SALLY DOWS,

An After-War Romance OF THE SOUTH.

BY BRET HARTE.

COPYRIGHT, 1892, BY THE AUTHOR.

Col. Courtland did not reply. The face of the dead young officer coming toward him out of the blue smoke rose as vividly as on that memorable day. The pictures and letters he had taken from the dead man's breast, which he had retained ever since; the romantic and fruitless quest he had made for the fair original in after days, and the strange and fateful interest in her which had grown up in his heart since then, he now knew had only been lulled to sleep in the busy preoccupation of the last six months, for it all came back to him with redoubled force. His present mission and its practical object, his honest zeal in its pursuit and the cautious skill and experience had brought to it, all seemed to be suddenly displaced by this romantic and unreal fantasy. Oddly enough, it appeared now to be the only reality in his life—the rest was an incoherent, purposeless dream.

COURTLAND LOOKED UP RECOVERING HIS USUAL CALM.

"Is—is—Miss Sally married?" he asked, collecting himself with an effort.

"Married? Yes, to that farm of her aunt's! I reckon that's the only thing she cares for."

Courtland looked up, recovering his usual cheerful calm. "Well, I think that after luncheon I'll pay my respects to her husband! From what you have just told me the farm is certainly an experiment worth seeing. I suppose your father will have no objection to giving me a letter to Miss Dows."

CHAPTER II.

NEVERTHELESS as Col. Courtland rode deliberately toward "Dows' Folly"—as the new experiment was locally called—although he had not abated his romantic enthusiasm in the least, he was not sorry that he was able to visit under a practical pretext. It was rather late now to seek out Miss Sally Dow with the avowed intention of bringing her a letter from an admirer who had been dead three years, and whose memory she had probably buried. Neither was it tactful to recall a sentiment which might have been a weakness of which she was ashamed. Yet, clear-headed and logical as Courtland was in his ordinary affairs, he was nevertheless not entirely free from that peculiar superstition which surrounds every man's romance. He believed there was something more than a mere coincidence in his unexpectedly finding himself in such favorable conditions for making her acquaintance. For the rest—if there was any rest—he would simply trust to fate. And so, believing himself a cool, sagacious reasoner, but being actually, as far as Miss Dows was concerned, as blind, fatuous and unreasoning as any of her previous admirers, he rode complacently forward until he reached the lane that led to the Dows plantation.

Here a better kept roadway and fence, whose careful repair would have delighted Drummond, seemed to augur well for the new enterprise. Presently even the old-fashioned local form of the fence—a slanting zig-zag—gave way to the more direct line of post and rail, in the northern fashion. Beyond it, presently appeared a long, low frontage of modern buildings which to Courtland's surprise were entirely new in structure and design. There was no reminiscence of the usual southern porticoed gable or columns and veranda. Yet it was not northern either. The factory-like outlines of facade were partly hidden in Cherokee rose and jessamine. A long, roofed gallery connected the buildings and became a veranda to one. A broad, well-rolled gravel drive led from the open gate to the newest building which seemed to be an edifice; a smaller path diverged from it to the corner house, which, despite its severe simplicity, had a more residential appearance. Unlike Reed's house there were no lounging servants or field hands to be seen; they were evidently attending to their respective duties. Dismounting, Courtland tied his horse to a post at the office door and took the smaller path to the corner house.

Nineteen Boxes.

BRANTFORD, March 20.—The Expositor last week published an article on the case of Archie Rymal, of this city, which has caused considerable excitement in Brantford and district. It appears Mr. Rymal has had more than his share of suffering during the past few years, so far was he run down from kidney disease that he had lost the power of his limbs and back. He could only get around with the aid of two crutches, or when assisted by kind hands. His death was daily expected. On the advice of his wife he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, and took in all nineteen boxes. His improvement was marked from the second box. He is now completely cured, and a living testimony of the curative powers of that wonderful remedy.

"Oh, for the age of chivalry!" sighed Chappie. "Why so?" queried Hickley. "The knights used to wear tin trousers, and they never bagged at the knees."

Dr. G. C. Osgood, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
Dr. J. F. Kincheloe, Conway, Ark.

H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

The Telephone Company OF P. E. ISLAND.

PARTIES using the Telephones would find talking much more satisfactory if they would observe the following rules:—

1st. Speak with the mouth about four inches from the transmitter.

2nd. Speak in a moderate tone of voice, not too loud and distinctly.

3rd. Place the telephone so as to cover the ear, just as if you wished to shut out all other sounds. Do not press too hard on the ear.

It is possible to talk and be heard when standing back two or three feet from the transmitter, if you shout loud enough, but it is not a pleasant mode of conversation, is entirely unnecessary, and is a useless waste of wind and lungs, besides being very annoying to all within range of your voice.

MRS. EMMA BOW, Waterville, Maine.

Physicians and so-called Dyspepsia Cures failed to give any benefit.

Groder's Botanic Dyspepsia Syrup Brought relief and a permanent cure.

To the Dyspepsia Cure Co.

GENTLEMEN: For four years, I have had a complicated stomach and liver trouble. THE Blood would rush to my head causing palpitation of the heart so badly that I fainted many times. After I had tried the best physicians, and two of the leading sarsaparillas, without receiving any lasting benefit, I was recommended to try your Dyspepsia Syrup. KIND One bottle did me so much good that I determined to buy six, under your guarantee to cure me or refund my five dollars. But FOUR bottles accomplished a complete cure and I am again in perfect THAT health; FREE FROM CONSTIPATION; NO RUSH OF BLOOD TO THE HEAD; NO PALPITATION OF THE HEART AND A RAVENOUS APPETITE. I sleep nicely and am growing fleshier than I would like to. Your medicine is SWEET and PALATABLE, far more pleasant than any of the many CURES remedies I have tried, AND IT CURES. I will gladly answer any inquiry concerning this statement. Yours respectfully,

MRS. EMMA BOW.
