

Quiet Potato Meeting Held Last Night At Alberton; Dealer Speaks

—If you decide not to keep the Marketing Board, by all means as soon as the plebiscite is over put in a proper board. Put in a board that will work in the best interests of the growers and the farmers, work if you have dealers that won't work with farmers, kick them out," said Mr. E. D. Reid, Charlottetown potato dealer, principal speaker at a two-hour meeting at Alberton last night, which was attended by about 150 persons and presided over by Mr. Frank Bryan of Cascumpeque.

In marked contrast to a previous meeting of potato growers and dealers in Alberton a week ago, which was attended by speakers for the Potato Marketing Board, last night's meeting was the most quiet of all the meetings held in Prince County to date and no more than half a dozen questions were asked in the question period which followed Mr. Reid's address.

"To my mind," said Mr. Reid, "there is a function for a strictly promotional board. I have in mind such things as freight rates, tariffs, etc., and looking after the general promotion of the industry. But selling is an entirely different proposition."

DISCUSSES PRICES

"I heard one of the Marketing Board speakers say the reason you are not getting a true market price for your potatoes is because somebody sold last spring. Now he is not telling the facts, or he doesn't know them," he said. Mr. Reid stated that Long Island, with an acreage equal to that of last year, are selling in Florida at a price so low that Prince Edward Island cannot compete.

Referring to the strengthened market he said this has domestic somewhat in the last few days in regard to table stock. Maine 50's were setting the price for P. E. I. in Montreal. "We have to tag along with the market. We did tag one desk selling from April 1st to June 1st we tagged along more completely than we ever had done in our lives before," he said.

Last spring when competition was completely eliminated in the Province the price was still governed by the New Brunswick price, and the P.E.I. price was kept at an artificial level above the market at times while cars piled up on the track for a week and we paid the biggest demurrage bill that was ever known for a week in a year in Prince Edward Island," said Mr. Reid.

"The market today in Montreal is $1.90 and the competition is keen, and is showing the price up as high as a dealer who makes a profit wacky."

Instead of referring to a fertilizer plan, which he said did not exist, Mr. Reid said that

Board should first finance the potatoes this year and talk about the fertilizer financing next spring.

Mr. Alan Buchanan salesman for Harrow of Canada potato growers in Ontario, and also associated with the Lorne Campbell Company, carlot distributors of potatoes, who is visiting the Province accompanied Mr. Reid to the meeting and spoke, briefly describing the operation of a voluntary pool with which he has been associated in Ontario. He said "ours is a vastly different marketing situation than you have here," and explained their closer relation to markets, and their short period of operation which he said begins in June and ends in August, and is strictly an early market proposition. 95 percent of the seed used, he said, came from P. E. I.

In the question period Mr. Wilfred Dunn asked Mr. Reid what his fertilizer plan was and was informed that last year Mr. Reid put out $175,000 worth of fertilizer through his agents in the country and realized a gross profit of 1 1/2 per cent.

Other speakers included W. B. McLellan, Howard Gavin, Fred Bingham, Summerside dealer, J. B. Thomas, Cascumpeque, Everett Hudson.

At the conclusion of the meeting a vote of thanks was moved and carried by Mr. Keir Pamsay of O'Leary.—S

One Injured In S'ide Collision

—A Meteor car and a tractor-trailer were in collision last evening at the corner of Water and Central Streets in Summerside, resulting in a slight injury to the tractor driver, Mr. Herman Pauptit of Sherbrooke. Both vehicles were proceeding east on Water Street when the Meteor car, driven by Mr. Ernest Gallant of St. Eleanors, collided with the tractor. The trailer of the tractor attempted to turn up Central Street, jacking the tractor-trailer and throwing Mr. Pauptit to the street. The tractor came to a halt against an electric pole and turned over on its top. Both front wheels of the tractor were sheared off.

Mr. Pauptit was treated for bruises and shock by Dr. Henry Moyses and then taken to his home in Sherbrooke. Mr. Gallant's car suffered some damage in front.—S

—The hearing of two fisheries cases was continued in county magistrates court in Summerside last evening before Magistrate R. S. Hinton, Q.C. resulting in a Tignish man being fined $8 and costs for unlawfully retaining eight short lobsters out of a catch of 247. The charge was laid by fisheries officers last May 4th.

Another party from Tignish charged with a similar offence had his case adjourned until Dec. 3. Evidence given in this case revealed that 2108 lobsters were seized last June 19th by fisheries officers in a building at North Cape, of which 900 were live, 600 cooked and 608 partly cooked. It was also revealed that of several hundred lobsters measured by the officers, all were short of the legal limit.

Twenty-one fisheries cases that are pending were adjourned until Friday, Nov. 5.—S

BUILDS BLOOD

Foods that are good sources of iron for blood include kidneys, tongues, livers, heart and most sea-foods.

Let's Talk It Over

Many people miss the old political meetings on Prince Edward Island when speakers of both parties were on the platform, and both sides of an argument were thrashed out to the accompaniment of considerable heckling from members of the audience which naturally included adherents of both parties. Much of the excitement and entertainment is missing now when only one side is presented, and only rarely are any of the points challenged.

Yes, heckling carried to a certain makes a public meeting sparkle. Sudden questions directed to a speaker on the platform challenges his powers of rebuttal, and there were speakers who could handle such interjectory questions with considerable skill. It was a battle of wits with the speaker being long as he stops short of sedition, and protected against interference or insult. This is one of the crowning glories of our democratic way of life.

Heckling can be carried to an undesirable extreme, however. When a speaker is heckled and interrupted to the extent that he is not able to continue his address, the procedure becomes undemocratic.

One of the things that make us proud to be Canadians is the fact that a speaker can stand on a street corner of any of our towns and cities, and preach a doctrine which is repugnant to ninety percent of the citizens, and yet, as long as he stops short of sedition, he is permitted to have his say, and protected against interference or insult. This is one of the crowning glories of our democratic way of life.

Royal Winter Fair last year. Three other cows in the Boswell herd graded very good, the second highest ranking outstanding, and one other graded good plus. Strangely enough the Royal, Q.C. resulting in a Tignish man being fined $8 and costs for unlawfully retaining eight short lobsters out of a catch of 247. The charge was laid by fisheries officers last May 4th.

The junior champion male was shown by the N.S. Artificial Breeding Unit.

The reserve junior male was shown by Col. F. I. Andrew of Charlottetown. He is Royalty Fashion Harold C. and is the last calf sired by the perennial grand champion of former years, Glen Garry B.O. Fashion. The Fashion bull was brought to Prince Edward Island by Harold Clay, senior livestock fieldman at Charlottetown for Dominion Department of Agriculture. Mr. Clay had seen the young calf in the Andrew stable at East Royalty and had praised him so enthusiastically and so consistently that Colonel Andrew decided to name him "Harold C." Both Andrew and Clay were smiling happily when the young calf went reserve senior here Tuesday.

The Boswells of Victoria won the two-year-old male class with their Pineview Taurus, a class winner at the Royal in 1953. They had several other very strong placings in heavy competition in the first day of the show.

The A. MacRae and son herd took the reserve junior female championship with Fairvue Duchess, the junior champion at the Royal in 1953. She is sired by Dinduff Gilt Edge, the Scotch bull owned by the P. E. I. Ayrshire Preferred Breeders Club. They also had a number of other strong placings with a number of them being runner up ribbons.

Sudden Death Of Burlington Man Yesterday

—The death of Mr. Roy Bryanton, well known farmer and carpenter, occurred suddenly at his home in Burlington yesterday. He was in his 43rd year. Mr. Bryanton had been about his work as usual although he had not fully recovered from a serious illness of a few years ago. Yesterday morning he had been working near his home with horses and a plow when his son David, who was near, noting the horses idle found his father had fallen on the way to the house.

A doctor was summoned but found he had passed away. He is survived by his wife, the former Mary Meek, one daughter, Shirley Summerside, one son David at home, also his father, Mr. Elijah Bryanton and one sister, Rita, Mrs. Earl Cooper, Dorchester, Mass., two brothers, Elmer MacAdam, N. B., and Elvin at Burlington.—S

JERSEY CLASSES

Island standard bearers in the Jersey ring were Mr. Mutch and Douglas MacMillan of St. Peter's. George MacMillan of Cornwall was joint owner of River North General Mac, a third place winner in the aged bull class.

Mr. Mutch won the class for senior yearling heifers dry, with River North Beacon Girl, the junior champion at Charlottetown. It was the first red ribbon he had won in the heavy competition that prevailed throughout the day.

Douglas Matheson topped the junior yearling heifer class with his Beacon's Geneva, reserve junior champion at Charlottetown. This heifer took the eye of men who wanted Mr. Matheson to enter her in the sale of stars. So did Mr. Mutch's heifer. But neither of them made the grade in the battle here Tuesday for junior championship honors. Instead Judge Dale Dean of Michigan went to the winners of the senior calf and junior calf classes for his junior champs. They were shown respectively by Sterling Brown and Charles Robison, both of Ayrshire and N.B. J. Arthur Malcolm, Tatamagouche, N. S., Fundy Jersey Farm, R. M. Redmond of St. Andrews, N.B., and Harry Morrison of North Hampton, N.B., were some of the other top place winners among the Jersey cattle men here.

Both Ayrshire and Jersey shows will be completed today with the showing of cow in milk and the senior progeny and gets and the senior herd classes.

ALGIERS, North Africa—(Reuters)—French security police fanned out over the wild, hilly country of Algeria Tuesday as the government cracked down after a savage outbreak of terrorism.

Already 1,000 French reinforcements have landed in the North African territory. Terrorists Monday struck at police and military posts in commando raids. At least eight persons were killed and 10 wounded in the fights.

Armed guards Tuesday patrolled the streets of Algiers and guarded public buildings. Police and army trucks covered possible danger points.

Only minor incidents were reported during the night when terrorists tried unsuccessfully to set three buildings on fire. But the terrorists still maintained pressure on Arris and two armed French columns had to fight their way into the village.

USE WAKTIM WEAPONS

Some of the attackers Monday used British, German and Italian arms that probably came from wartime dumps. They hit about 40 points at about the same time, between midnight and 2 a. m. Monday.

The sudden, violent outbreak after two years of calm caused consternation in France and Algiers. Governor - General Roger picked up strength in both Houses. This year predictions favored the Democrats right to the end of the campaign but an atmosphere of uncertainty pervaded the forecast because of extraordinary last-minute efforts put forth by Republicans to stir up what had been looked upon as an apathetic electorate.

TWO MORE YEARS

The new Congress will be organized in the first week of next January. President Eisenhower's term will run two more years from that date.

While his appeal to the voters, and those of his party voters, surpassed the need of having a Republican congress to help carry on the Eisenhower program, there was no historic reason to believe he would fare badly with a Democratic legislative arm.

It had happened before, most recently in 1946-48 when Harry Truman headed a Democratic executive in control in the Capitol. Much of Eisenhower's program has been enacted with Democratic assistance in the last two years. Some of his chief troubles have been dissipated through Democratic assistance in Congress—particularly the so-called Bricker amendment which would have stripped the White House of much of its authority in making international agreements.

REVERSES DECISION

However, the president, who reversed a decision announced a year ago that he would stay aloof from party politics and instead made the campaign his own battle in the closing weeks, stressed the argument that a Democrat-controlled Congress would be a handicap to his administration and bad for the country.

Some observers argued that this kind of campaign would make it difficult for the president to get along with an opposition Congress. But it is traditional that in cases where power had been split between the executive and the Congress there has been a large measure of harmony on major questions, especially foreign affairs.

Voters Tuesday chose 37 senators and 432 members of the House of Representatives; also 33 state governors and a long list of lesser officials.

Four Democrats were unopposed in the voting for governor; 78 Democrats and three Republicans won House seats without opposition and 43 Democrats took Senate seats because they had no opponents. These were mainly in the traditionally Democratic southern states.
