Bounced by Bismarck

THE REICHSTAG DISSOLVED FOR LACK OF OBEDIENCE.

The excitement in Berlin on the night of the 14th inst., knew no bounds. The streets were filled with knots of people discussing the question of the hour, and Berliners were warmly praising Prince Bismarck. The Liberals seem to admit that the play is played out, but they approve the action of the late Reichstag, which by a majority of 32 (186 to 154), declined to be bulldozed, and was in consequence sent about its business.

THE KAISER'S MESSAGE.

Prince Bismarck had previously polled the Reichstag, and knew what the result would be. Scarcely had the result been announced and the motions on the bill begun when the chancellor arose, with eyes of steel and his mustache bristling. Waving a document such as if it were a pistol he said, in a disparaging voice:—

"I have to communicate a message from the Kaiser." Then he read the dissolution decree.

"Gut!"
"We, William, by the grace of God Emperor of Germany and King of Prussia, do order:—"

So began the historic document which Prince Bismarck read to the refractory parliament house. The crowded boxes were filled with eager faces.

HOCH! HOCH! HOCH!

It was a dramatic scene. The members made no demonstration, except when the president, as he was leaving the chair, called for three hochs for the Kaiser. Then every throat, radical or otherwise, opened wilingly.

A LAISUS LINGUE.

Von Moltke stood at the foot of the steps below the president. When the voting began, by a mistake he at first cried "Ja!" with the opposition, but, hurriedly correcting himself, uttered an emphatic "Nein!"

The scene after the dissolution was most exciting. Prince Bismarck was frantically cheered as he drove away.

BLUFFED IN VAIN.

So, after all, Bismarck once more failed to bluff the imperial parliament. There proved to be a union of the groups of the central and anti-imperialist main parties, with a few stragglers from the Imperial party against him. With the Imperialists, however, were the national liberals. Against Bismarck were all the Poles—his soft words for the Czar forced that—the social democrats, the protesters from Denmark, and Alsace-Lorraine, the particularists, the Hanoverian Guelphs, the old reactionists, the Fortschrittspartei, or German liberals, and the great central party.

The elections take place on February 21. The elective struggles during the coming four weeks may be watched with interest, and Von Moltke's predictions:—"Reject the seven year bill and there will be war" rises in everybody's thoughts.

Inebriety by Contagion.

Dr. T. D. Crothers has reprinted from "The Alienist and Neurologist" an interesting paper entitled "Certain Hereditary and Psychological Phenomena in Inebriety." The purport of it is to illustrate the author's novel view that intoxication may be imparted by contagion when hereditary defects predispose the system to such influences. That is to say, a perfectly sober man, brought in contact with drunken men, may become drunk himself to all practical intents, or an equally sober person whose parents, one or both, were hard drinkers, may, when exposed to some sudden mental shock, apparently become fully intoxicated. Dr. Crothers supports this remarkable hypothesis by a number of specific cases, all of which are striking. The doctor cites the case of a society man who was very abstemious. "For several years it was noticed that after an hour or more spent in the company of men who had been drinking he would take on their condition, and, like them, become intoxicated. He would be with them hilarious or stupid, and use only coffee moderately, while the others drank wine. Sometimes these states would go so far as to make him stupid and unable to walk, and he would need the assistance of a guide and a carriage to get home. The next morning he would have a headache."

Another case is that of a "wealthy farmer and strong temperance man" who was sent to Congress. "He formed a strong attachment for a hard drinking man in the same body, and after being in his company for a few hours he would walk and talk like him."

A Peculiar Accident.

An accident occurred at Carleton, N. B., on the 17th inst., which will probably result in the loss of one man's life at least. The schooner Panope was loading deals at Hayford & Stetson's mill, and both wings of the vessel were full. When the tide went out the schooner heeled over on her side and 40,000 feet of deals slid off of one wing, crushing workman Peterson and also catching his companion, Sewall. Neither of the men could be seen, when a large gang of men began to make desperate efforts to free their dead or dying companions. After working an hour Peterson was seen encased and crushed in a space not eight by ten inches in dimension. He was unable to speak and was breathing a little when extricated. It was found that both hips, two ribs and the jaw bone were broken, besides internal injuries. Sewall was badly injured about the legs and body. Peterson is alive yet. He is a married man with a family.

An ex-bank cashier from Portland, Maine, has been arrested in Winnipeg and held for extradition on the charge of defrauding the bank of $70,000.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The School Matter.

Sir,—In your issue of the 14th inst., I notice a communication signed "Ploughboy," in which the writer makes an unwarrantable attack on the teacher at Montague West. "Ploughboy" should know more about that on which he attempts to enlighten the public before he makes unfounded insinuations. He should look over the School Reports and make himself aware of the fact that Lower Montague and Montague West are very different school districts.

I have not at any time criticised Mr. Cain's manner of inspecting schools, over an assumed name. Neither has Mr. Cain (to my knowledge) complained of the Montague West school being in an "unsatisfactory condition." Trusting that "Ploughboy" will explain or apologize; and thanking you, Mr. Editor for space in your valuable paper.
I am,
Yours respectfully,
JAMES DALY,
Teacher.

Montague West, Jan. 18, 1887.

A Horrible Accident.

A NEW BRUNSWICK MAN FALLS INTO THE HOPPER OF A BARK MILL, AND A PORTION OF HIS BODY IS LITERALLY GROUND UP.

Fred. Leveale, employed on the night shift in the bark mill at Brockton, Me., went to his work as usual on the night of the 12th, and proceeded to bring his lantern up some of the hoppers. This being done, he stepped backward, and the bark being piled around even with the top of the hoppers, fell in with both feet. Martin Butler, who was working with him, was the only one on the scene and ran immediately to the engine room and shut off the steam, and then fainted with excitement and terror.

The engineer blew the whistle, and soon Mr. Peterson, the boss, and Mr. Libby, the agent, with several others, came to his assistance, but they found the unfortunate man just expiring. He could not have lived even 15 or 20 minutes after he fell in. When they entered the mill a shocking sight presented itself to their gaze. Leveale was lying in the hopper, covered with blood, both legs terribly broken, and man led to the waist, with his entrails out where the breaker had broken through his body.

He was taken out, with the exception of one foot which was ground up.
Deceased was about fifty years of age, and leaves a widow and five children. He had only moved a short time ago from Bloomfield Ridge, New Brunswick.

What True Merit Will Do.

The unprecedented sale of Bosche's German Syrup within a few years has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected, and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when these diseases make their appearance, will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price 75 cents, large bottles.

Trade Depression.

The indications are very few in England that the depression in trade has yet reached its lowest level. The official organ of the Kent and Sussex Labourers' Union observes that wages are being reduced until in the rural districts people are brought to the verge of starvation, and workhouses are filled to overflowing with persons whose only offence is their failing to find employment. It is no wonder that philanthropists are anxious to relieve the pressure by aiding emigration.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure

is not only very palatable, but the remedial power of these valuable specifics is greatly increased, and as a remedy for consumption, scrofula, emaciation, or where there is loss of flesh and nerve power, it is remarkable in its results. Take no other.

George Semon, of Charlotte, Mich., was poor and shiftless and Mrs. Semon was thrifty. She became disgusted with George's lack of enterprise, sued for a divorce and after much trouble secured it a few days ago. Three days later Semon received notice that an aunt had died in France, leaving him $50,000. George says he can get along all right now, and the late Mrs. Semon is the maddest woman in Michigan.

A French civil engineer has presented to the Academy of Sciences the details of a scheme for a gigantic canal, through Syria and Persia, uniting the waters of the Mediterranean with the Persian Gulf and shortening the route from Europe to Asia by three days. It will occur to most people that the French people could do well to complete the Panama canal before undertaking another huge task of a similar nature.

The Montreal snowshoers have brought back from New York a valuable opinion regarding Louis Riel. They were given a reception at the French-Canadian church, it seems, and amongst those present to welcome them was Gabriel Dumont. Dumont conversed freely with the visitors, and among other things stated distinctly that Riel was perfectly sane, and quite responsible for his acts in the North-West.

Premature decline of power in either sex, however induced, is speedily and permanently cured. Book for 10 cts in stamps. World's Dispensary Medical Association, 200 Main St., Boston, N. Y.
