

S. D. U. Collegians Bow To Garrison Juniors 5-3

S.D.U. hockey team fared better last evening than they had in two previous games but they were still unable to win, losing to the Garrison Juniors 5-3, in a regular and-d fixture at the Sports Arena.

The Collegians held a 3-0 lead early in the second period but then the roof fell in. Pineau of the Juniors tallied three times within four minutes to even the game up and B. Mulligan scored what proved to be the winning goal in the dying seconds of the stanza.

I. St. Julien of Saint Dunstan's, scored the opening marker at the 13:15 marker, and in the first five minutes of play in the middle stanza, J. R. MacDonald and Harris scored for the College but that was as far as the S.D.U. squad got.

In the first goal scored by the Collegians made a grab for a high shot fired by Pineau. He got hold of the puck but it trickled out of his mitt into the net.

Orin Carver, playing coach of the Juniors, scored the only goal in the final frame.

Referees Moe Goodwin and Walter Lawlor called a total of six penalties.

SUMMARY
First Period — I. S. D. U. I. St. Julien (Noonan) 13:15. Penalty — Hache 13:04.

Maglie Agrees To Salary Cut

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Sal Maglie, 41-year-old right-hander, has agreed to a "fair cut" in salary by the St. Louis Cardinals and has sent in his signed contract, calling for a salary of about $28,000 for 1959.

Maglie, formerly with the Giants, Dodgers and Yankees, won his first two starts for the Cardinals last season, then lost his last six decisions.

In other contract business Tuesday the Cardinals announced the receipt of signed pacts from pitchers Lindy McDaniel and Nels Chittum and outfielder Joe Durham.

Sport Comes High In U.K.

LONDON (AP)—An advertisement reading "rod wanted, 100 guineas" would arouse the gravest suspicion in any U.S. detective—TV or otherwise.

In England it merely means that some angler is offered a chance to pay through the nose for a crack at a salmon, in company with others of his kind, on a river where the fishing rights are privately owned.

Since 100 guineas is $294 and the fee quoted for a few weeks of sport is by no means unusual, it is clear that fishing can run into important money in Britain.

So can hunting. Unblinking advertisements offering a season's pheasant-shooting rights are quite common.

Reason for the inflated fees is that there are few game fish rivers and little land open to the public in this tight little island. Also, protecting the fish and birds from poachers can be costly to the owners.

The British Joe who can't afford to spend much on angling is pretty well limited to streams and ponds containing only rough fish, such as carp.

YOUTH SHOT
TORONTO (CP)—Police shot and wounded a juvenile in the leg Monday night and arrested a 16-year-old youth after they saw two youths smash a window in a car and attempt to drive it away.

IT FINALLY CAME TO PASS and in Civic Stadium at that. Those Summerside Aces who have been battering down all opposition this season couldn't do a thing with the reinforced Parkdale Royals Monday night in Summerside, bowing 8-1 before the Buck Whitlock coached team.

It's true that Roper and Orin Carver were a tremendous help to the victors. Frank turned in an exceptionally fine game and Orin fired four rubbers behind Mann. Even at that, on past performances you would not expect the Aces to be so humiliated.

Gone was their scoring power, gone was their third period onslaught. Indeed Aces failed to come through with a single tally in that final twenty minutes and when that happens, it's big news.

Could it be that the Charlottetown boys are finally rounding into shape and from now on the westerners will have their hands full? We think so but are not inclined to go along with any foolish conclusion that Charlottetown teams are due to give Summerside some bad wallpings.

THIS SUMMERSIDE CREW, coached by Windy Steele, is not one that one defeat will discourage. They were certainly entitled to a bad game and undoubtedly they had that on Monday night. They'll be back with a vengeance, make no mistake about that. And Navy Tars, who meet them Thursday night at the Sports Arena, had better be on their guard for an all-out Summerside attack. Aces will want to show the folks back home that they can bounce back from a bad beating and whip one of Charlottetown's best teams right at the Sports Arena.

So there you have it. Summerside has finally fallen and Navy insists they'll rub it in come Thursday night. Before Monday's game folks around the capital were wondering if the Tars could finally stop Aces when they meet in Charlottetown. They never for a moment counted on the Royals beating them to the punch.

If the Tars want to talk the same language as the Royals, then they must make it two misses in a row for the Steeliemen. We're calling the Navy to do just that.

THIS IS MINOR HOCKEY WEEK in Canada and here in Charlottetown the folks who from November to April make an excellent job of looking after the youngsters gave the public a sample Monday night of just what is going on.

At the Sports Arena, it was Minor Hockey night and about 1000 people (not nearly as many as should have turned out) were on hand for the eight games that had been arranged for them. They saw pleasing hockey and in some cases the quality amazed the cash customers.

Every Saturday the Sports Arena hums with activity from 6:45 a.m. till 11 p.m. Nearly 700 youngsters participate in the day's program and with such a turnout you need plenty of volunteer workers. We won't say there are plenty of these workers but those persons who have interested themselves in minor hockey show a zeal that is hard to equal.

Of course the driving force behind it all is Bill Reid, a man whose energy appears unlimited. He's at the Sports Arena when the first game gets away Saturday and is always around when the final siren sounds that night. Bill's interest in this minor hockey program seems to be contagious because those he has associated with him display an interest that is hard to equal.

Yes, Minor Hockey Week is a splendid idea but here in Charlottetown it's not nearly as necessary as in most other places. The folks who guide the minors around these parts have minor hockey week every week for at least five months of the year. With them it's no big show for a night and then things are dropped. Their work goes on all these months with no fanfare whatever. Their work goes on all these months with no fanfare whatever.

A community is fortunate that there are such gentlemen. Their interest in youth certainly should be appreciated not only by the parents of these young hockeyists but by the general public as well. This column commends these coaches and managers for their fine effort.

NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE action goes on one front tonight with New York Rangers entertaining the Chicago Black Hawks. This is a big game for both teams with second place the prize that goes to the winner. On their performances Sunday night, Rangers should be favourites to whip the Chicago club but the way things have been going of late what shouldn't happen has been happening.

Both teams are sharing the runnerup spot at the present time but that will be changed tonight unless the two squads battle to a tie. The Hawks need the win more than the Rangers, however, because the Rangers have a game in hand.

Both teams enter tonight's game with 46 points, only five more than the last-place Toronto Maple Leafs.

Second Period — 2. S. D. U. J. R. MacDonald (Harris) 4:19; 3. S. D. U. Harris (MacDonald) 5:10; 4. Juniors, Pineau (Flanagan) 10:27; 5. Juniors, Pineau (unassisted) 13:41; 6. Juniors, Pineau (O. Carver) 14:35; 7.

Geoffrion's Lost Assist Turns Up

MONTREAL (CP) — Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion's lost assist has turned up and the Montreal Canadiens star officially has his two-point lead over Andy Bathgate of New York Rangers.

The National Hockey League's weekly statistics, compiled Monday and released Tuesday, showed Geoffrion with 37 points and Bathgate with 36. But there was a suspicion something was wrong.

News reports from the Montreal-Detroit Sunday game in Detroit showed Geoffrion with two assists, plus a goal. The telegraphed report from the official scorer showed one assist. The NHL had to accept this.

Quoted Sunday night, the scorer said Geoffrion definitely had two sure enough, when the mailed report arrived Monday it showed the Pomer had two assists. So the NHL made the official change in the big book.

It could be a most important assist, come season's end, if the two players are still fighting for the scoring title. The champ gets $1,000; the runner-up $500.

DOWN THE BACK STRETCH

Reports from the United States Trotting Association head office, Columbus, Ohio, all show that 1958 was the most successful racing season of all time. Purse offered by tracks in membership with the U.S.T.A., which includes all tracks in the Maritimes, were more than $3 million above the figure for the previous year. The total paid out in purses was $27,572,830, which was almost 14 percent more than in 1957.

Attendance totalled almost thirteen million, and 15,906 horses started at least once during the season, which was an all-time high. New registrations of horses passed the 5,000 mark for the first time, with 5,486 receiving registration papers. Eligibility certificates were issued to 6,653 trotters, and 11,200 pacers. A record total of 17,853.

The 494 tracks in membership with the USTA had an active membership of 13,481, which was also a new record. Harness racing has, therefore, good reason to be called "the world's fastest growing sport."

Referring again to 1958 membership, it may be remarked that the membership of District 11 has gone past the twelve hundred mark, and on looking over the 1958 list issued by the USTA we find that Nova Scotia leads in District 11 with 341 members; New Brunswick is next with 268, and Prince Edward Island, a much smaller spot in the geography, comes third with the very respectable total of 178. That makes a grand total of 787.

The other 413 or more which makes up the membership of District 11 are located in Quebec, Ontario, a few in Manitoba, and the remainder in Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. Those members are owners of horses that race on the USTA tracks.

WELL KNOWN HERE
Many Maritimers are acquainted with the leading Quebec driver, Jules Giguere, who has raced quite a number of trotters and pacers that have been good winners in the Maritimes after passing through his hands.

In a recent letter from him, we learn that he is now training 15 head, and is very satisfied with his last acquisition from the Maritimes, Dark Yankee 2:09 1/5, that George Mauger drove to the above record last season. The then three-year-old trotting mare shared honors with Lady Lakeburn for the fastest performance by a trotting mare in the Maritimes.

Jules' headquarters are at the Quebec City race track and he has always been helpful to Maritimers who race there.

One of the grandest horsemen of all time passed away at St. Charles, Illinois, on January 16. Edward J. Baker at the age of 90 years. He was one of the most prominent owners of trotters and pacers in the history of harness racing and the greatest of his possessions in that line was the stallion Greyhound 1:55 4/5, that set up a world's record for trotters that has never been equalled.

He purchased Greyhound as a yearling in 1933; the price was $900, and he was developed and trained by Sep Palin, who handed him through all his racing campaigns. As a three-year-old he won the 1935 Hambletonian, the richest trotting stake, and many other events in that year; he also trotted in 2:00.

In 1937 he lowered his four-year-old record of 1:57 4/5 to 1:56, which erased the former world's trotting record held by Peter Manning 1:56 4/5; and in 1938, he lowered it to an amazing 1:55 4/5. He also set a new mark for trotters on a half-mile track in 1937.
