

DYING BY INCHES!

But Dodd's Kidney Pills will Yet Renew Life

Thousands of persons die in the prime of life because doctors think Bright's Disease and Diabetes incurable. But Dodd's Kidney Pills cure them both. They have cured thousands of cases.

These diseases and other Kidney complaints are as common as ordinary colds. But people don't realize that they are afflicted till the disease has entered deep into the system. Even then, Dodd's Kidney Pills will positively cure.

Thousands of people are dying on their feet, but do not realize it. They notice one or more of these symptoms: shortness of breath, loss of memory, failing sight, ravenous appetite, pale or reddish urine, with brick colored deposit, scalding when urinating, constipation, nervousness, pains in the loins. Their only hope is Dodd's Kidney Pills. They won't fail. They never do.

We are the original manufacturers of portable Vapor Baths. We have, during the last ten years supplied thousands of our Baths to physicians, hospitals, sanitariums, etc. and we are now, for the first time, advertising them direct to the general public.

Get one that is covered with proper material. Insist on seeing a sample of material before ordering. We make our own covering material and print it with a handsome "all over" pattern of Niagara Falls.

Get one with a thermometer attachment. Don't go to a bath that is too hot or not enough will be of no benefit to you.

Get one that you can return and have your money back if not satisfactory in every way. Send for sample of material and interesting booklet that will tell you all about Vapor Baths.

In a single moment, "as" if pandemonium had suddenly been let loose, each man was on his feet with a volley of oaths, and, in a twinkling, a score or more drawn revolvers glistened in the garish lamp-light.

"Lower your weapons, comrades," commanded the handsome young chief, grimly. "I will attend to this defiant little beauty."

The lovely blue eyes flashed him a look of scorn; the golden, curly head crested itself proudly.

"Do not touch me!" she cried as he grasped her arm firmly.

"Out of my way!" he cried, harshly, to the men who would have barred his exit. "I will give her into Hagar's hand for the present. Before we disperse to-night we will settle her future. You will follow me," he said not unkindly to Verlie.

She had no choice but to follow, but the first few steps became so painful she dropped at his feet in a deep swoon. Raising her quickly in his arms, he bore her swiftly through a long, narrow passage, and into an inner apartment, where an old colored woman sat busily sewing.

"Lor, Marse Lance!" she cried, "what in the world has yo' got thar?"

He pushed impatiently past her, and laid the slight, girlish figure in his arms hastily down on a rude couch, fashioned out of buffalo robes and blankets, that occupied the further corner.

Black Hagar hobbled after him with all the curiosity of her race.

"I'll tend dat ar child, Marse Lance!" she cried. "Am she dead or in a faint like?"

"She has fainted," he replied, briefly. "I'll fetch her to, quick nuff. You men don't un'stan' sech fairs."

"Be quick about it, then," he retorted, impatiently, as he turned on his heel. An exclamation from Black Hagar quickly arrested his steps.

"Oh, Lor!" she cried out in astonishment, gazing down on the white, upturned face, upon which the fitful rays of the swinging oil-lamp glimmered fitfully, "this young gal am as a born angel. There'll be a scene when—"

"Never mind making comments; attend to your own affairs," sharply exclaimed the man whom she addressed as "Marse Lance." "Set about restoring her if you can. She has a badly sprained ankle. The deuce and all would be to pay if I were obliged to call in a doctor. I'll come this way in the course of an hour and see how she is."

When he returned to the cavern again he found Black Hagar still working over her patient.

"If am no use, Marse Lance," she declared. "The pain of 'is har foot has set her clar delarous. She can't be trung too; you'll have to fetch a doctor, shu'."

"A doctor!" he cried, staggering back and gnashing his teeth in impotent rage. "It isn't to be thought of; no one must see the girl here. Why, that would ruin us, you old fool. Send for a doctor, indeed, to spread the startling discovery of this underground cavern that leads to the harbor, and that, too, in the very heart of the city! Why, woman, you must be mad."

She had been vainly trying to restore the lovely young stranger to consciousness, but all her efforts seemed futile. The little white hands grew icy cold.

THE HURRYING FEET OF WOMEN

at the new-born infant's cry, tells the story of woman's sympathy for her sister-woman. If women would only spread the medical gospel, that a woman is unfitted for wifehood and motherhood as long as she suffers from weakness or disease of the distinctly womanly organism, there would be less necessity for the sisterly sympathy that a woman receives when she is in the throes of child-bearing.

A woman who is thoroughly strong and healthy in a womanly way has to suffer comparatively little pain and sickness when she becomes a mother. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription acts directly on the delicate and important organs that bear the burdens of maternity and gives them health, strength and elasticity. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It banishes the discomforts of the faint-hearted period and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It insures the new-comer's health. Over 90,000 women have testified to its marvelous merits and many of them have permitted their experiences, names, addresses and photographs to be printed in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, so that other women may learn of this wonderful medicine. Good medicine dealers sell it.

"I am now real well," writes Mrs. Lillie Hibbard of Merrill, Lincoln Co., Wis. "I have been doing my own housework, including washing and ironing. I hardly ever feel the pain in my side unless I lift hard. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two bottles of 'Pleasant Pellets.' I have not been taking any medicine for over two months. This is the first time I have been well enough to do my work for over three years. Your medicine is all that helped me."

Send 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing and customs only, for a paper-covered copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Cloth binding, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. It is the most popular medical work in the English language; it contains a thousand and eight pages, and over three hundred illustrations. It is a great storehouse of valuable information—a veritable medical library in one volume.

man, with a bright red turban bound around her head, was bending over the sufferer.

The doctor hastily approached the couch. He could scarcely repress the cry of surprise that rose to his lips as his eyes fell upon the face on the pillow. It was the most beautiful girlish face he had ever beheld.

"Why am yo' doin' nuffin fo' her, doctor?" demanded the black woman, sharply eying him, with a glowering light in her eyes, not at all pleased at the capt admiration with which he was gazing on the girl's face, and muttering that Marse Lance was a fool to bring a handsome young man like this to doctor the girl and that ten to one he would fall in love with her, and there would be no end to the mischief then.

Her words aroused the young doctor, recalling him to a sense of duty. The swollen ankle was skilfully treated, and the delirious fever (a complication of diseases in this case) allayed; and the blue eyes began to quiver with returning consciousness. A moment later and the blue, velvety eyes had flared open wide.
