

Stresses Prospects In Scallop Fishery

A new and prosperous era in the fishing industry of the Province with emphasis being placed on scallop fishing was predicted in the Legislature yesterday by Mr. Dougald MacKinnon, 4th Queen's...

"The more these scallop areas are dragged, the better," he said. "In many areas 150 scallop draggers are fishing and all are making it pay."

Grand Opportunity He stated that Dr. Chaisson of the Biological Department of St. Francis Xavier University had told him that this Province had the greatest opportunity in the world to develop scallop fishing.

precious than gold." He went on to pay a warm tribute to Dr. MacMillan's achievements. He noted that the agricultural industry in this Province has taken a setback. He urged the people to have faith in the price of potatoes recovering and pointed out how the drop in eggs had caused panic but that the price was now coming back.

World Affairs In the over all picture he did not see too much to worry about. There were good leaders here and in the American Government. There is fear of recession, he said, but there was that fear before the end of the war. He expressed regret at the unfortunate division in the world today and stated that the only way Communism could be fought was to crush its head before it, like the serpent, crawled underground.

The first problem of the country, he stated, was unity within the nation. He noted that Canadians or Americans in Russia would not be allowed to carry on like the Communists are acting here. The second problem he thought, was to get together on an economic policy. It was necessary, he stated, that the import duty continue to a certain extent. In his opinion the only means of a fair tax was the income tax.

He predicted a successful political career for Hon. W. E. Darby, Attorney-General. "I think he is a much needed balance in the political thought of the province. We have gone a little too far to the left and need some conservative thinking."

VISIT FROM DR. KERR - Dr. A. E. Kerr, President of Dalhousie University, who was the chief speaker at the Samuel Robertson Memorial Lecture Monday night paid a visit to the Guardian yesterday. He was accompanied by Professor Frank MacKinnon, Principal of Prince of Wales College. Dr. Kerr said he was greatly pleased at the number attending the lecture and the general interest in educational matters in the Province. He expressed the satisfaction of the Board of Governors and Senate of Dalhousie University at the number and quality of students from Prince of Wales College attending Dalhousie. He informed the Guardian that Dalhousie regarded itself as a Maritime University and appreciated the preference which Island students showed in going there rather than to Upper Canadian Colleges.

First Rural Returns Received For the second consecutive year Mr. Grant MacCallum of Brackley Point has set the pace for canvassers in the Red Cross Campaign by being the first person in the Province to make returns in the 1950 campaign. Mr. MacCallum received his canvassing materials from Provincial Headquarters on Saturday last and immediately proceeded to get his collecting done while the roads were still passable. His efforts were met with outstanding success for he arrived at Campaign Headquarters yesterday bringing the splendid sum of $185.00 from 31 contributors. The donors returned from Brackley Point District speak volumes for the high regard the residents of this community have for the peacetime programme being carried on by the Canadian Red Cross Society in this Province. A few minutes after Mr. MacCallum left Red Cross House, Mrs. J. Ernest Coles arrived from Suffolk with the campaign returns from that district which had been collected by her son, Gordon, who had certainly lost no time in completing the task which he had been given.

PEDESTRIAN ANGER WEST VANCOUVER, B.C. - (CP) - One motorist probably wishes he hadn't stopped after knocking down two elderly women on the street here. The women weren't hurt - only mad. When the motorist got out to help they chased him around his car, swinging their umbrellas, until a policeman arrived.

Panel Discussion At Art Centre

The possibilities of starting a collection of Prince Edward Island historical relics, and storing them in a fireproof place was the main topic of discussion at the Art Centre last evening.

About twenty-five interested citizens were in attendance for the open discussion as to the value of a museum to the Province, and it was suggested that if the Island antiques now known to be available could be safely stored it would help create interest in the need for a museum.

The atmosphere was particularly suited to this type of discussion as the present display at the Art Centre is arranged by the Swedish Museums Association, and shows pictures of various types of exhibits and displays used in Sweden.

Panel for the evening consisted of Miss Frances Johnston, chairman, Mrs. D. T. Hardy, Mrs. P. A. Creelman and Mr. B. Graham Rogers. Various phases of the usefulness of a museum were discussed, which included its helplessness in studying the history of the people of Prince Edward Island, its usefulness to those interested in the arts, and how it could represent the interests of science in the Province, particularly in regard to natural resources and the health of the people.

One of its services which was stressed was in regard to education, particularly in the rural areas. The interest it would create among tourists was also commented on.

Air Force To Try Modified Version Of North Star

OTTAWA, March 23—(CP)—Air Force headquarters announced tonight it is aiding in the development of a modified version of the North Star for long-range, high-altitude crew training.

The plane is expected to be delivered to the R.C.A.F. early this summer by Canadair, Ltd., of Montreal, which is sharing in the development cost. Cost of the four-engined, pressurized plane to the R. C. A. F. including the Air Force's share of development cost, will be "slightly more than $1,000,000," the announcement said. Total cost is reported to be between $1,500,000 and $1,700,000.

The modified version of the North Star now in service will be equipped with American Pratt and Whitney radial engines developing a total of approximately 7,000 horsepower. Regular North Stars are powered with British Merlin in-line engines.

"In order to provide against any serious interruptions and supply of engines or parts from England during a period of war, the R. C. A. F. has felt that it should have on hand a well-tested conversion of the North Star transport in which engines manufactured on this continent can be used," the Air Force said.

The aircraft will be able to carry two complete crews. In addition it will be equipped to carry 33 passengers and will have sleeping accommodation for 12 persons.
