To Discuss Civil Defence Problems At Ottawa Feb. 20

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 - (CP) - Representatives of the provincial governments have been asked to meet with federal authorities here Feb. 20 to discuss such things as the division of financial responsibility for civilian defence. Defence Minister Claxton said last night in the Commons.

The provinces, he said, have agreed that the agency for action in civil defence must be the local municipal authority. But one question of concern is the division of financial responsibility for special equipment needed by civil defence organizations.

Arrangements were being made for co-ordination of civil defence activities with the United States. Maj.-Gen. G. R. Peakes, V.C. (PC - Nanaimo) later suggested that civil defence might better be handled by some other Minister since Mr. Claxton already was burdened with the heavy responsibilities of his own department.

Gen. Peakes said the country would make "no real progress" until the provinces and the municipalities knew how much of the cost was going to be borne by the federal government and what their share would be.

LONDON, Feb. 6 - (Reuters) - Britain spent $3,345,400 on American coal up to Jan. 22, Hugh Gaitskell, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said today. He told the House of Commons that the National Coal Board, which runs the state-owned coal industry, was authorized to buy up to 1,200,000 tons of coal from the U. S. to help Britain over a fuel crisis.

Business Meeting - Preceding the address by Very Rev. Fr. McLellan, the business meeting was held with the reading and approval of minutes of January meetings, by the Recording Secretary, Mrs. Fred Steele.

Correspondence submitted by Mrs. E. McTague included letters from: Rev. M. Superior, N.D.A., invitation to exercises, commemorative Beatification of Margaret Bourgeois, founder of N. Ch'town C.W.L. Monthly Meeting

The February meeting of Charlottetown sub-division C. W. L., which was held last evening, was of exceptional interest, featuring as it did very Rev. Alexander McLellan, C.S.R., Rector of the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer, as guest speaker.

Mrs. Lorne L. Noonan, the president, was in the chair and prayer was recited by the director, Rev. P. F. McDonald. Following the piano rendition of "O Canada", by Miss Marion Dougan, the speaker was introduced by the Reverend Director, who expressed appreciation of the presence of Father McLellan, and the privilege accorded the members of the sub-division in having him address them, at a time, when as the newly appointed rector of the Redemptorist Church, many duties crowded the moments every day.

The speaker, who, incidentally is a native of Inverness, Cape Breton, thanked the League for the invitation to address the meeting.

The subject chosen was along the lines of character building, and the various influences in developing it. Speaking of the progress of science during the past years, he said our forefathers would be aghast at the progress of the modern scientific world, for instance, radio, the harnessing of electricity, etc. He deplored the misuse of some things in science.

There was something wrong in the application of these discoveries. Moral progress has not kept in step with physical progress.

Character, said the speaker, must not be confused with personality. Its basic qualities must be through a life lived according to Christian principles and good ethics. The various influences to develop character were cited, the factor of heredity and its tendencies, environment, with its influence for good, or vice-versa, education in the acquiring of good habits, which become automatic through practice.

Speaking of the training of the young, he noted the tendency of today to make everything smooth - to learn without effort, the growing up as it were, without any idea of discipline. This latter must be exercised from the earliest years of the child, if character is to be rightly developed.

People, he said, were reluctant to change habits of thinking, but even though matured, the mind should not be closed to the progress of one's own personality. Investigators have proved that adults, who have the ambition and the motive of attaining strength of character, can develop personality, and build up will power with the years.

The speaker, in conclusion, spoke of the work done by the C. W. L., a nation-wide organization, in the many and varied endeavors for which it stands, along educational, charitable, and spiritual lines, and commended the members for their active co-operation in all good works.

A vote of thanks for the very excellent address was moved by Mrs. K. Creamer and seconded by Mrs. P. LeClair, the presentation being made by the president, who added a sincere word of personal appreciation.

A delightful vocal solo "Boy of Mine", by Mrs. Arthur Murray, with Miss Dougan, accompanist, was followed by "The King". Refreshments were served and a social hour followed, interspersed with musical selections by Miss Marion Dougan. The tea hostesses were Mrs. E. McTague, Mrs. F. Steele, Mrs. J. Pollard, Mrs. J. L. McGuigan, Mrs. J. Coetello.

and prevention of diseases, and asking co-operation in making 1951 a health year; Miss I. Arsenault, Provincial C.W.L. secretary, re P.W.C. Alumni records; Mr. W. R. Maitland, manager, Canadian Bank of Commerce, appreciation of donation to "March of Dimes".

Business from correspondence included the voting of $25.00 toward Musical Festival Association scholarship. The sum of $10.00 was voted toward the relief of the fire victims. One hundred copies of the pamphlet "Evaluation of Comics" is being sent for to be placed where needed.

The financial statement presented by the treasurer, Miss E. Vessey, showed a satisfactory balance, and all bills were voted to be paid.

Reports were presented by conveners as follows: Blue Cross, Mrs. R. J. McDonald; Book Review, Mrs. K. Creamer; Social Service, Mrs. S. Trainor; Magazine, Mrs. A. McKinnon; Sick Visiting, Mrs. P. LeClair; Ways and Means, Mrs. J. L. McGuigan; Girl Guides, Mrs. A. Murray; Program, Miss M. Dougan; Press, Mrs. Frank Murray.

Active work is being accomplished along all lines reported. Boxes of clothing have been made ready at welfare headquarters and distributed where needed. A large carton of clothing was packed and sent to the fire victims. 25 knitted articles were finished at sewing room and given to needy children. The convener appealed for more workers.

The Basilica Guides have been busy making money for the Company's needs, and a successful sale of candy was reported by the convener.

The convener of ways and means reported a successful rummage sale recently and asked all to assist in making the forthcoming pantry sale a success also. The dates of same will be duly advertised.

The meeting heard with regret of the illness of two members. The Reverend Director expressed his appreciation of the good work which is being accomplished by the members, and of the splendid business manner in which meetings are conducted.

Centennial Of N. S. Emigration To New Zealand

By J. C. Graham Canadian Press Correspondent AUCKLAND, N. Z., Feb. 6 - (CP) - While Scots in Nova Scotia are preparing this year to commemorate the centenary of the departure of highland settlers for the southern dominions, the people of Waipua here are raising money for a memorial to the settlers who founded the town in 1853.

Waipua, centre of a thriving farming district in the Northern peninsula of New Zealand, is still largely inhabited by descendants of the Scottish pioneers who sailed under Rev. Norman McLeod from Nova Scotia a century ago.

To mark the centenary, the people of Waipua will erect a museum and rest room in the centre of the town. It will be a building of the kind the settlers built during their 30-year sojourn in Nova Scotia. The walls will be of limestone, the roof of grey slats and at one end will be a broad fireplace with the crane, cauldron and firebricks which the housewife of the time knew so well.

In the building will be documents, photographs and charts brought by the settlers. Under photographs of the six original ships, which the settlers built in Nova Scotia - the Margaret, Highland Lass, Breadalbane, Gertrude, Spray and Ellen Lewis - will be the names of the travellers and their descendants. Also kept in a roll of honor will be the names of those who have died in the wars. Films of the centenary celebrations will bring the museum's record of 100 years up to date.

The history of the pioneers is largely the history of Rev. Norman McLeod, who in 1817 disagreed with the Church of Scotland and left with his friends for Nova Scotia. There they lived for 30 years and among them his word was law.

At the age of 71 he led his people on again to Australia and later to New Zealand. In August of this year the Scots who stayed in Nova Scotia will commemorate the departure of the first ship, the Margaret, from St. Ann's Harbor. It is expected that representatives of the people of Waipua will attend.

The Scots did not find Australia to their liking and early in 1853, the first 140 landed at Waipua. By 1860, 867 had arrived. The Scots will thus mark the centenary of the migration at New Year, 1953, over a year after the celebrations in Nova Scotia. They plan as part of the commemoration to renew links with their kin who remained in Nova Scotia.

Are Islanders Navy Lukewarm?

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 - Ninety-three per cent of the officers and men serving in the destroyer H. M. C. S. Nootka, which recently joined United Nations naval forces in Korean waters, are from the six eastern provinces of Canada, according to figures released today by Naval Headquarters.

Of the 235 officers and men serving in the ship, 237 were shown as coming from Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland. This was attributed to the fact that the navy, insofar as possible, assigns non-officer personnel whose homes are in Eastern Canada to East Coast ships and establishments.

The Nootka was based at Halifax before being despatched to the Far East.

Figures based on the home addresses given on enlistment show that 134, more than half the ship's company, came from cities and towns in Ontario. Nova Scotia has the next largest representation with 48, and many of the married men from all provinces have since made their homes in Halifax, Dartmouth or other communities near the East Coast naval base.

Of the remainder, 27 are from Quebec, 24 from New Brunswick, eight from Newfoundland, eight from British Columbia, five from Saskatchewan, the same number from Prince Edward Island, three from Alberta, and two from Manitoba.

On the other hand, the crews of the first three destroyers to go to the Far East - the Cayuga, Sioux and Athabaskan - were mostly westerners, 80 per cent of the officers and men in the Esquimaux-based ships hailing from B. C. and the three prairie provinces.

This exchange of amenities before the House got down to business and I think something of the kind might be followed when our own Legislature meets," Premier Jones said.

While in Toronto, the Premier attended the meetings of the Canadian Holstein Breeders Association and the Ontario Cattle Breeders Association, and a national conference on rehabilitation of handicapped persons. The first named meeting, held in the Royal York Hotel, was attended by about 1,500 breeders from all parts of the Dominion. There was also a very large attendance at the flower show and dance which followed.

During a short visit to Ottawa, he discussed matters of Island interest generally with Hon. Mr. Howe and Hon. Mr. Gardiner, but said he had nothing definite to report on these conversations. He was satisfied that the Island would receive a share of defense if the present situation deteriorated to a support price.

Premier Jones is returning to Ottawa next week, to take part in discussions relating to Dominion Provincial highway projects.

3:07 P.M. E. S. T., stopped at Newark and then headed for South Amherst, not far from here. The railroad said the train crew was a veteran regular crew.

Engineer A. H. Fitzsimmons was at the controls as the Brcker high-balled through the blackness of early night above the glistening lights of this industrial section of New Jersey.

It was not plain what happened.

At Top Speed

A Pennsylvania Railroad official said the train of red coaches was rocking along at top speed. He did not estimate it in miles per hour, but the engine cleared the trestle by about three car lengths. Then in a flash of sparks and with a roar it left the rails and hit the street below. With it went five of the cars, tumbling and telescoping into each other along the muddy side of the embankment.

There was panic in some of the splintered coaches. In others, passengers staggered, their chalk-white faces reflecting the sudden terror of the tragedy.

With the jagged hills "loaded with Reds" according to an intelligence officer, the Communists sent at least three Russian-made tanks trundling out into the battlegrounds for the first time in the current Allied drive.

Bitter Resistance

It was the second straight day that the raiders had been shooting up Communist rear areas on daring behind-the-lines attacks.

AP war correspondent Jim Becker in a dispatch from Anyang said the two Allied columns ran into bitter resistance.

One Red tank and self-propelled anti-tank guns fired on an armored task force that pushed about five miles northwest of Anyang.

The other task force pressing northeast of Anyang gained two miles before retiring to defensive positions. This column fought the heaviest day in retaking ground it had given up voluntarily Monday. Communists had infiltrated the area Monday night.

East of Anyang, a Red counter-attack was launched early Tuesday 11 miles northeast of Kungyangiang. The U. S. Eighth Army communique said the enemy attack tapered off and the Allies restored lost positions.

The Communists in the west were striking back with anti-aircraft fire at the heavy aerial attacks from air force and naval planes.

The Allied tactics in the west were being repeated on the central front in the same "seek and kill" pattern.

"When our patrols make contact with withdrawal and call in the air and artillery," a division commander on the central front said.

U. N. Tactics - One staff officer on the central front expressed as well as anyone what the over-all U. N. tactics now are. He said: "We are no longer interested as much in Korea real estate as we are in maximum (enemy) casualties."

And the Eighth Army reported mounting enemy casualties. Lt.-Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway told correspondents at his Eighth Army headquarters that Communist losses in some engagements since the offensive began last Jan. 25 had been at the ratio of 100 Reds to one U. N. soldier. He reported that guerrilla activity - the greatest rear area menace since Allied troops landed in Korea is now at its lowest ebb of the war.

Ridgway's headquarters asserted that Chinese and North Koreans have suffered 45,223 casualties from ground and air action from Jan. 25 through Monday, Feb. 5. Announced casualties inflicted by ground forces on the Reds Monday was 8,008.

Little Theatre To Present Play Next Week

The result of approximately fifteen weeks of hard work will be seen by the public next week when the Little Theatre Guild of Charlottetown presents its production "Papa Is All" for advertisement by the English actor, Robert Newton.

The cast of six talented members of the Guild have been chosen to represent this enterprising group in competition with the rest of the Dominion, and although their production of this comedy by Patterson Green received high praise when presented for Guild members in October, have been working steadily since Christmas to perfect their performances.

Mrs. J. P. Millar, director of the group in this production, is well known throughout the Province for her excellent adjudications in past P.E.I. Drama Festivals. The cast includes Esther Pletch as "Mama", H. Barry Bugden as "Mrs. Yoder", Hilda Pickard as "Emma", Arthur MacLean as "Jake" and Sterling Walker as "Brendel."

thus by stating that 16 of them were duplexes and consequently housed two families.

He continued by saying there were 137 families with city water supply, 123 families with septic tanks, and 5 families rely upon their neighbors for water supply. Families with homes having septic tanks total 202, and 63 have privies. The total valuation of property in Parkdale is $248,271.

Mr. Connolly also made the suggestion the community consider the purchase of the Connolly estate, situated near the cemetery, for use as a community playground.

Following a brief discussion on the improvements necessary to the accommodations and equipment of the fire department for competent fire fighting, it was moved that the fire department bring in an estimate of finances necessary in order that this might be used as a basis in arriving at a tax rate for the village.

Will Wage War On Warble Fly

A campaign to destroy the warble fly this year will be organized by the Prince Edward Island Federation of Agriculture, it was learned yesterday afternoon from Mr. Lincoln Dewar, secretary of the Federation.

The Federation's livestock committee will meet Friday afternoon to lay the ground work for the campaign which will be launched right away.

The warble fly has been hindering the cattle industry for years and Mr. Dewar estimates that during the past year this fly caused losses in Canada amounting to about $30,000,000.

The losses are caused in various ways. The fly is fairly large and often causes a reduction in milk production. Injury to the udder and inability of the animal to take on flesh by chasing the cows. It also causes injuries to the animals hides.

The campaign to combat the warble fly will be organized on a school district basis. It will be divided into three sections, educational, promotional and actual killing of the fly.

The first treatment will be applied during the latter part of March and another treatment will be given about a month later. Sometimes a third treatment is given but it is thought that two will be sufficient.

Members of the livestock committee include: Messrs. Gordon MacMillan, Cornwall, E.A. Profit, Freetown, Alex. Hamilton, New Perth, Roland MacDonald, Southport and J. L. Dewar.

The problem has been the cause of growing concern here for the past few years and at most agricultural meetings resolutions were passed recommending assistance in controlling the fly.
