

Autumn Styles Go For Glamor With Big "G"

NEW YORK Oct. — (AP) — New York custom designers showings of the last few weeks have stressed heavily the theme of feminine allure, with maximum exposure and klieg light glitter.

Lille Dache, exponent of glamor with a capital "G", announces the inspiration of her collection as the age of chivalry, when strong men went marching off to war, subsisting on memories of the languishing women they left behind—women attired, mind you, not in tailored suits and sensible shoes, but in filmy floating draperies revealing more than they concealed.

Such is the theme of the upper-crust designers, and such, consequently, will be the theme of the mass-production boys and girls as soon as copies can get into the works.

Mme. Dache, who now does head-to-toe costumes in addition to hats, shows cocktail and evening outfits loaded with glitter, up to and including sequin-embroidered stockings.

Her most dramatic hat is a strictly vampirish model with a "portulac" veil, designed to shadow the eyes in wicked mystery.

Eather Dorothy, designer of exotic furs, tops the season with a fur evening gown. This is a strapless affair made of sleek black Broadtail with a ruffle of black lace edging the low décolletage.

Hair Dred To Match

A sensation of her showing is a bright red overcoat of clipped fox, worn by a model with green hair. That's right, green hair. Miss Dorothy thinks hair should be dyed to match or contrast with the costume. She wears her own in a deep navy blue tone.

For evening wear, designers are advocating very little above the waist, but billowing layers of cloth and crinoline below. Some of the skirts shown, on evening gowns would have difficulty getting through an average doorway, and employ hoops, stiffening and padding to achieve the desired girth.

Hattie Carnegie, Sophie and Dior are among the designers favoring these civil war skirts after dark.

Even shoes follow the trend. Shoes for afternoon and evening wear this winter will have jeweled heels, braid embroidery and every kind of frillery in the book, to make women's feet look fragile and expensive.

HOSPITAL STAY FOR OVERWEIGHT

I write frequently about overweight because of its many dangers and disadvantages. Many overweight do not worry about the danger in weakening the blood vessels (heart and brain strokes), but they do worry about the disadvantages — the fact that it spoils their appearance and interferes with their everyday actions.

Every case of overweight can be helped if the individual is willing to cut down on his daily intake of food. This sounds like an easy method of reducing weight, but overweight state that they feel very weak when they do not eat all they want at mealtime.

Where there is no underactivity of any of the glands of the body and the overweight cannot refrain from eating a full meal, to reduce the patient's desire for food. Perhaps the most popular drug for reducing the appetite and thus the weight is amphetamine or its derivatives or close relations benzedrine sulfate and dexedrine sulfate. These drugs not only cut down the desire for food but have a bracing or lifting effect so that there is not the usual weak feeling.

Overweight is now considered such an important ailment or disease that the Mayo Foundation and Mayo Clinic have patients referred to them for treatment. Even moderate overweight in the latter half of life increases the chances of developing such degenerative diseases as diabetes, cancer and heart disease. Because in hospital doctors and nurses have a better chance of watching and talking to these overweight, they rarely find it necessary to use amphetamine or its derivatives in reducing weight.

A patient willing to enter hospital just for reduction of weight is taking the matter seriously and will follow directions faithfully. Also, he or she will not likely be Continued on page 11

How Do You Do

After the wedding ceremony the kindly old minister eyed the nervous bridegroom sympathetically, and remarked, "Well, my friend, here's your lawfully wedded wife." The young man grew red in the face, and shuffled his feet as he turned to his bride and mumbled, "Pleased to meet you."

the rest of the parade. They are shown with sequin cloaks or embroidered all over in splangles of various hues, polka-dot fashion. It looks like a glitter season.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. If a bride is going on a honeymoon trip that is to last several weeks, how soon should she write her notes of acknowledgement for her gifts?

A. These really should be written as each is received, and before she leaves—but never later than a week after she leaves.

Q. When a man and a woman are eating together in some public place and another man stops at their table to speak with them for a moment, should both rise?

A. The man should rise, but the woman remains seated.

Q. Does it show good form to extend any and all kinds of invitations over the telephone?

A. One may use the telephone for almost any invitation with the exception of formal ones.

Beta Sigma Phi Sponsors Fall Fashion Benefit Show

To raise funds for local charity appeals the members of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority produced their first fall preview of "Around The Clock With Fashion" last afternoon and evening at Prince of Wales Auditorium. Showing the newest additions to Miss Cronin's autumn collections of "Gloria" fashions the show presented twelve wardrobes which would outfit a teen-ager, business girl, or housewife from morning to mid-night.

Opening the show the president of Alpha Chapter, Mrs. L. J. McLellan told how the sorority funds had helped to bring happiness to children at the Prince Edward Island Infirmary on special occasions throughout the year, and how they had found the need of a wheelchair there and donated one. Proceeds in this show, she said, would be used to help in similar ways to support worthwhile appeals made in Charlottetown.

Fashion Trend

Unmistakably 1950 are the fashions that The Gloria displayed in both shows. In dresses it's the slim, straight, somewhat shorter silhouette that is the most important trend, and there are enough variations on this theme to make it a wearable one for most figure types in Charlottetown.

Speaking of that trend to shorter skirts, here is a comforting note: While skirts are definitely shorter, the highly-stylized length is from 14 to 15 inches from the ground, fashion authorities agree that the well-dressed woman will still be quite up-to-the-minute wearing the length of skirt she feels to be the most becoming to her height and figure.

Departures from the svelte sheath that outlines the form with richness of fabric include tunics, made with apron overskirts or free-swinging panels that modify the too severe line.

Pleats from shoulder to hemline, or godets that break at the knee to soften the pencil silhouette provide a compromise on the basic theme.

The black dress, which most fashion authorities acknowledge to be the key garment in the well-dressed woman's wardrobe is modeled in fine rayon crepe, chosen because it handles easily and provides an excellent foil for jewels or the "touch of velvet" that sparks this season.

That "velvet" is rayon this year. Soft and lush, it's fashion's favorite. You will see it in exciting shades in the perkiest of hats to complement that basic black dress. Rayon velvet is so reasonably priced that the wise woman of fashion is likely to have at least two velvet hats to match or contrast with the costume of the day.

Svelte Suits

The most satisfying experience of the new fashion season has been looking at the suit styles the manufacturers have for you. They are beautiful.

Every line has been planned to give a woman's figure the highest degree of svelte flattery. "That velvet" is rayon this year. Soft and lush, it's fashion's favorite. You will see it in exciting shades in the perkiest of hats to complement that basic black dress.

Single and double-breasted styles are both shown with the latter looking newer. Pockets, too, are an important part of the new suits, having trimming and an unusual cut to many of them.

Costume Accent

All Miss Cronin's fashions are complemented by the finest of jeweled pins and clips from Wellner's and Taylor's stores. And you don't have to be either a crown princess or "the world's richest maharajah" to wear these matched simulated pearl and rhinestone sets from Charlotte-

The little hat that isn't there... the callots, the skull caps that passed unnoticed on the back of your head have been replaced by important hats that deserve a second look and will certainly get it. There is a subtle but certain trend toward attention-getting hats. Crowns are higher trimmings are on their way back, as evidenced by the wide use of feathers and the fascinating new feather effects.

Important Makeup

As color harmony of make-up and hat is more important this fall, the fashion-minded were warned to watch their lipstick and nail polish by Miss Mabel McCaw, National representative of the Richard Hudnut Co. Ltd., who came especially from Toronto to prepare the stage make-up for the mannequins. In her talk "Timely Tips on Fashion and Make-up" she suggested ways to highlight your face and get the most flattery from your ensemble.

Accessories Casual

As in previous seasons, the staple handbag shades are black, navy and the brown color range. Turf and light tans are calf colors for casual wear. A winny, clear-red is slated for fall handbag wear. Look for steel grey leathers and some grey suedes. Vintage colors, too, will be seen in many handbag collections.

Calf leads the handbag line-up for afternoon and casual wear... the dressy suede bag is the all-occasion bag, and the small clutch bag in velvets, satin or faille are bright notes for evening occasions.

With dresses, coats and suits wearing an easy casual air for Fall, the handbag industry has cued its new presentations with the same easy-going look.

Large squares and short neck-a-chiefs are emphasized in the new fall accessory collections. You'll see large squares — measuring to 40" ... and the 12" muffler-type scarves to lead versatile lives.

There were clever ways to twist them about your waist and throat. Shown especially in the smart fashion lesson in accessories changes given by Miss Dorothy Hughes. Scarves are shown in pure silk crepe, satin twills, worsted jersey, woven stripe taffeta, pure silk satins and other fine fabrics.

The mannequins during the show were: Mrs. J. M. Blake, Miss Velma Carmody, Miss Joanna Macdonald, Mrs. R. F. Norman, Miss Noreen MacPherson, Miss Frances Wilson, Miss Leah Macdonald, Miss Eleanor Mary Duffy, Mrs. S. Lancaster, Miss Helen Macdonald, Miss Mary E. MacKenzie, Mrs. G. M. Chandler, Miss Dorothy Hughes. While the commentator was Mrs. K. S. Rogers, Director of the Alpha Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, Miss Allison MacRae was pianist for the models and Miss Audrey Gillis was soloist during the evening finale at the close of the show.

Jewelry

Wash jewelry in warm soap and water. If it is very dirty, rub a little soap onto a soft brush and scrub gently. Amber good cleanser is a teaspoon of ammonia in a teaspoon of warm water. In either case, rinse the jewelry in cold clear water and polish with a chamolis.

Rinse

A vinegar rinse following the shampoo is prepared with four tablespoonfuls of vinegar in one quart of lukewarm water. A lemon rinse is made in one quart of clear warm water.

For Friday, October 6

AN exceptionally lively and strenuous day with all affairs moving along at high stress and tension. All plans and constructive efforts aggressively thought out and instinctively pushed to desired goals should be prolific of satisfactory results. Mind and energy should be keyed to high purpose, with shrewd insight as well as sound strategies well formulated. Push ahead with vim, confidence as well as sound tactics.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, have excellent opportunities for forging ahead, with energy, sound plans and aggressive tactics. These are sustained by well-organized strategies, astute and shrewd. While adhering strictly to sound principles, it is probable that the mentality may be keyed to sane ideals as well as emotions and feelings, with undertones of the novel or original. Exceptional insight may be carried to pleasant and practical crisis, illusions being translated into reality.

A child born on this day, while capable of high ideals and sound principles is also practical, aggressive and far-seeing. Dreams may come true in a very realistic manner.
