The Wimbledon Meeting.

Writing on the Wimbledon meeting, the Times says:—"The presence of the Canadian volunteers at Wimbledon was felt to be more than usually significant. It strengthened and drew closer the bonds of brotherhood and loyalty, and the Duke of Cambridge showed a recognition of the fact when, in his speech to Colonel Gzowski and the Canadian riflemen, he connected his visit to Wimbledon with the visit he has recently paid to Malta for the purpose of inspecting the Indian contingent."

Lord Beaconsfield.

The course of Lord Beaconsfield in regard to Eastern politics has been sustained by a majority of one hundred and forty-three. Isaac Butt supported the Government, as did Mr. O'Donnell, the Home Rule member for Dungarvan, who declared that the so-called "Reformers," like their namesakes here in Canada, had not a rag of policy. Where are the cries of lessened popularity and diminished majorities now? One said the Government would only have twenty five; another went as high as fifty. What bullet will now be cast, or what little pellet folded to shoot at the great and successful Premier? What sputterings shall we next hear of purchased rant and mumbling malice!

It is curious to note how many objections to Lord Beaconsfield and Lord Beaconsfield's policy are resolvable into the statement that he is a man of genius. "Genius," says a great authority, "scorns traditional ways;" it takes its own course; eagle-like it cleaves a path through cloud and tempest or gazes undazzled on what would blind weaker vision. The hugest sarcasm his enemies can hurl at the calm head of the greatest of modern Prime Ministers is that forty years ago, when a young man, he had dreamed and speculated on such a policy as he has lived to carry out. Some of his critics seem maddened by what they call his cleverness. Their anger has about it the characteristics of the temper and barking of a dog from behind an iron-barred gate; impotent, bitter, brawling and ludicrous. Never, says the Saturday Review, was a minister assailed with such mean vituperation. The kind of madness we have alluded to has not spared the splendid and spacious intellect of Mr. Gladstone, who might have rehabilitated his shattered reputation had he generously and candidly hailed the triumph of his great rival, whose renown throws his own into shadow for all time. Mr. Disraeli passed the Reform bill of 1867. Mr. Gladstone passed the Irish Church act and the Land bill. Lord Beaconsfield has gone beyond even such great achievements. He has restored England her place in the councils of Europe, and nobody now sneers; the giants were of old, the dwarfs are of to-day. Never was England so strong; never was her prestige greater; never was a nation's heart more at rest with the consciousness that a wise and strong hand was at the tiller. The whole Empire feels the calm and charm and fortifying influence of a master mind.—Mail.

Mackenzie and the Maritime Provinces.

EXTRACT FROM A SPEECH OF EX-GOVERNOR TILLEY.

In the course of his last speech Mr. Tilley says:—

Then we come to another point, and it is this: Mr. Burpee, in his speech—and here, while flatly contradicting the assertions in this speech, I do not believe this report represents Mr. Burpee's opinions, although it was said that it was reported as Burpee delivered it (laughter). In my opinion Mr. Burpee did not make the speech at all (more laughter); but as it is given as his, I must deal with it as it is. In that speech Mr. Burpee says that Mr. McKenzie was a friend of the Maritime Provinces, and supported all propositions in their interest. It is a marvel if it is so. Down to '72, in all the papers in the interests of the Opposition, it was asserted that the Government were buying up the Maritime Provinces to the detriment of Ontario and Quebec. Any one who read those papers knows it to be so. You know it to be true. You know this was the cry (hear, hear), although we were entitled to all we received. Mr. McKenzie in favor of the Maritime Provinces! Why, I say positively that

HE OPPOSED EVERY PROPOSITION IN FAVOR OF THESE PROVINCES.

Why, I recollect one question on which the Government was nearly defeated. It was when we proposed to take off certain duties on tea, and the Government was only sustained by nine of a majority. Then, with regard to the readjustment of the debt, of which we proposed to give one million dollars more to New Brunswick, and one and a quarter to Nova Scotia. Mr. McKenzie opposed that. And again, when we proposed to give $150,000 to New Brunswick in lieu of the export duty, he opposed that. And I might name other instances of a like character. But still we are told Mr. McKenzie is, and always has been, a warm supporter and a friend of the Maritime Provinces. (Great applause.) Why, the canvass all through Ontario was that we wanted too much. (Great applause.) Now I will

CALL IN A FEW WITNESSES.
I will call Mr. Elder, and Sir Albert J. Smith, and Mr. Burpee himself, to contradict Mr. Burpee.

MR. ELDER'S TESTIMONY.
I will read from a speech delivered by

Mr. Elder in '72, when he was a candidate for the Dominion Parliament, when he is thus reported in his own paper:

"Mr. Elder began by defining his position in respect to the Government. It was not essentially distinct from that of Mr. Palmer. We have the Government of Canada and the Opposition or Ontario party. The Government's sympathies are large and free, while the Opposition grudge the subsidy to Nova Scotia, the terms asked by Manitoba and British Columbia, and the better terms for New Brunswick."

SIR ALBERT ON THE STAND.

Now, I call Sir A. J. Smith, who was elected an Anti-Confederate by the Opposition in '72. He is thus reported:—

"Mr. Smith replied to Mr. Knapp with moderation and forbearance. He had gone to the Dominion Parliament with strong prejudices and personal feelings against the party in power, but he had not allowed his feelings to influence his actions. He had not been an ally of either party, but occupied the cross benches, and had in all cases studied to serve the interests of his country, and in the future he should continue to pursue a similar course. He could not allow the opportunity to pass, however, without bearing testimony to the fact that the Government had, especially during the past two years, shown that they possessed broad views on all general questions, and a generous disposition in dealing with the interests of the Lower Provinces. Under such circumstances he believed we had nothing to gain by a change of the administration. He was perfectly content with the Government as now constituted with Messrs. Tilley and Mitchell as our Province representatives."

WHAT MR. BURPEE SAID.

Now we will call on Mr. Burpee and hear what he says. This is what he said in 1872:—

"He believed in sustaining the Government, as when he looked at the difficulties in the way and the newness of our Confederation, it was not advisable that the party should be overthrown. This was especially necessary when he looked at the condition of the Opposition in Ontario," (listen to that, now, gentlemen—a laugh,) "and the manner in which they have sought to make capital of that Province." (Mark this, gentlemen.) "They showed in their principle a selfishness which could not but be observed and caused the reflection as to what they would do if in power"—(mark that, gentlemen, if in power.)"

Then there is an editorial in Mr. Elder's paper on the morning of my election in '72 calling upon the electors to sustain me. Now, then, gentlemen, does it seem plain that Mr. McKenzie could not have shown that generous liberality, that wonderful sympathy, towards the Maritime Provinces that Mr. Burpee said he has? (Great applause.) I bring three witnesses to show that he had and want of sympathy while dealing with our interests; but now they claim he is to be supported, let the consequences be what they may, because he is a liberal friend to us. Is not this an absurdity? (Cries of "yes it is.")

Senator Macpherson told the electors of Bruce, and truly so, that no defence has yet been attempted of the enormous increase in collecting the customs revenue that has taken place under the present Government:—

	Revenue.	Cost of Collection.	Percentage Cost.
1873	$12,954,164	$567,765	4.38
1874	14,410,583	658,299	4.56
1875	15,351,011	682,673	4.45
1876	12,823,837	721,008	5.62
1877	12,546,987	721,604	5.75

General Grant had a grand dinner at the Embassy at Stockholm, and was serenaded. He has left for St. Petersburg by way of the Baltic.

Among the Communists proclaimed as coming within the recent amnesty declared in France, is M. Reclus, the eminent geographer, exiled for complicity in the outbreak of 1871.

King Alfonso intends erecting a magnificent Basilica to the memory of the late Queen Mercedes, and will contribute one million reals ($50,000) annually until it is completed. Ex-Queen Isabella has given her jewels, valued at fifteen million reals (750,000) for the same purpose, and accompanies the gift with a very touching letter.

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in. Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, plains and oceans, and thousands of means for enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worried out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof that Green's August Flower will make them as free from disease as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint are the direct cause of seventy-five per cent. of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the Head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symptoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottles, 10 cents. Try it.
