

MR. AND MRS. DONALD GORDON

Wed At Kingston United Couple Reside In Ontario

The marriage of Gloria Jean, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Willis, North River, and Donald Percy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon, Appin Road, was solemnized recently at Kingston United Church.

Rev. Isaac Walls, of Cornwall United Church officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Stanley Newman was organist and accompanied Mrs. Sterling MacLeod who sang "The Wedding Prayer" prior to the ceremony and "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white velvet and lace sheath dress with matching coronet holding her bouffant veil. Complementing this ensemble was a floor length train, and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Attendants were Nadell MacFayden, Scarborough and Nora Proud, Kensington. They wore matching green velvet gowns with matching jackets and headresses, and both carried white carnations.

Twin flower girls were Donelda and Darlene Docherty, cousins of the bride, who wore full skirted dresses of red velvet and carried baskets of white mums. Hubert Willis, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer, and he was attired in grey flannels and a red jacket.

Grant Edwards, friend of the groom was best man and Allan Willis and Dale Hicks ushered the guests to the pews.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Willis, wore a cranberry wool suit with hat to match and black accessories.

The groom's mother chose a teal blue crepe dress with black accessories.

A reception for 80 guests was held at the Queen Hotel. Willard Proud was master of ceremonies and Mr. Walls proposed the toast to the bride, which was responded to by the groom. A toast to the bridesmaids was made by Mr. Hicks to which Grant Edwards replied. Alaine Willis circulated the guest book.

For travelling, the bride wore a red woaden dress, and a mink jacket. A black hat completed her ensemble.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Willis and family, Scarborough, Mrs. John Holt, Moncton, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hicks, Port Elgin, Grant Edwards, Glydon Green and John MacPhee of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon will reside in Sudbury, Ontario, where they are both employed.

IDA BAILEY ALLEN

Quickly-Cooked Barley Takes Barely Any Time

IN the old days, fine cooks served duck and barley casserole together; no potato was needed in the menu.

With the new quick-cooking barley, the casserole is ready to eat in less than an hour.

Measurements level; recipes for 6

OLD-FASHIONED BARLEY CASSEROLE

1 c. quick-cooking barley
2 chicken bouillon cubes
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 c. boiling water
6 slices bacon
1/2 c. chopped onion
1 tsp. bacon fat
1/4 tsp. each ground sage and thyme
1/4 tsp. pepper

Add barley, bouillon cubes and salt to boiling water. Reduce heat; simmer 10 to 12 min.; stir occasionally. Do not drain. Pan-fry bacon in large skillet; drain and crumble. Lightly brown onion in bacon fat.

Combine barley, bacon and remaining ingredients in unoleed 1 1/2 qt. casserole.

Bake uncovered in mod. oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 min. Serve hot.

SUNDAY DINNER

Cups of Consomme
Frozen Chives Garnish
Roast Duck
Cherry Tomato Garnish
Old-Fashioned Barley Casserole
Brussels Sprouts
Canned Pears in Orange-Gel with Honeyed Sour Cream
Coffee or Tea Milk

TOMORROW'S DINNER

Red and White Cabbage-and-Black Olive Saladettes
Tuna Fillets of Flounder

Baked Crumbed Canned Tomato, Crisp Potato, Chips
Lemon Pie
Coffee or Tea Milk

TUNA FILLETS OF FLOUNDER

(Based on caper sauce)
Caper Sauce
1-3 c. butter or margarine
1-3 c. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. paprika
2 c. milk
1/4 c. fine-chopped peeled onion
1 tsp. chopped parsley
1 tsp. grated lemon rind
1 tsp. fresh lemon juice
2 tsp. drained capers

Remaining Ingredients
2 lb. fillet of flounder (fresh, or frozen and thawed)
1 (7/8 oz.) can flaked tuna, drained
1/2 c. shredded Cheddar cheese
Caper sauce: Melt butter in saucepan. Stir in flour, salt and paprika. When smooth, gradually stir in milk. Stir-cook 3 min. or until thickened. Mix in onion, parsley, lemon rind and lemon juice. Mix thoroughly. Remove from heat. Add capers; cool.

To complete: Place fish fillets on sheet of aluminum foil. Spoon 2 tsp. tuna on each fillet, then starting at narrow end roll up snug, keeping tuna in center. Fasten with wooden picks.

Place fillet rolls in oiled shallow baking dish. Spoon over caper sauce; dust with cheese. Bake uncovered 20 to 25 min. in mod. oven, 375 degrees F.

TRICK OF THE CHEF

Always crush lemon or orange rind after grating to release flavoring oils.

Gordon - Ferguson Vows Are Solemnized At Tryon

A pretty wedding was solemnized at Tryon United Baptist Church, Tryon, P.E.I., when Barbara Gail, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Gordon, Appin Road, was united in marriage to George Lyman Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Victor Ferguson of Hampton.

Rev. E.G. Brittain performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of taffeta faille, styled with sweetheart neckline, a long front panel of sequins and pearls. Her tiered, shoulder length veil was held in place by a pearl beaded and she carried a cascade of white roses.

The bride's only attendant was Marjorie Ferguson, who wore a street length dress of turquoise peau de soie, with matching shoes and headress. Her bouquet was of tinted carnations.

The groom was attended by his brother, Wendell, and Joseph Ferguson and Donald Moore ushered the guests to pews marked with white satin bows.

Joanne Wood accompanied Mrs. Eric MacEachern as she sang "O Perfect Love" prior to the ceremony and "O Lord Of All Creation" during the signing of the register.

Mrs. Gordon chose for her daughter's wedding a woaden dress of laurel pink, with matching hat, and her corsage was of tinted carnations. Mrs. Ferguson wore a two-piece dress in shades of lilac, and white accessories.

Among the guests was Mrs. Donald Gordon, grandmother of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church hall, served by the Baptist Ladies' Guild. The bride's table was centered with lighted lamps, and a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Rev. Brittain proposed a toast to the bride, which was responded to by the groom.

For their trip through the Maritimes, the bride wore a jade green wool suit, with matching shoes, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The couple are residing in Hampton.

The January meeting of the Englewood Regional High Home and School Association was held in the school auditorium on Thursday, January 28, 1965. The president, Mrs. Clifford Dawson, presided.

The 1967 National Centennial project was discussed, and it was decided to support the Canadian Association in this effort.

M.F. Hagan, president of the P.E.I. Home and School Association and Guidance Counsellor at the Provincial Vocational Institute, addressed the meeting on "future planning of the individual from a guidance point of view". He defined guidance as a service which is designed to assist a student to understand himself, his educational opportunities, and his responsibilities to society. A question period followed.

The annual meeting of the Kensington Presbyterian Young Women's Guild was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Beastro recently.

The meeting, presided over by the president, Mrs. John Bernard, was attended by 14 members and one guest. Devotions were led by Mrs. Newton MacArthur.

After the regular business the following new officers were nominated by the retiring executive: president, Mrs. Keith Thompson; vice-president, Mrs. Albert Boyle; secretary, Mrs. Ronald Kennedy; treasurer, Mrs. Alan Champion. This slate of officers was accepted by the members.

The new president, Mrs. Keith Thompson, then took the chair and the following committees were appointed: visitation, Mrs. Wallace Thompson and Mrs. George Brander; buying committee, Mrs. Roger Kennedy; birthday, Mrs. James Heffell.

Following the close of the business meeting, interesting slides were shown by Mrs. Roscoe Pendleton on her trip from the East to the West Coast of Canada.

The hostess provided refreshments assisted by Mrs. Keith Thompson and Mrs. Roscoe Pendleton.

Question Period Follows Talk

The January meeting of the Englewood Regional High Home and School Association was held in the school auditorium on Thursday, January 28, 1965. The president, Mrs. Clifford Dawson, presided.

The 1967 National Centennial project was discussed, and it was decided to support the Canadian Association in this effort.

M.F. Hagan, president of the P.E.I. Home and School Association and Guidance Counsellor at the Provincial Vocational Institute, addressed the meeting on "future planning of the individual from a guidance point of view". He defined guidance as a service which is designed to assist a student to understand himself, his educational opportunities, and his responsibilities to society. A question period followed.

Officers Elected At Kensington

The annual meeting of the Kensington Presbyterian Young Women's Guild was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Beastro recently.

The meeting, presided over by the president, Mrs. John Bernard, was attended by 14 members and one guest. Devotions were led by Mrs. Newton MacArthur.

After the regular business the following new officers were nominated by the retiring executive: president, Mrs. Keith Thompson; vice-president, Mrs. Albert Boyle; secretary, Mrs. Ronald Kennedy; treasurer, Mrs. Alan Champion. This slate of officers was accepted by the members.

The new president, Mrs. Keith Thompson, then took the chair and the following committees were appointed: visitation, Mrs. Wallace Thompson and Mrs. George Brander; buying committee, Mrs. Roger Kennedy; birthday, Mrs. James Heffell.

Following the close of the business meeting, interesting slides were shown by Mrs. Roscoe Pendleton on her trip from the East to the West Coast of Canada.

The hostess provided refreshments assisted by Mrs. Keith Thompson and Mrs. Roscoe Pendleton.

Shift Into Fashion

Shift into high fashion gear—see this deeply collared shift in cotton knit, linen, surah, poplin with same or contrast color binding.

Printed Pattern 4524: Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 35-inch fabric.

FIFTY CENTS (50 cents in coins on stamps please) for this pattern. Ontario residents add 1 cent sales tax. Print plainly. SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER.

Send order to: Anne Adams, care of Guardian - Patriot Pattern Dept., 60 Front St. W. Toronto 1, Ont.

SONG FROM DOCKS

The popular song, Limehouse Blues, was inspired by London's tough dockside district, Limehouse.

Women

The Guardian, Charlottetown, Fri., Feb. 5, 1965. 7

HAPPENINGS

Audrey Jenkins, Women's Editor, Phone 4-8506

Myrtle MacGregor, student at the Baptist Bible School, Moncton, spent the past week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart MacGregor, East Baltic.

Noreen Mooney, Boston, Mass. arrived home to attend the funeral of her father, Andrew Joe Mooney, Peake Station.

Alvin MacKenzie, Murray Harbour, was a recent guest of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Grey, Dartmouth, N.S.

O-S Norman Larter has left Alberton to join the Royal Canadian Navy at HMCS Cornwallis.

Mae Bradshaw of Central Bequette left recently for Toronto, Ontario, where she is employed.

Pleasant Gove United Church

AYPA To Hold 20th Conference

Plans for bettering the 1965 AYPA Conference were discussed at the P.E.I. Deaneary Local Council meeting held in St. Mary's Hall, Summerside, recently. As this is to be the 20th anniversary, suggestions and assistance were offered by Barry Champion, chairman of the conference held at Craapud last September.

Gerald Daley opened the meeting with prayers and a scripture lesson. Minutes were read and Ruby MacInnis, missionary projects convener, reported that acknowledgment for the donation to Sunday school by Post and Radio had been received from Dr. F. W. Jelks. The council is requesting AYPA branches to make a further collection for this purpose during the coming Lenten season.

A lengthy discussion was held regarding the fourth annual Deaneary variety concert, and it is expected that plans for this will be finalized at the next meeting.

The executive reported visiting St. John's AYPA branch in Ellerslie and further visits to other branches will be made.

Rev. E.J. Flander closed the meeting with the benediction, after which St. Mary's branch provided refreshments for the group.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Macdonald and a. Robble of Georgetown were recent visitors to New Glasgow, N.S., where they visited relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rogerson, Peakes, returned home last week from Ontario, where they spent the past six weeks visiting with members of their family.

Mrs. James Cookley and young son, Michael of Toronto, are visiting with Mrs. Cookley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Robertson, Munn's Road.

Mrs. George Macdonald, Kingsboro, is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Fred Selwyn, Norwood, Mass.

Mrs. James MacNabbs will be hostess for the February meeting. After the Benediction, refreshments were served by Mrs. Bain.

Improbable as it may seem, the game was introduced in Mexico City a few years ago by Canadians living there. And now it's played on two rinks by 17 teams — a five-team senior league and a 12-team junior circuit.

Having established a beach-head, Mexico's organizers now are anxious to refine their game by learning from the experts. They settled on Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League.

Last fall, Jamie Roberts, secretary of the Mexico City Hockey Association, wrote to try to show my other players as your supposed competitor in the women's arena of life. It is significant, I think, that you cast her off figuratively, co-incidental with your father's death. Until then, your seeming pliability in relation to her may have been motivated principally by your (competitive rival) desire to stand well with your dad. And perhaps his attitude plainly said "Please your mother if you wish to please me."

When death took him out of the picture, it seems that you then turned to your husband, to be the substitute father-figure in your design-for-living. And at the same time you began to upstage your mother in a respectful invidious spirit (quite unconsciously, possibly), as if to say, "Who needs you?"

At the root of this reaction of yours there was a mixture of cruelty, hostility and obscure snob-creeching. I think, as if at long last you had triumphed over your formerly unbeatable rival (your mother), by finding yourself at the center of things; enthroned, as a wife and mother, just as she was being retired to the wings (presumably) with her husband dead and her children grown and dispersed.

Intermingled with this neurotic hostility is an abiding impulse of valid affection for your very human mother, however, which your obscure childish grudge-sense (at missing your mark of being daddy's true love) tries to stamp out.

This, I suggest, is the pitch of your ambivalent wavering (now for, now against) sharing a real give-and-take relationship with your mother.

You've said, in passing, that "I take my friends as they are; nobody is perfect." Why aren't you equally magnanimous with your mother?

My advice is, get first rate analytic help in exploring the full answer to that question and you will be moving in the direction of healing the rift in yourself, that separates you from her.—M.H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Guardian.

Women January meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Bain recently. The devotional period was led by the hostess and roll call was answered by six members.

It was reported that one travelling apron had been completed and another is to be started shortly — the money to go toward repairs in the church.

Newly elected officers for 1965 are: president, Mrs. Frank Watts; secretary, Mrs. Cecill L. Coles; treasurer, Mrs. Allan MacDonald and community friendship, Mrs. John Watts and Mrs. Ernest Coles.

Mrs. James MacNabbs will be hostess for the February meeting. After the Benediction, refreshments were served by Mrs. Bain.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Macdonald and a. Robble of Georgetown were recent visitors to New Glasgow, N.S., where they visited relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rogerson, Peakes, returned home last week from Ontario, where they spent the past six weeks visiting with members of their family.

Mrs. James Cookley and young son, Michael of Toronto, are visiting with Mrs. Cookley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Robertson, Munn's Road.

Mrs. George Macdonald, Kingsboro, is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Fred Selwyn, Norwood, Mass.

MARY HAWORTH

Mother's Managing Ways Resented By Daughter

Dear Mary Haworth: I didn't cut losses from the maternal apron-strings in the teens, as most girls do. I broke away after marriage, and then not consciously.

Early in marriage, at my parents' urging, and because my husband's work then involved travelling, I lived with them during the week (I was pregnant then, too).

I did this for 18 months, until my father died (mother was 47 at the time). Then I stopped doing things her way, stopped consulting her before every move, stopped asking her advice in general. Not that I cut myself off completely; I just started being a grown woman with my own ideas.

I have been sick for the past three months and I realize that my preoccupation with getting on the right basis with mother, or attaining to peace of mind in relation to her, is a result of physical inactivity.

Here are a few samples of her quiet but effective ways of bothering me: She criticizes me to the older children (two have five). When our latest was born, she came to my house, rearranged the baby's room and ordered more baby clothes (charged to my account), without consulting me. As I was counting costs, I didn't appreciate the outlay. Yet had I expressed displeasure, she would have been smacked at my ingratitude.

I realize that her intervention was her way of letting me know that I am not a good organizer; she prides herself on being a good organizer.

Mother was away when I entered the hospital with my current illness, and before her return my husband, at my request, told her that my visitors would be limited as to the time they could stay (my doctor concurred in this).

The day she returned she didn't phone or come to see me; and after she had been home for several hours, I phoned her. Sure enough, she was hurt because she'd been told to limit her visits...

I take my friends as they are. Mother is constantly criticizing hers...At the end of an evening (she and my mother-in-law usually have dinner with us once a week), I am exhausted from listening to her...

My husband advises me to let her do things for us (she is always helping others, who see her as perfect), so she won't feel shut out. But I hate to ask her for any assistance. I would appreciate any suggestions to give me better perspective on my problem...—C.C.

Dear C.C.: Having studied your letter (here condensed) and the clipping which accompanied it (an excerpt from a newspaper series on psychological topics), I get the impression that you resent your mother for several hours. I phoned her. Sure enough, she was hurt because she'd been told to limit her visits...

Canadian Girls Become Bullfighters In Mexico

MONTREAL (CP) — Bullfighting is to Mexicans what hockey is to Canadians and it never seemed likely the twain would meet.

It's true that in recent years a couple of Canadian girls—Elizabeth Bilboa of Toronto and Carolyn Hayward of St. John's, Nfld. — have become bullfighters in Mexico.

But who would have thought the Mexicans, with their subtropical climate, would ever embrace hockey?

At home, Chacho plays for a team called Canadiens although it wears blue uniforms patterned after those of Toronto Maple Leafs.

"We have to practise at five o'clock in the morning because there aren't enough rinks for all the players," he said in precise English. His grand father was a Canadian but his father was born in Mexico.

"He's a good lad," Bowman says. "He has a lot to learn about the rudiments of hockey but if it's possible to judge by his interest and all the questions he asks, he'll learn quickly."

Chacho is eager to "get all the experience I can" before returning home in mid-February. He is seeing all NHL Canadiens home games and travels with the juniors in addition to working out with junior-age teams in the metropolitan area.

On his return home he will meet with his father's association. "I'm going to tell them what I did here and what I learned and then I'm going to try to show my other players

as your supposed competitor in the women's arena of life. It is significant, I think, that you cast her off figuratively, co-incidental with your father's death. Until then, your seeming pliability in relation to her may have been motivated principally by your (competitive rival) desire to stand well with your dad. And perhaps his attitude plainly said "Please your mother if you wish to please me."

When death took him out of the picture, it seems that you then turned to your husband, to be the substitute father-figure in your design-for-living. And at the same time you began to upstage your mother in a respectful invidious spirit (quite unconsciously, possibly), as if to say, "Who needs you?"

At the root of this reaction of yours there was a mixture of cruelty, hostility and obscure snob-creeching. I think, as if at long last you had triumphed over your formerly unbeatable rival (your mother), by finding yourself at the center of things; enthroned, as a wife and mother, just as she was being retired to the wings (presumably) with her husband dead and her children grown and dispersed.

Intermingled with this neurotic hostility is an abiding impulse of valid affection for your very human mother, however, which your obscure childish grudge-sense (at missing your mark of being daddy's true love) tries to stamp out.

This, I suggest, is the pitch of your ambivalent wavering (now for, now against) sharing a real give-and-take relationship with your mother.

You've said, in passing, that "I take my friends as they are; nobody is perfect." Why aren't you equally magnanimous with your mother?

My advice is, get first rate analytic help in exploring the full answer to that question and you will be moving in the direction of healing the rift in yourself, that separates you from her.—M.H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Guardian.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To clean varnished woodwork, wash with a sponge dipped in plain cold tea.

Keep paint brushes pliable by soaking in vinegar. Wash with hot soap suds and dry.

by Alice Brooks

SIZES 32 TO 46!

A "must-have" for Spring! Knit texture-rich cardigan for sport or town wear.

Open cable effect plus slimming ribbing forms front, neckline, cuffs, hem and pockets. Use worsted. Pattern 7875: sizes 32-34; 36-38; 40-42; 44-46.

THIRTY-FIVE cents (coins) for this pattern (no stamps, please) to Alice Brooks, care of Guardian-Patriot Needlecraft Dept., 60 Front St. W. Toronto 1, Ont. Ontario residents add 1 cent sales tax. Print plainly. PATTERN NUMBER, NAME, ADDRESS.

H. BENNETT CARE Insurance Counselling District Supervisor Charlottetown, P.E.I. Sun Life of Canada Phone 4-8817 - 4-5435

Kate-Lift your Furniture with SLIP COVERS and UPHOLSTERY

- Quality Upholstering
- Trained Experts
- Reasonable Prices

Custom Interiors 188 Prince St. Charlottetown

travel bargains

Charlottetown to:

Sackville	$2.20
Moncton	$2.90
Truro	$3.70
Saint John	$4.30
Halifax	$4.80
Antigonish	$5.20
Sydney	$9.50
Quebec	$12.15
Montreal	$13.00
Ottawa	$15.70
Winnipeg	$35.00
Edmonton	$47.00

PRETTY LITTLE MISS

A preview of spring fashions for pretty little girls produced this delightful dress that will be a perfect choice for a birthday party or an ice cream festival.

The frock is of crisp chalky white Swiss organdy over pink cotton. Its bodice is lavishly embroidered in flowers. Lace trims the short sleeves and Peter Pan collar and a satin ribbon sash ties in back with a big bow.

TO THE ELECTORS OF WARD FIVE

It is my intention to nominate for the office of Councillor in Ward Five in the forthcoming Civic Election.

In the five years before I became Councillor only twenty-nine Mercury Vapour Lights were installed, mainly in the business section of the City.

In the five years that I was chairman of the light committee we installed six hundred and twenty-six such lights and still had a surplus of $2085.00 during the past year.

I have always voted for what I thought was beneficial to you and against what I considered to be against your interests.

If you do me the honour of re-electing me I shall continue to do so.

ALLISON GILLIS Allison Gillis.