lyn, Forest Hill Road, Toronto who has visited this province several times with her husband Mr. Justice Barlow continues to be as active as ever. Justice Barlow is president of the Toronto branch of the English Speaking Union. Mrs. Barlow has also been deeply honored by being made president of the Women's Community Service Club of Timothy Eaton Memorial United Church. The club meets every Thursday from 10 to 3 and there are one hundred and fifty members with an average of ninety for lunch weekly.

Justice and Mrs. Barlow have just returned by plane from Bermuda, where they spent a three weeks holiday.

Mrs. Barlow is prominent in musical circles and is a member of the Royal Conservatory Alumnae, Toronto. The Lyceum Club, Women's Art Association of Ottawa have requested Mrs. Barlow to be the guest speaker at their spring luncheon in May. Mrs. Barlow has chosen for her topic "Gardens We Have Visited."

Mrs. Barlow will show some of her husband's many beautiful color slides. Justice Barlow's collection of travel pictures is an outstanding one. During Justice and Mrs. Barlow's visits to Prince Edward Island they have been entertained by Justice and Mrs. G. J. Tweedy and Justice and Mrs. Mark R. MacGuigan.

Miss Virginia Green of Kin-kora High School, is spending the Easter holidays at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Green, Central Bedouque.

Mrs. R. T. Dodds was a weekend visitor of her brother-in-law and sister Mrs. and Mrs. Kenneth Jewell, Fredericton, N.B.

Mr. and Mrs. James Oakley, of Dartmouth, N.S., were recent guests of Dr. H. S. Allen and Mrs. Allen.

Dr. J. B. Downing, Mrs. Downing and family left last week for Montreal.

Mrs. Harold Sterns of Halifax, N.S. spent the past weekend, the guest of Mrs. T. D. Carruthers.

Mrs. W. E. Smallman, accompanied by her son Jimmy, returned Monday from Fredericton, N.B., where she spent Easter with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Smallman.

Rev. Keith Hobson and Mrs. Hobson have returned home from a holiday in the Maritime provinces.

Mrs. Maynard Schurman was hostess to her bridge club on Wednesday evening.

Miss Peggy Gordon has returned to Halifax to resume her training as an X-ray technician at the Halifax Infirmary, after spending the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gordon Fitzroy Street.

Mrs. Hedley Muttart, Carleton Siding, spent the weekend with Mrs. Robert Hogg, Summer St.

Mrs. Layton Schurman entertained at a stork shower honoring Mrs. Robert Boby, Mrs. Thane Bagloe assisted the hostess in serving lunch.

Small tools" to replace the missing ones and as soon as her machine is in working order, it will start spinning.

Baggage men greeted Mrs. Servold as an old customer when she checked her heirloom for safe-keeping between trains. Two years ago she had been given another spinning wheel in Norway and it too travelled to Camrose, 160 miles northeast of here, under personal supervision.

Mrs. Servold was on her way home from her second trip to Norway in three years when interviewed here. She hadn't sat down two minutes before her purse popped open. Out came a snapshot of her four sons.

Two of them, Clarence and Irvin, were members of Canada's 1956 Olympic ski team. She said they learned to ski on homemade skis when they were little boys. She went to Norway in 1954 to watch them in the world championships.

The state of officers for 1957-58 are the following: Honorary President, Mrs. L. Gass, President, Mrs. J. E. Matheson, Vice President for Nova Scotia, Mrs. R.P. Freeman, Vice President for New Brunswick, Miss Mabel Shannon, Vice President for Prince Edward Island, Miss Florence Sutherland, Mrs. Dis Joyce, Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. R.J.A. Chalmers.

Island Women Are Active In Maritime Club

The annual report of Maritime Women's Club of Montreal, Incorporated, is of interest to all Maritimers whether or not residents of Montreal. The report contains general ideas for clubs of a similar nature. It is also interesting to realize the great amount of work clubs in smaller cities accomplish too. A summary of the report as sent out by Miss E. Atkinson, the press secretary is as follows:

The Annual Meeting of The Maritime Women's Club of Montreal, Incorporated was held at the Y. W.C.A., 1355 Dorchester St., West on Thursday evening, April 30th. Mrs. J. E. Matheson, who will continue as President for another year, expressed her gratitude to the Board for their loyal support to the Programme Committee for the excellence of the presentations during the year, and to the membership for their co-operation at all times, all of which made a most successful year.

The 26th Annual Charter Day Dinner was well attended; the Rev. Alex S. Renton being guest-speaker Mrs. G. W. Walker and Miss Vera Groves entertained with piano duets.

The Year's programme opened with a tea at the Windsor Hotel, when Mrs. A. J. Willis sang two groups of songs, accompanied by Mrs. Joyce Rawlings. Peter Stursberg (at present with the Press Gallery in Ottawa) addressed a Joint meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club and the Maritime Women's Club in November, taking for his subject "Canada and World Affairs."

Mrs. D. M. Grant — Elocutionist — was the artist at the December meeting. The T. Eaton Company played gift wrapping. Members brought white gifts for the veterans at Ste. Anne de Bellevue Military Hospital. Several of the men were in attendance at this meeting.

The reception for new members took place in January. Each new member was presented with a rose corsage by 4-year-old Anne Carey. Dorcas Day Troup gave an amusing demonstration of an ancient and modern hats with her humorous commentary on "Hats go to my head." The Dickens Players, in one act of "When Mr. Dickens came to Montreal" (part of a 4-act play written by Mr. R. H. Mainer) received generous applause.

Cecil Meade, pianist and globe-trotter was most interesting in his address on various experiences he had had in many countries, and played several of his own compositions. The music in March at also in conjunction with The Business and Professional Women's Club — was varied. The artists were — Henry Gosham, Tenor, Miss Claude Girardin, Pianist, Mr. Valentine Smiley, Baritone and Mr. Donald Harvie in Musical Characterizations in costume. This occasion was most enjoyable.

The Club enthusiastically supported three out-of-town trips. One to the Eastern Townships during blossom week last June. Dinner was served at the Alouette Lodge near Kenilworth, Miss D. L. Gass, Honorary President, entertained at her camp for Girls on Lake Memphramagog — a day not soon to be forgotten. A tour of Steinberg's plant one evening, and a day recently at Heather Lodge in Rawdon, where after an excellent dinner the members were most interested in a "sugaring-off" at a nearby camp.

The Treasurer reported that funds were raised by membership fees, a sale of handwork and home cooking, two Bridges and a Marathon Bridge. Donations were made to Ste. Anne's Military Hospital and Family Welfare, $200 was forwarded to Inverness, Nova Scotia, at the time of the coal mine disaster when so many men lost their lives.

Miss Phyllis Harrigan, Saint John, New Brunswick, received the Scholarship awarded to a Maritime girl attending the McGill School for Graduate Nurses, while Miss Christine McLellan of New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, received the one awarded to the McGill School for Social Service.

Club members served at the Blood Donor Clinic, while Bowling teams and Marathon Bridge Group played regularly.

The Club was again fortunate in that Mrs. A. J. Moore and her committee have for the 13th consecutive year visited the veterans at Ste. Anne de Bellevue Military Hospital each fortnight, distributing cigarettes, reading matter, Christmas boxes and friendship to these men, many of whom have been continuously in Hospital since World War I. This is the main project of the Club, one well worth while and much appreciated both by the men themselves and by the Hospital personnel. Mrs. Moore was presented with a plant in recognition of her ceaseless work for these veterans.

The state of officers for 1957-58 are the following: Honorary President, Mrs. L. Gass, President, Mrs. J. E. Matheson, Vice President for Nova Scotia, Mrs. R.P. Freeman, Vice President for New Brunswick, Miss Mabel Shannon, Vice President for Prince Edward Island, Miss Florence Sutherland, Mrs. Dis Joyce, Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. R.J.A. Chalmers.

Getting back to the spinning wheels, Mrs. Servold said: "My boys laughed when I arrived home with the last one." She also brought back hand-woven christening robes from Norway. "There is only one person I know who still can make them, and she lives in Walderess, my mother's home place."

SONS LAUGHED
Getting back to the spinning wheels, Mrs. Servold said: "My boys laughed when I arrived home with the last one." She also brought back hand-woven christening robes from Norway. "There is only one person I know who still can make them, and she lives in Walderess, my mother's home place."

GET AHEAD WITH A BILL CLEAN-UP!
Pay leftover seasonal bills and reduce high monthly payments with a prompt loan here. We like to say "Yes!" when you ask for a loan. Phone for your loan in one visit, or come in.

Loans up to $2500 — up to 30 months to repay on loans over $500
151 GREAT GEORGE STREET, CHARLOTTETOWN
Second Floor, Plaza Building
Phone 8285 — Ask for the YES Manager
ORDINARY BUSINESS BY APPOINTMENT — PHONE FOR EVENING HOURS

MORNING SMILE
A middle aged man who thinks the cleaners have been shrinking the waistband of his trousers.

AEROWAX
SAVES 22 1/2 A PINT
SAVES 22 1/2 A PINT

BENEFICIAL FINANCE CO.
NEW NAME!
Personal Finance Co. is now called BENEFICIAL FINANCE CO. Only the name has been changed!

REVERSIBLE
Prominent Designer A858.
It is not too early to begin your spring sewing. This sheath and cape is a wonderful answer for those days when winter seems to jump into summer and a suit might be too warm. This pert brief button-over cover up from Prominent Designer Pattern A858 gives twice the fashion life to this spring into summer ensemble. Local sewing center experts suggest making the cape the same color as the dress if you are short and plump with the reverse side in a darker tone of the same shade. It could be of contrasting colors. If you are the tall willowy type. Choose fabric with enough body to make sure the cape seems to jump into summer.

MARY HAWORTH
Dear D.G.: In your letter, (here condensed) you say Mrs. X "seemed very happy for us when the marriage was broached. Also she gave you a beautiful supper (party)" the night before the ceremony. On the wedding day she wished you "the very best" and asked you to call her directly you got back from the honeymoon.

KEEP IN TRIM
Happy Fact To Know — Eating Uses Calories
By IDEAN JEAN KAIN
It's pleasant to know that the mere act of eating uses calories. The effect of food in raising the metabolism is termed its specific dynamic action, and of all foods, proteins have the greatest effect. The power of protein to build slowness is made startlingly clear when you realize you can reduce faster on a diet that includes extra protein (extra means more than the amount needed for repair work) than you can on a diet containing exactly the same number of calories but less protein.

Mrs. Eva McTeer, Miss Violet Bennett, Chairmen of Standing Committees are the following: Arts and Letters, Mrs. Charles Steine, Historical, Miss Ann Peabody, Door and Reception, Mrs. Lewis Fulton, Social, Mrs. G. W. Walker, Press, Miss Ethel Atkinson, St. Anne's, Mrs. A. J. Moore, Courtesy, Miss Anne I. Fraser, Music, Mrs. Grace H. Wilson, Telephone, Mrs. J. R. Hains.

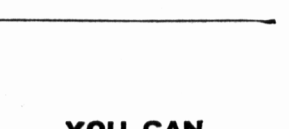

REPLACED SAIL.
The first steam fishing trawlers made their appearance in England in 1879.

New Swedish Way to Be Slim
EASY REDUCING ... WITHOUT HUNGER PANGS
WITH LARSON'S SWEDISH MILK DIET

WHAT IT IS: Larson's is a special diet invented in Sweden, also a country famous for health. If you are overweight because you eat too much and want to reduce easily, quickly and safely, while you discourage your appetite, then try Larson's S.M.D. See that you don't have to be so far and bulky. Now you can lose pounds and inches ... look younger ... this nourishing and wholesome new Swedish way. No underfeeding. Contains vitamins, protein, carbohydrates, iron, phosphorus.

HOW TO USE: Just take a teaspoonful of Larson's S.M.D. granules with a glass of milk 4 times a day, only 3 days a week, Mon., Wed. & Fri. The other 4 days you don't diet at all, but eat and drink normal meals. Larson's is tasty, easy to take. You prepare it in seconds! Supplies bulk and encourages normal habit time. Larson's is 100% guaranteed. You lose pounds and inches the very first week or return what's left to your store for a full refund. If your favorite drug or department store does not have Larson's S.M.D. then send to Marlene's Ltd., Dept. SD-4 537 Pape Ave., Toronto 6, Ontario.

1 Week's Supply $1.98
4 Weeks' Supply $4.95

YOU CAN TELL BEFORE YOU GET IT HOME

The minute you look at this petticoat — with its tailored lines, slit-skirt and its lovely lace trim — you'll know it will fit well and wear well when you get it home. Available in our new Seaford and other lovely colours.

A Large Selection of Harvey Wood Lingerie

MOORE & McLEOD
2nd Floor Dial 6541

PROWSE BROS. LTD.
98 Queen St. Dial 8583

REVERSIBLE
Prominent Designer A858.
It is not too early to begin your spring sewing. This sheath and cape is a wonderful answer for those days when winter seems to jump into summer and a suit might be too warm. This pert brief button-over cover up from Prominent Designer Pattern A858 gives twice the fashion life to this spring into summer ensemble. Local sewing center experts suggest making the cape the same color as the dress if you are short and plump with the reverse side in a darker tone of the same shade. It could be of contrasting colors. If you are the tall willowy type. Choose fabric with enough body to make sure the cape seems to jump into summer.

KEEP IN TRIM
Happy Fact To Know — Eating Uses Calories
By IDEAN JEAN KAIN
It's pleasant to know that the mere act of eating uses calories. The effect of food in raising the metabolism is termed its specific dynamic action, and of all foods, proteins have the greatest effect. The power of protein to build slowness is made startlingly clear when you realize you can reduce faster on a diet that includes extra protein (extra means more than the amount needed for repair work) than you can on a diet containing exactly the same number of calories but less protein.

MARY HAWORTH
Dear Mary Haworth: We have been married almost a year and had known each other for three years previously. During this time Ray's widowed mother and I were the best of friends — until the day of the wedding.

Not wanting a big wedding, we were married in the pastor's study, with just our parents and two close friends present. After the ceremony, Mrs. X wishes us "the very best" and said to call her as soon as we got back from the honeymoon.

Two or three days after our return, we telephoned to ask if she would come to supper the following week. When she declined, I asked her to suggest a date but she replied that she would be very busy for the next month.

COLD SHOULDER
I telephoned her early the following week, just to talk — but she said she was very busy, with no time to talk. A few days later I saw her in the supermarket and she was ignored. Then Ray and I made two more telephone calls and got a quick brush-off. To this day she won't talk to either of us.

On Christmas eve she was "busy" when we telephoned to wish her a merry Christmas; and she declined our invitation for New Year's day. When we told her our baby is due in June, her only comment was an offhand "Oh!"

I miss her friendship very much — and I am sure Ray must miss the happy carefree mother he once had. Where have we gone wrong? And what can we do to make her the woman she once was? We are at our wits' end. Should we give up and move or less forget her? Or keep on trying? Ray is her only son, D.G.

MOTHER OUTRAGED
Dear D.G.: In your letter, (here condensed) you say Mrs. X "seemed very happy for us when the marriage was broached. Also she gave you a beautiful supper (party)" the night before the ceremony. On the wedding day she wished you "the very best" and asked you to call her directly you got back from the honeymoon.

As to what went wrong thereafter, I gather you made her frigidly furious when you failed to call her first thing on returning home from the honeymoon. Evidently she was on the alert for a spontaneous reunion at the earliest possible moment — where, as you took your own good time (from her view) about checking in. You delayed two or three days, you say, before telephoning to ask her to supper the following week.

FELT REBUFFED
As Ray is her only son, and you and she were the best of friends (before you became her daughter-in-law) and she had evinced great cordiality towards

MARY HAWORTH
Dear Mary Haworth: We have been married almost a year and had known each other for three years previously. During this time Ray's widowed mother and I were the best of friends — until the day of the wedding.

Not wanting a big wedding, we were married in the pastor's study, with just our parents and two close friends present. After the ceremony, Mrs. X wishes us "the very best" and said to call her as soon as we got back from the honeymoon.