

A YEAR and a half have rolled away; and the DAILY EXAMINER still lives.

Indeed it may now be truly said that the DAILY EXAMINER is one of the "institutions" of the Province.

An appetite for a daily paper has been formed; and, judging by the increasing sales of the DAILY EXAMINER in the city, along the line of railway, and in the various towns throughout the Province, it is doubtful if the people could live without their daily paper.

Hard though the times and dark the prospect of the coming winter, it is our intention to continue the publication of the DAILY EXAMINER, so that the popular demand may be supplied.

Throughout the winter we intend to supply to the public, by means of the DAILY EXAMINER, a daily telegram containing news of all the notable events which shall transpire throughout the world in this great crisis of its history.

Through the DAILY EXAMINER the people of the Island shall—from day to day—and, independently of the Northern Light or Muttart and Irving—be informed of what is transpiring in Afghanistan, in Russia, in Germany, in the neighboring Republic, and most important of all—in the mother country.

We shall, if possible, send a special correspondent to report for the DAILY EXAMINER the Parliamentary proceedings at Ottawa, with special reference to those which most directly and most deeply interest the people of this Island.

The local news shall be given through the DAILY EXAMINER promptly, truly and as full as possible.

For the large means required to carry out this work we look to the people who want the DAILY EXAMINER will supply, and whose varied interests we shall assiduously endeavor to promote.

The original subscribers of the DAILY EXAMINER will, in the course of a few days, be called upon for a renewal of their favors.

The beginning of another term is a good time to subscribe; and persons who have not hitherto taken the DAILY EXAMINER would do well to subscribe now.

In connection with the DAILY EXAMINER the WEEKLY EXAMINER will be issued, at the unprecedentedly low subscription price of ONE DOLLAR a year—payment to be made in advance.

Mr. Bridges.

THE Moncton "Times" formulates sixteen separate and distinct charges against the present General Superintendent of Government Railways—"any one of which is sufficient for the decapitation of a much more important official than he." It says: "When Mr. Brydges is dismissed he will be dismissed for cause, and his case will not form a precedent which any honest official need dread."

Genealogical Tree of the Campbells.

About the year A. D. 1066, Paul O'Dwin, the Celtic laird of Loch-owe, had a daughter Eva, who married a Norman Baron called Gillespie Kemble or Caimbeul, from whom descended in a direct line Sir Archibald Campbell, of Loch-owe, whose son Sir Colin was called Caillein Mor, or Colin the Great, the founder of the house of Argyll, after whom the Duke of Argyll is called by the patronymic of Mac Caillein Mor, not Mac callam Mor, as erroneously stated by Sir Walter Scott. From Caillein Mor the Genealogy is as follows:—

- Sir Colin Mor, about A. D. 1293.
Sir Nigel or Niel, who married Mary Bruce.
Sir Colin of Loch-owe.
Sir Archibald of Kilmun.
Sir Colin married Lady Margaret.
Sir Duncan, 1st Lord of Argyll, married Marjory Stewart of Albany.
Archibald, who died before his father.
Archibald, 2nd Lord of Argyll, married Isabel McDougall of Lorne, and took the title of Lord Lorne, and 1st Earl of Argyll.
Archibald, 2nd Earl of Argyll, married Elizabeth Stewart.
Colin, 3rd Earl of Argyll.
Archibald, 4th Earl of Argyll.
Archibald, 5th Earl.
Sir Colin of Boquham, 6th Earl.
Archibald, 7th Earl.
Archibald, 8th Earl, created Marquis, beheaded by Charles II.
Archibald, 9th Earl, beheaded in 1685.
Archibald, 10th Earl, created 1st Duke in 1868. John Campbell of Lamore.
John, 2nd Duke. Archibald, 3rd Duke.
John, 4th Duke.
John, 5th Duke.
George William, 6th Duke, died 1839.
John, 7th Duke, died 1847.
George Douglas, 8th Duke.
John, Marquis of Lorne, Governor General of Canada. Lord Archibald.
Lord Colin.

THE GOVERNOR GENERAL.

MORE ABOUT THE RECEPTION

(Clippings from Exchanges.)

AFTER the oaths had been duly administered and taken, the positions of parties were changed. His Excellency the Administrator vacated the Throne, which was taken by His Excellency the Governor General. The Governor General was congratulated by H. R. H. the Duke of Edinburgh. Sir John A. McDonald then shook hands with the Governor General and made his bow to the Duke of Edinburgh and the Princess Louise. After which Sir John introduced each member of the Cabinet to the Governor General, and each shook hands with him, and paid his respects to H. R. H. the Duke of Edinburgh and H. R. H. the Princess Louise. While this was in progress a salute from the Citadel was fired, and all the church bells in the city rang out a merry peal.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S FIRST WORDS TO CANADA.

To the address of the Corporation of Halifax, the Governor General responded as follows, reading in a clear voice and apparently with much feeling:—

Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen of the Corporation of Halifax:—

I thank you as the representative of Her Majesty the Queen, and in her name, for the loyal words contained in your address, which expresses well the sentiments of devotion to her Throne and person which have ever characterized the people of the Provinces of British North America, and which I am persuaded are no where more truly felt and more universally shared than in this city, the capital of the ancient colony of Nova Scotia. Your community has been, I may say, already long associated with the history of the family of our Gracious Sovereign, for it was here that H. R. H. the Duke of Kent passed many years of a soldier's life. It is to your city that two of his grandchildren come to-day. You have with you—I regret for only a short time—the Prince who has made honored the profession of a seaman in every quarter of the globe he has already had the opportunity of serving her Majesty. He has already visited North America, and let us hope that when he again comes, the occasion may be made more auspicious by the presence of Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Edinburgh. In no part of the British Empire are the perils and honor of the naval profession better understood than on the shores of Nova Scotia; for here, although much attention is given to the successful cultivation of land and to the miner's art, the danger of the sea is braved, as on the coast of the other Maritime Provinces of this great country, by thousands of intrepid seamen. Its pathless fields are made the highways of commerce by your hardy sailors; its wealth is gathered by your gallant fishermen, and the arts of navigation are familiar to many among your populations. Although sons of the Sovereign have before this day visited these shores, this is the first occasion on which a daughter of the reigning House has seen the new world. I rejoice that the Princess lands on this continent among a people so loyal and so truly worthy the British name as are the inhabitants of this famous colony, and I speak but feebly for her when I say that she is much moved by the kindness of your welcome. For my own part I thank you for the flattering manner in which you have spoken of my acceptance of this high office, and I can only hope that I shall in some measure be able to follow in the footsteps of your late Governor-General. I shall at all events entertain the greatest solicitude for the welfare of this Province. I will add, in conclusion, that the congratulations you have addressed to us, the hearty and enthusiastic loyalty shown in our reception made the day on which we enter your noble harbor—the hospitable and ever open gate of your Province, and of the wide Dominion beyond—a day to remain long in our grateful remembrance; and I can assure you we consider ourselves most fortunate in having cast in our lots with so generous and devoted people.

THE DRAWING ROOM. The Government House was crowded to excess last night, on the occasion of the Drawing Room. The entrances, stairways, reception and other rooms, were crowded to excess. The dresses were rich in the extreme, and generally showed much taste and good judgment on the part of their wearers or their dressmakers. They were all low cut, and exhibited the shoulders of their wearers. Light shades of green in silks, satins, and tarlatans were with young ladies and rich silks and satin of darker shades for the more elderly. The ladies were first shown up stairs where their outer garments were checked, and then made their way to the reception room as best they could. The first room entered was the Ball-room, at the south-west of the building, at one end of which, separated from the main hall, a string and cornet band from H. M. S. "Bellerophon" was stationed. At ten o'clock, when the dinner party had broken up, the Princess, Duke of Edinburgh, and the Governor-General took up their station on on the reception room at the south east corner of the building. The guests from the Ball-room then entered the suite of rooms leading to reception room. At the exit door of ball-room an officer was stationed, who received one of the three cards each guest carried, and gave any directions that were needed. Passing into the reception room the Aides-de-Camp and Major DeWinton were met standing together in a row. The first took the card and announced the name in a low voice to the servant, at the same time passing the card. This was repeated until it reached the Governor General's Secretary, who announced it in a loud voice, the guest at the time being opposite the Marquis, who answered the bow or courtesy of the guest, whichever it might be. Then a second bow was made to the Princess, and a third to the Duke of Edinburgh, they were standing in this order. These bows were responded to by a slight inclination of the body. The guests in retiring made three steps backwards and passed into the parlor and thence up stairs into the waiting rooms, and thence outside. The ceremony was not as serious a one as was generally conceived by many; and but comparatively few serious mistakes were made; although not many when the ceremony was over could tell what they had seen or done.

THE NORTH BRITISH SOCIETY.

On Saturday evening the pipers of the North British and other Scottish Societies came across from Dartmouth, where they are billeted, and accompanied a large and enthusiastic procession, marched through the streets playing lively airs and soul stirring martial music, ending with "THE CAMPBELLS ARE COMING." The pouring rain only seemed to increase their ardor, as the strains of their pibrochs resounded through the air. Afterwards a committee of the North British Society met representatives from the Caledonia Society of P. E. Island, the Highland Society of Antigonish, and other Scotchmen from outside of Halifax, at the Halifax Hotel, and spent a most interesting evening. Short speeches were made by Col. McGill, Charlottetown; Austin C. McDonald, M. P., King's Co., P. E. I.; McNeil, Summerside; P. E. I.; Donald Fraser, Esq., Cariboo; Roderick McKenzie, Esq., Pictou; James Fraser, Esq., Warden of New Glasgow; Angus McGillivray, Esq., M. P. P., Antigonish; A. McDonald, Esq., Charlottetown, and several others, who SEEMED HIGHLY DELIGHTED with the impromptu hospitality of the Halifax brethren. Hon. William Ross, our old friend Alexander Stephen, Esq., and other prominent members of the North British Society, gave short addresses, welcoming to Halifax, and appropriately referring to the auspicious event which brought so many sons of the heather the city.

THE VICE REGAL TRAIN.

The Vice Regal train left Halifax at 11 a. m. on Wednesday. It stopped at Truro, leaving at 12.52, and arrived at Amherst at 3.10, stopping 11 minutes. It reached Moncton at 4.45, and made a stop of 30 minutes. At 7 p. m. the train arrives at Newcastle, making a brief stay; reaches Campbellton at 10.30, stops 10 minutes, and arrives at Metepadiac at 11.10 p. m. Here the train remains until 10.30 on Thursday morning. It will arrive at River Du Loup at 2 p. m.

AN UNPLEASANT EPISODE.

Despite the general success of the day's proceedings, a bad feeling has been created by the neglect of the carriage committee to provide carriages for the members of the Dominion Government, whereby only Sir John, Dr. Tupper and Mr. Masson took part in the procession—Messrs. Baby, O'Conner, Pope and James McDonald being out in the cold.

SOME PRESENTS.

It is worthy of note that before leaving the "Sarmatian" the Princess presented Captain Aird with a very costly gold casket, and each of the officers and crew with a souvenir as a token of her appreciation of their careful management of the "Sarmatian" on the stormy voyage.

THE Amherst mystery is causing a good deal of interest in the Upper Provinces, judging from the newspaper reports. Friday's Montreal "Star" contains a lengthy and graphic account of the "manifestations," occupying four columns and written by a special correspondent.

The People Want Proof.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtues as BOSCHER'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted, can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that use it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it.
