KNIGHT NORRIS, HELEN'S DREAM IN DEAD HEAT

Lindsay, Campbell, Blake In Hockey Hall Of Fame

TORONTO (CP) — President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League was among 10 enshrined Saturday in the Hockey Hall of Fame but another of the group was conspicuous by his absence.

Missing was Ted Lindsay, firey veteran of 17 years in the NHL with Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks. Ted Lindsay, 40-year-old Lindsay boycotted the Hall of Fame luncheon rather than attend without his family.

The luncheon is an all-male gathering each year at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Lindsay was attending a graduation day at the hockey school he operates at Port Huron, Mich.

"THEY DESERVE IT"

"If my family can't share in this I won't go," Lindsay said.

Others elected to the Hall to fame were Montreal Canadiens' coach Hector (Toe) Blake and former players Frank Brimsek, Butch Bouchard, Elmer Lach, Ted Kennedy, Babe Pratt, Max Bentley and Ken Reardon.

Campbell, born in Flemington, Sask., became NHL president in 1946. He helped in the expansion of the league and the organizing of an NHL pension program.

Blake, a native of Victoria, B.C., is a veteran of the Montreal Canadiens' organization—as player and coach.

Kennedy, born in Humberton, Ont., became a professional with Toronto Maple Leafs at 17. He retired at 30 after playing on five Stanley Cup teams and twice winning the Bickie Memorial Trophy as outstanding leaf player. He was also a winner of the Hart Trophy as the most gentlemanly player in the NHL.

SCORED 623 POINTS

Lach, born in Nokomis, Sask., played 14 years with Canadiens. He scored 215 goals and had 408 assists in 664 regular-season games, and 19 goals and 45 assists in 76 playoff games.

Brimsek, an American, was born in Eveleth, Minn. A goaltender for Boston Bruins from 1938 to 1948, he twice won the Vezina trophy.

Bentley, born in Delisle, Sask., played 646 regular league games with Chicago Black Hawks and the Leafs, scoring 245 goals and 299 assists.

Bouchard, born in Montreal, was three times an all-star defenceman with Canadiens.

Pratt, born in Stoney Mountain, Man., played hockey for 26 years and was already an established star when acquired as a defenceman by Leafs from New York Rangers.

Reardon, born in Winnipeg, was one of several NHL stars whose careers were broken by the Second World War. He was named to four all-star teams in a career that led him to an executive post with the Canadiens.

Lindsay, one of the most colorful players in NHL history, was born in Renfrew, Ont. He played from 1944 to 1960, then came out of retirement in 1964 to play one more successful season with the Wings.

REMEMBER WHEN . . .

Cliff Lumsdon of Toronto won the annual 15-mile marathon swim at the Canadian National Exhibition 16 years ago today—in 1950—for the second time in succession. Lumsdon came in third the following year but won again in 1952.

Blanche Hogg Stamps Lose Fifth Game In Sixth Start Saturday

SUMMERSIDE — Blanche Hogg copped the Women's Club Championship Medal Play here over the weekend with a 36-hole score of 178 for the low gross.

Miss C. MacDonald took second low gross with a score of 191.

Mabel Farris had low net of 148, and Norma MacFarlane scored the second low net, 152.

Nationals Beat Pistons 7-6

Tempers were at full tilt Saturday in Borden, as the Borden Legion eked out a 7-6 decision over the Canadian Tire Pistons. The game threatened to break out several times, with one player being ejected from the game.

Winning pitcher for the Legion was Dale MacWilliams who gave up twelve hits, walked eight, struck out three, compared to losing pitcher Dick Murley who gave up eight hits, struck out five, walked one.

Lorne Doiron and Les Affleck had home runs for the Pistons. The Pistons were trailing by four runs going into the top of the ninth. They struck for three runs only to have the fire put out as Gordie Bowtle was called out at home on a hot and disputed call.

The downfall of the Pistons was leaving too many players stranded on the bases.

Leading batters for the losers were Dennis Flannigan and Donnie Dunn, 24 and 25 respectively. Les Affleck played a strong two-way game over the Pistons along with Dunn.

Next game of the series will be played at QCHS diamond this coming Saturday September 3 at 3:00 p.m. If necessary a game will follow the first to decide the Intermediate "C" champions for the Island.

Top batter for the Nationals were Earl MacDonald, with three hits one of which was a home run; Dale MacWilliams and L. Smith with two hits apiece.

Tignish Midgets Are Champs

TIGNISH — Tignish Midgets emerged Island Baseball Champions in a round robin series at Tignish on Sunday afternoon, sponsored by the Royal Canadian Legion provincial command.

Ball fans saw baseball action in all its glory with exceptional fine hitting by Tignish. A large crowd was in attendance, including Hammond Douglas of Mt. Stewart, president of the Legions Baseball Committee.

Charlottetown Midgets went down to defeat to 6-4 in the opening game when Mickey Fraser led off with a homer for Tignish. Pat Cormier pitched for the home team and Murphy for Charlottetown. Cormier had 3 strikeouts and Murphy also had eight. In the second game Souris Midgets defeated Charlottetown 3-5 in a close game. It was Eric White all the way for Souris and John White for Charlottetown. E. White had four strikeouts and eight hits while Charlottetown had eight strikeouts and nine hits. The final game of play saw Tignish topple Souris to the tune of 7-2. Harvey Lyers pitched to the bottom of the fourth and gave up three hits and had eight strikeouts. Pat Cormier, replacing Myers, gave up no hits and had five strikeouts. White for Souris gave up eleven hits and struck out one. Michael Broderick hit a three run homer in the third for Tignish. Fred Ready, Tignish hit a homer in the fourth.

Coach for Tignish is Gerald Keough, for Charlottetown Carl MacQuaid, and Souris Eugene MacDonald.

100 Golfers Tee Off For Big Money Wednesday

SOUTHPORT, England (CP) — One-hundred golfers from 20 countries tee off Wednesday for the biggest cash prizes in the golf world and the smart money is on U.S. Open champion Billy Casper to pick up the $55,000 first-place cheque.

The bookies made Casper the 4-to-1 favorite for the Carling World Golf Championship, a three-year-old tournament over 72 holes of medal play with $200,000 in prize money.

Casper, once regarded as merely a great putter but too fat and ungainly to master the long hitters, has changed his entire world in the last two years. Allergic to certain foods, the Californian has since taken to bear meat, moose meat—anything involving game. He has trimmed down and now combines an all-around game hard to match.

The 4-to-1 figure on Casper in such a large field was regarded in eloquent British golf circles as somewhat ridiculous. But there it is, largely because Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, the 1966 British Open champion, will be among the missing.

The Palmer-Nicklaus duo was a victim of golf management which had them tied up for other appearances ahead of time.

LEMA MISSING

Another big name missing is the defending 1965 champion, Tony Lema. The 32-year-old Lema, who coupled his World title with the British Open crown in 1964 for the biggest two-year record he ever compiled as a touring professional, was killed in an air crash late last month.

Aside from these names, the cream of the world crop is listed to compete in the medal play to compete in the medal play against Birkdale's rugged 7,037-yard, par-73 course where Palmer once won the British Open and Peter Thomson of Australia picked up three of his five open titles.

The strong American contingent dominates the field, chosen by zones on the basis of merit.

WAS TOP-CANADIAN

Canada sends nine players led by George Knudson of Toronto. Last year Knudson enjoyed the most successful season of any Canadian in the history of professional golf, with total earnings of more than $47,000.

The other Canadians are Mo Norman of Kitchener, Ont., Len Panasuk of Windsor, Ont., Len Harvey of Winnipeg, Bob Rose of Toronto, Jack Bissinger of St. Lambert, Que., Will Egan of St. Eustache, Que., Will Egan of Yorkton, Sask., the 1965 Canadian PGA champion, and Ed Ross of Victoria, B.C. Britain provides 25, Asia is represented by seven and there are seven from Europe as well. From Australia and New Zealand come 11 professionals and the remainder of the field includes eight from Latin America and a like number from Africa.

McDonald Holds Golf Crown

By BOB PARKINS

BRANDON, Man. (CP) — A series of missed birdie putts brought Wayne McDonald of Oakville, Ont., a 5 and 3 victory over Tom Moryson of Port Hammond, B.C. Saturday in the 36-hole final for the Canadian Junior golf championship.

McDonald made experience pay in the afternoon round after finishing the first 18 even with his 16-year-old opponent.

And Moryson, playing in his first national championship, missed five birdie putts—including four in a row on the front nine—before conceding the 33rd hole and the match to McDonald.

The match was played over the 6,150-yard, par-35-70 Brandon Golf and Country Club course.

McDonald, who at 18 has been in three Canadian championships, showed more poise before a gallery of about 400 as he went 2 up after 21 holes, faded to 1 up on the 25th when he took three strokes to reach the green, and then watched Moryson miss a birdie putt and put a second shot behind a tree to make the last turn 3 up.

Moryson outdistanced McDonald of most tees but perfectly-played irons erased that margin.

Over the first 18 it was McDonald who had problems with birdie putts. Fresh from 5 and 4 and 5 and 3 victories in quarter-semi-final play, he was just erratic enough on the greens to leave Moryson in range.

Moryson spilled medalist Peter Turner of Toronto on the 19th hole to reach the final.

On the 13th hole, McDonald chipped to within 18 inches of the pin, for a 2-up lead, but Moryson bounced back to take the 14 and 15 before having the last three holes of the round.

Moryson did manage to win the 28th when McDonald's approach shot strayed through some branches, but on the 29th he caught a sand trap just in front of the green and McDonald won with a par to move 3 up again.

The clincher came on hole 33 when both players overshoot the green but Moryson missed a six-foot birdie putt after his recovery while McDonald was good on one of eight feet to go 4 up.
