blame. I can only say that it is apathy such as this which leads to the perpetuation of such conditions as now exist on campus. It has been said that we students are going through discomfort needlessly. To take even a selfish attitude does it not stand to reason that we students will suffer more discomfort as the strike goes on? If the students and the staff lend their support to the strikes it stands to reason that the strike will be over sooner.

To conclude this letter, let me pose a series of questions. Are those people who are getting behind in their classes working at home or in the library? Did those people who are complaining of a minority imposing their will upon the majority vote when they had the chance? Finally, are those people who are saying "who the hell cares" living in a warm house and eating three good meals a day?
