

Quackery is always discovering remedies which will act upon the germs of disease directly and kill them. But no discovery has ever yet been approved by doctors which will cure consumption that way. Germs can only be killed by making the body strong enough to overcome them, and the early use of such a remedy as Scott's Emulsion is one of the helps. In the daily warfare man keeps up, he wins best, who is provided with the needed strength, such as Scott's Emulsion supplies.

A VISIT TO SCOTLAND.

Laurence Hutton's Recollections of His First Trip to That Country.

Laurence Hutton's recollections of his boyhood are in St. Nicholas under the title of "A Boy I Knew." His earliest visit to Scotland was made when he was but a few years of age and long before he had assumed the dignity of trousers or had been sent to school. His father had gone to the old home at St. Andrews hurriedly, upon the receipt of the news of the serious illness of the boy's grandmother, who died before they reached her. Naturally the boy has little recollection of that sad month of December, spent in his grandmother's house, except that it was sad. The weather was cold and wet; the house, even under ordinary circumstances, could not have been a very cheerful one for a youngster who had no companions of his own age. It looked out upon the German ocean—which at that time of the year was always in a rage, or in the sulks, and the house was called Peep o' Day, because it received the very first rays of the sun as he rose upon the British Isles.

The boy's chief amusement was the feeding of flour scones and oatcakes to an old goat that lived in the neighborhood and the daily walks with his grandfather, who seemed to find some little comfort and entertainment in his grandson's childish prattle. He was then almost the only grandchild, and the old man was very proud of his manner and appearance, and particularly amused at certain girlish efforts on the boy's part to adapt his own short legs to the strides of his grandfather's long ones.

After they had interviewed the goat, and had watched the wrecks with which the wild shore was strewn, and had inspected the castle in ruins and the ruins of the cathedral the boy would gaze upon his grandmother's new made grave, and his own name in full—a common name in the family—upon the family tomb in the old kirkyard—all of which must have been very cheering to the boy, although he could not read it for himself.

And then—which was better—they would stand hand in hand for a time in front of a candy shop window, in which was displayed a little regiment of lead soldiers marching in double file toward an imposing and unconquerable local fortress on the heights of barley sugar. Of this spectacle they never tired, and they used to discuss how the boy would arrange them if they belonged to him, with a sneaking hope on the boy's part that some day they were to be his very own.

At the urgent request of the grandfather the American contingent remained in St. Andrews until the end of the year, and the boy still remembers vividly, and he will never forget, the dismal failure of "Auld Lang Syne" as sung by the family with clasped hands as the clock struck and the new year began. He sat up for the occasion, or rather was waked up for the occasion, and of all that family group he has been, for a decade or more, the only survivor. The mother of the house was but lately dead, the eldest son and his son were going the next day to the other side of the world, and every voice broke before the familiar verse came to an end.

The Indian Way of Driving.

Commenting on the attempt made by the government in 1867 to civilize the prairie Indians by supplying them with the garb and food of the white man, Colonel Bob Dodge of Dodge City says: "The authorities sent the Indians thousands of sacks of flour, pantaloons in abundance and a big lot of stiff rimmed hats bound around the edge with tin or German silver to hold the rim in shape. They also sent them a few light running ambulances. The savages, to show their appreciation of these magnificent gifts from the 'great father,' threw the flour on the prairie in order to get the sacks for breechcloths. They cut out the seats of the pantaloons, and they cut the crown off the hats and used them as playthings, shying them in the air, like a white boy does a flat stone, to see them sail away.

"The ambulances they were proud of. The government neglected to send any harness with them, so the Indians manufactured their own. They did not understand anything about lines, and instead they drove with a quirt, or short whip. When the near horse would go too much 'gee,' they whipped up the off horse, and when he would go too much 'haw' they pounded away at the near horse again, and so vice versa all the time. This unique manner of driving kept the poor animals in a dead run most of the time.

"I remember taking a ride with Little Raven, chief of the Arapahoes. At first we started off gently, but his ponies did not go straight, so he kept tapping them, now the off horse, then the near, until finally he got them on a rapid gallop, and I thought at one time my head would surely pop up through the roof of the ambulance. The country was very level, fortunately, or I don't know what would have been the outcome."—Kansas City Journal.

How He Was Fooled.

"This"—The sick man paused for breath. A spasm of pain passed over his countenance, and an attendant hastened to administer a stimulant.

"—is a dead!"—At the dread word the speaker again hesitated. He was soon to know what that terrible word, so fraught with misery to the world, means and what it is. But he continued:—"give away."

He referred to the will he had just signed, and which bequeathed $1,000,000 to various relatives.

Future events showed that the dying man did not speak the truth. The lawyer, scrupled over the will, and when it was finally settled the attorneys had the dough. It was really a steal.—New York Journal.

Mr. Goslington's Youngster.
"The other night when your youngster called," said Mr. Goslington, "his mother was busy about something, and it was a minute or two before she went to him, and when she got there he had forgotten what he called her for. Sometimes after calling he goes to sleep again before she can get to him, prompt as she is. Such calls some might think exasperating, but rather are they something to be grateful for. It is easier to answer them than the many he makes when he neither forgets nor goes to sleep."—New York Sun.

GRAVEL IN THE BLADDER.

Used Eighteen Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills—One Stone Dissolved and Removed. Known of Others Cured.

Shelburne, March 22 (Special).—Mr. John Medill, known locally as well as far and near as a physical giant, and gloriing in his strength, came to be a great sufferer and tells of his cure as follows: "I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills or anything else as I find them. If a medicine cures me and it I think it will cure others, why not say so? "It is true I have been suffering for some time with bladder trouble, and learning of a cure made in a similar case by Dodd's Kidney Pills, I commenced using them." "In all I have used eighteen boxes and they have dissolved the stone and entirely cured me of any sign of such difficulty. I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the highest terms of praise, for I know of many persons who have been cured by them."

The Minnesota Legislature has passed a bill making telegraph companies liable for damages to feelings caused by their failure to deliver messages.

A Punny and Freeful Baby.
This is now quite unnecessary! Like any other, you may have your baby fat, laughing and happy if you give it Scott's Emulsion. Babies take it like cream.

The exports of Canada for the eight months from July 1st to March 1st, show an increase of $6,000,000 over the same period in the previous year. The figures are: 1896, $87,916,000; 1897, $93,912,000.

SKIN DISEASES!

One Remedy Which has Never Failed—Tried and Tested Ointment.

Because other alleged remedies for piles, scrofula, eczematous eruptions, scald head, chafing, black heads, salt rheum and skin diseases generally have proved useless, don't condemn Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never been known to fail. For instance, Nelson Simmons, Meyersburg, Ont., writes:

"I used Dr. Chase's Ointment for Itching Piles, and can recommend it highly. Since using it I have had perfect freedom from the disease." Peter Vanallen, L'Amable, Que., had the eczema for three years. He tried three doctors, but received no benefit. One box of Dr. Chase's Ointment and three boxes of Dr. Chase's Pills cured him completely. Large scales covered his legs and body, but the Ointment soon removed them. He will swear to these facts.

Chase's Ointment may be had from any dealer or from the manufacturers, Edmunds, Bates & Co., 45 Lombard street, Toronto. Price 60 cents.

Mother's greatest remedy for coughs, colds, bronchial and lung affections is Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. The medicinal taste is wholly disguised making it pleasant to take. Large bottle 25 cents.

To Grow Teeth.

A Moscow dentist has solved the problem of supplying the human mouth with false teeth which will grow into the gums as firmly as natural ones. Dr. Zauensky has performed several successful operations on dogs as well as human beings. The teeth are made of gutta percha, porcelain or metal, as the case may be.

At the root of the false tooth holes are made. Holes are also made upward into the jaw. The tooth is then placed in the cavity. In a short time a soft, granulated growth finds its way from the patient's jaw into the holes in the tooth. This growth gradually hardens and holds the tooth in position.

It is stated that it does not matter whether the cavity in which the tooth is to be placed is one from which a natural tooth has been recently drawn or whether it has been healed for some years.—Moscow Letter.

The volcano near Colima, Mexico, is in a state of active eruption, and the crops in the valley at the foot of the mountain have been destroyed. No lives have been lost.

The cyclone which struck South Georgia on Monday has left a trail of death and disaster which grows worse as time passes. The valley of Chatahoochee is almost swept clean. The total deaths reported are nineteen, and at least two hundred are more or less hurt.

They Do Not Despair.

An utter loss of hope is not characteristic of Consumptives, though no other form of disease is so fatal, unless its progress is arrested by the use of Scott's Emulsion, which is Cod Liver Oil made as palatable as cream.

The National Zeitung, an inspired organ, publishes an article on the Transvaal situation, in which it says that in view of the fact that Great Britain is sending reinforcements of troops to South Africa, Germany will watch developments with the closest interest.

"I bought a box of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure at the drug store of Mr. Boyle here. I am thankful to say it has proved most effective. I have also tried your Kidney Liver Pills and found them excellent."—Henry R. Nicholls, London.

IT IS THE FACT, Think as You Please
It is not generally known, but it is a fact readily proven by the investigations of science, that the real danger from every known ailment of mankind is caused by inflammation; cure the inflammation and you have conquered the disease in each case. Inflammation is manifested outwardly by redness, swelling and heat; inwardly by congestion of the blood vessels and growth of unsound tissue, causing pain and disease.
External inflammation accompanies bruises, bites, cuts, stings, burns, scalds, chaps, cracks, strains, sprains, fractures, etc., and is the chief danger therefrom. Internal inflammation frequently causes outward swellings; as instances familiar to all we mention pimples, tooth-ache, stiff joints and rheumatism. Yet the great majority of internal inflammations make no outside show, for which reason they are often more dangerous than the external forms.

INFLAMMATION

Causes Every Known Disease!

Inflammation of the nervous system embraces the brain, spine, bones and muscles. The breathing organs have many forms of inflammation; such as colds, coughs, pleurisy, bronchitis, etc. The organs of digestion have a multitude of inflammatory troubles. The vital organs form one complete plan mutually dependent; therefore inflammation anywhere is felt more or less everywhere, and impairs the health. The late Dr. A. Johnson, an old fashioned Family Physician, originated JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT, in 1810, to relieve pain and cure every form of inflammation. It is today the Universal Household Remedy.

Send us at once your name and address, and we will send you free, our New Illustrated Book, "TREATMENT FOR DISEASES," caused by inflammation. I. P. JOHNSON & Co., Boston, Mass.
