Grade Twelve students viewed several informative films on Friday afternoon. One of these was "When You Choose Nursing" a film showing the everyday life of a nurse. We see a pediatric nurse making the rounds at a children's hospital, the instruction of student nurses, a nurse on duty in a foreign country and a rural health nurse.

"Lights That Never Fall" was a picture of life in a typical light-house with reference to the history and international character of lighthouses.

The last film, "Royal Destiny" included scenes from the life of Queen Elizabeth II, showing her preparation for sovereignty. This film also showed the coronation of George VI, the Royal South African tour, the wedding of Elizabeth, the Canadian visit, and finally her return from Kenya, when she hears of the death of her father.

The editors and staff of the proposed yearbook and the other members of the Grade Twelve class met after class on Friday to discuss plans for the yearbook. Nothing final was decided, however, and another meeting will probably be held this week.

Canadian People Flock To Church In Fine Weather

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada enjoyed fine weather as Christians observed the most solemn of their holy days, Good Friday.

Special services marked the anniversary of Christ's death Friday, with Anglican churches holding Good Friday and Roman Catholics holding Way of the Cross services. Many Protestant groups held interdenominational services.

Jewish families sat down at sunset at the first Seder, marking the beginning of the eight-day Feast of the Passover.

The solemnity of Good Friday will switch Sunday to the gaiety and finery of Easter, with flowers, chocolate bunnies and new clothes holding sway.

MOSTLY SUNNY Sunny and mild weather was reported Friday in all parts of Canada except the western Prairies, where fog and drizzle occurred. Temperatures varied from the high 60s in British Columbia to the 40s in the Maritimes. Snow fell in Newfoundland.

Church attendance was reported high but its meaning was questioned at a combined Protestant service in Marpole, a Vancouver suburb. Said Rev. William Garbutt, an Anglican: "Do we not feel that religion lacks power in our everyday life? There must be a reason. The outstanding reason is that the cross has been forgotten. There is little or no sacrifice in our everyday living."

The Vancouver area was agitated by Friday's scheduled explosion at Ripple Rock, a twin-peaked submarine navigation menace in Seymour Narrows between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

LARGEST BLAST It was scheduled to be blown up this morning in the largest peacetime, non-atomic explosion ever set off by man. The aim is to knock off enough of each peak to eliminate danger to navigation. It has taken more than 100 lives in shipwrecks.

Tourists, most from Washington, crowded into the area. One California resident who travelled to Vancouver especially for the explosion plotted how to get past heavy security in the area.

"I've come 1,000 miles for this," he said. "They won't stop me now."
