Masonic Lodge Annual Visitation

Tuesday evening Zetland Lodge No. 7 A.F. & A.M., Alberton, was honored with the annual visitation of the grand officers of the Masonic Lodge of P. E. I. Officers present were Fred I. Bell, Summerside, grand master; L. A. MacDonnell, Charlottetown, grand secretary; D. S. Montgomery, Fort Hill, junior grand warden; Errol Stetson, O'Leary, grand lecturer; Gordon Lord, Charlottetown, grand director of ceremonies; Harry E. Daley, Summerside, junior grand steward; and the following past grand masters, D. E. Baker, T. A. Dawson and J. A. Thompson.

Past Master Herbert Clark introduced the grand officers and they were welcomed by Worshipful Master Don Campbell. Members of Corinthian Lodge, O'Leary, and of Alexandria Lodge, Port Hill, were guests of Zetland Lodge for the evening. Mr. Hubert Rogers presented to the lodge an original drawing for a poster used on billboards across Canada in the fund raising campaign for the Order of St. John, 1943. A colored photograph of this drawing is displayed at Ottawa headquarters of the St. John's Ambulance Association. Mr. Rogers, a distinguished artist, is spending this summer near his home town of Alberton. Following the tradition of his family, Mr. Rogers is a member of Zetland Lodge. His grandfather, Hon. Benjamin Rogers, was a charter member of the lodge when it was instituted in 1848 and one time Worshipful Master. Mr. Rogers' father, the late F. L. Rogers, was also a member of Zetland Lodge. This valuable gift to the lodge was accepted with appreciation by the Worshipful Master.

At the close of the meeting a social time was enjoyed.

—TENDERED FAREWELL PARTY —A farewell party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Myers recently in honor of their daughter, Mrs. Alphonse Marchand on the eve of her departure for her home in Dartmouth, N.S. An appropriate address was read to her and she was presented with a basket of gifts, which were opened by Mr. John N. Richards and the accompanying verses and messages read by Mrs. Sam Myers. A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Myers and the remainder of the evening was spent in square dancing and sing song with Mrs. Cyril Doucette presiding at the organ. —B.G.

—ONLY ONE COTTAGE BURNED —A summer cabin belonging to Frank MacFarlane escaped possible destruction from fire late Wednesday night when flames destroyed a nearby cabin belonging Eric Woodside at MacCallum's Point in Lower Bedeque. Ten days previous to last night's fire the cottage of H. T. Holman was destroyed by fire, which, like last night's fire, was of unknown origin. The fire last night caused considerable alarm among some persons in Summerside who sighted the blaze and thought that it was the ferry "Abegweit" on fire because the direction of the glow in the sky as seen from Summerside, was in the same general direction as the Borden-Tormentine car ferry route. —S.

It is reported unofficially that the Provincial Marketing Board has recommended that the above mentioned Order be amended by the Potato Board.

Turkey, Solid Ally Of The West, Odlum Says

LONDON, Sept. 18 — (CP) —Mal-Gen. Victor Odlum, retiring Canadian diplomat and soldier in three wars, said today Turkey's streamlined modern army now is about four times as strong as when he first saw it five years ago.

Pausing in London on his way home to West Vancouver, where he plans to write his memoirs of an "unusual and most active" life, the 72-year-old former ambassador at Ankara said in an interview: "Turkey is solid. The Turkish people are probably the West's most determined allies. They are proud, they are confident, and there seems to be no fear of Russia. It is a delight to me to have such a country on our team."

The slim, white-haired General entered the diplomatic service 11 years ago after commanding the Canadian 2nd Division in the early years of the Second World War. He was Canadian ambassador in Turkey from August, 1947, until last July.

"In that five years," Gen. Odlum said, "the Turkish army has been strengthened to the point where it now has four times the hitting power, though its numerical strength has been cut by about half."

The transformation is largely the result of United States aid. The biggest difficulty was, and still is, the language barrier. Gen. Odlum learned some 700 Turkish words in his five-year stay in Ankara but he still can't string sentences together in that difficult tongue.

Gen. and Mrs. Odlum sail for Canada on the liner Empress of Canada. He promises to try to keep the "Irish" out of his memoirs so nobody's feelings will be hurt. The General comes from a family which emigrated to Ontario from Ireland's County Wexford after the Napoleonic wars, and he's proud of his Irish blood.

His retirement brings to a close half a century spent largely in Canada's service. His military career started in 1899 when in a moment of "youthful emotionalism" he went from the University of Toronto to serve as a private in the Great War. In the First World War, he was wounded three times and eight times mentioned in dispatches.

Looking back over his military and diplomatic experiences, which have taken him several times around the world and into such countries as Japan, Australia and China, the General says he had two main impressions he'd like to pass on: That men of all races are essentially the same, and that smiling good humor is the world's most stable currency.

Report Hundreds

"Continents-to-continents guided missiles are possible," the Korean attacks are but "forerunners of what will probably come," and already the navy has better equipment than that so far used.

Robot planes are more manoeuvrable than piloted planes, can be refuelled in air, can be equipped to drop bombs and return to base or strafe enemy ground positions.

Any carrier now in Korean waters can launch the robots, and such operations do not interfere with normal carrier operations.

A single plane could control a fleet of robots. Kurtz said the navy has used outmoded "Hellcat" dive bombers so far in Korea. The robot, equipped with a television camera, is launched from a catapult aboard a carrier.

Once in the air, a guide plane with a television screen takes over and directs the pilotless bomber to its destruction on enemy targets. The launchers also can watch the robot's program on a screen back on the carrier.

Will Observe Battle of Britain Sunday At S'ide

Next Sunday is Battle of Britain Sunday and the R.C.A.F. Station Summerside, along with R.C.A.F. units everywhere will observe the brave men who fought and died in the skies over Britain in the summer of 1940 to stem the advance of Nazism which threatened to overrun the country and the world.

September 15th is generally accepted as the end of the critical period in the Battle of Britain, as on that date enemy losses in attacks on Britain rose to a peak forcing change in tactics by the Germans. The battle is honored in Canada every year on the Sunday following September 15th.

This year as in the past the services will be held in town. Commemorative services will be held in St. Paul's Church and in the Baptist Church. Ft. Lt. O'Hanley, in charge of the arrangements for the service in St. Paul's Church, and the new Protestant padre, Flight Lt. Condon, who has recently arrived at Summerside from Chatham, will be the speaker at the Baptist Church.

Both church services will commence at 1:30 p.m., standard time and will last for approximately 30 to 45 minutes. Following these remembrance services the parade will form up on Notre Dame Street and then proceed to the Square where a wreath will be laid at the Cenotaph. After the wreath has been laid, the parade led by the Legion Band and a color party will pass the reviewing station in front of the new post office and return to the dismountal point on Notre Dame Street.

The parade is to be composed this year of three squadrons, one from the Administrative Wing, one from the Technical Wing and one from the Flying Wing. It is of interest to all to note that the Flying Wing squadron will be composed of a flight of R. A. F. flight cadets.—S.
