CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. JAV BECKER

QUIZ

You are the dealer, neither side vulnerable. What would you bid with each of the following four hands?

- ♠ 4 ♠ A J 5 4 2 ♠ A K Q J 6 ♠ 7 4
- ♠ K 5 ♠ K 9 4 ♠ K Q 8 2 ♠ A Q 3
- ♠ 5 ♠ A K 8 6 ♠ A 8 7 2 ♠ J 7 4
- ♠ K J 7 ♠ K Q 8 ♠ A J 9 ♠ A J 8 2

1. One heart. Many players tend to bid suits according to the strength rather than their length. This is a violation of sound bidding principles. By far the majority of hands end in a suit contract. Every effort should therefore be made to represent suit length correctly so that the partnership will have the best chance to select its longest suit as trump. To open with a diamond, intending later to bid hearts, is almost bound to mislead partner. He could hardly be blamed for reading the secondary bid of hearts as showing a four-card suit, and the best contract might not be reached. The general rule is to bid first the higher-ranking of two five-card suits, regardless of strength.

2. One notrump. It is far better to bid a notrump than a diamond. The notrump bid has the immediate advantage of showing no trump distribution, all-around strength, and 16 to 18 points. An opening diamond bid is apt to create future bidding problems and does not deliver the precise message carried by a notrump bid.

3. One heart. In this case an exception is made to the general rule of bidding the longer suit first. Since the hand just about qualifies as an opening bid, a special effort is made to keep the subsequent bidding at as low a level as possible.

4. One club. Although this hand looks like a natural notrump bid, it is improper to open with one notrump. The range for a notrump bid is 16 to 18 points. This hand contains 19 points. It may seem harmless to exceed the range by one point, but it must not be forgotten that the responses to a notrump bid are geared to the 16 to 18 point spread. Games and slams can be easily lost if the point count range becomes elastic at the whim of the opening bidder. The excess strength of the hand can be shown, after bidding one club, by jumping later in notrump.

Williamson Diamond Mine in Africa Is Reported For Sale

NAIROBI, Kenya, (CP) — The family of an enigmatic Canadian who was one of the world's wealthiest and richest men Wednesday was reported ready to convert to cash the $100,000,000 diamond fortune he left them when he died Jan. 8.

Percy B. Williamson, who quietly slipped out of his Okanagan home town of Kelowna, B.C., several weeks ago to come to Africa, plans to sell shares of the incredibly rich Mwaduli mine developed by his Quebec-born brother, John Thornburn Williamson.

An authoritative source said sale of the company's 1,200 share will be divided equally between the Tanganyika government and De Beers Consolidated Mines Limited, from which Dr. Williamson once withheld his supply of diamonds for 22 months because he felt he wasn't being paid enough for his gems.

In addition to his brother, two sisters will figure in the transaction. They are Matilda Williamson of St. Sauveur, Que., and Mrs. Alex R. Miller of London, HEAD FOR AFRICA
