

Newcastle Pulp Mill Has Output Doubled

NEWCASTLE, N.B. (CP)—On the shores of the Miramichi River near this northern New Brunswick logging town, the Fraser Companies, Ltd., pulp mill is undergoing a $24-million expansion that will more than double its facilities.

The mill, which first went into operation here in 1949, has been growing steadily since. With the latest additions, due to be completed late in 1965, the mill's capacity will have expanded from the 1949 figure of 124 tons of unbleached pulp a day to 170,000 tons annually of unbleached, semi-bleached and full-bleached pulp.

The additions and expansion, which will almost double the present plant, will give the industry a new look by the addition of several high-rise structures.

Included in the expansion are a continuous-digester building, one of the largest units of its kind in North America and a pulp storage building capable of storing up to 12,000 tons of finished pulp.

Another large item on the expansion list is a 128-foot-high recovery building which houses a new chemical recovery furnace capable of processing 1,500,000 pounds of solids a day.

Valuable chemicals which otherwise be lost entirely are recovered in this unit while at the same time 200 pounds per hour of steam is generated for power and processing.

A new six-unit bleaching plant is also being added to the mill. This mill will contain all the necessary equipment to produce the bleaching agents needed in the process. The resulting pulp will be bleached to the high whiteness required to meet the
