

IN MEMORIAM
MACDONALD - In loving tender and fraternal memory of my dear Brother Frank F. MacDonald, who died in Jasper, Alberta, January 26th, 1954.

In Jasper Park, Alberta Where Tourists love to roam It was there that my dear Brother died Far o'er the sea from Home.

No Brother Sister wife was there For him to shed a tear But a lot of friends did gather round Who knew and loved him dear.

And with masonic honors They laid him down to rest with the emblem of the order Placed neatly on his breast.

It matters not when death shall come Where a man shall lay his head Whether in Albertas fertile soil Or on the Oceans bed.

For God will find them each and all When that great day shall come And those that served him faithfully Shall then be gathered home.

The last time that you were home I think I heard you say Five years I think is much too long For one to stay away.

If you had kept that in your mind And watched the fleeting years, We might have seen your face once more And helped to dry our tears.

It seems so strange some families All settle down near home While more to make a living Far o'er the world do roam.

And thus it was with our family They scattered here and there Like a bunch of Birds that feeding When they get a sudden scare.

Sister Edith was the oldest And the first to leave the home To the black hills of Dakota Her wandering feet did roam.

Then Myrtle as a fair young Bride To Vancouver she did go Near where the great Pacific And its tides do onward flow.

Brother Frank left home one winter For the lumber woods in Maine And when he finished there that spring Did not come home again.

Poor Amanda and myself is all Of five that now is left God only knows which one of us Will be the first bereft.

As I sit alone I sometimes think How marvellous it would be If all of us would meet again Beyond lifes turbulent sea.
