CONTRACT BRIDGE
By B. JAV BECKER

Partner bids One Spade, next player passes. Both sides are vulnerable and you have a part score of 40. What would you now bid with each of the following five hands?

- ♠A383 ♥KJ952 ♦KJ4 ♣7
- ♠Q52 ♥AK984 ♠AJ2 ♣K6
- ♠K843 ♥5 ♦Q87 ♣AK632
- ♠Q872 ♥AQJ74 ♦82 ♣Q5
- ♠J54 ♥AQ6 ♣KQ82 ♠AJ9

1. Three spades. Partner should be informed that there is a possibility of a slam. With a part score of 40, the three spade bid indicates a hand of approximately opening bid proportions plus a spade fit. The opening bidder is not required to bid again. He continues only when he has sufficient values above a minimum to indicate a slam is possible opposite the strength announced by the responder.

2. A two heart response should not be considered, since this bid does not force partner to bid again, a game contract having been reached.

3. Three hearts. This is a forcing bid compelling the opener to speak again regardless of the quality of his opening bid. The jump-bid response usually starts at 17 points, but there is no ceiling to how strong it can be. The actual strength is identified later. The opening bidder rebids naturally, depending on his distribution and the size of his hand.

4. Two hearts. The hearts should not be bid. A spade fit is already established, and partner should be so informed. A two heart response might be read by partner as indicating a hand with a good heart suit and no support, or little support, for spades. If, by any chance, partner exhibits interest in a slam by bidding again over two spades, the heart suit can then be named.

5. Three notrump. Since two notrump would be a game bid, the three notrump bid amounts to a slam try. The opening bidder is under no compulsion to bid again. If he has a minimum opening bid and his hand permits bid at notrump, he passes.

The three notrump response, with a part score of 40, is very similar to the same bid without a part score. It shows 16 to 18 points, notrump distribution, and strength in the unbid suits.

Welland Canal Users Stage Bitter Anti-Tolls Battle

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—Welland Canal users Wednesday staged a bitter struggle against tolls as the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority held a one-day hearing on proposed ship and cargo charges to finance the $471,000,000 seaway which opens next year.

Witnesses warned that Welland tolls would not only hurt industry in the Niagara area but might affect the whole Canadian economy. They challenged the authority's right to impose such tolls and hinted that court action might result if Welland charges actually are imposed.

Support from Central Ontario industrial and shipping interests and the grain-growing area of the West ranged heavily on the side of the Welland anti-toll fighters but representatives of the Atlantic provinces indicated they would heartily endorse Welland tolls.

APPROVES TOLLS
Howard Mann, manager of the Maritimes Transportation Commission, observed that he was in the minority but stated that his commission approves of the tolls committee Welland Canal recommendations.

Hamilton Mayor Lloyd Jackson said his city viewed the proposed Welland tolls with the "greatest alarm." Expansion of industry in the Hamilton area would be limited. Employment might be affected.

For some 30 years the canal had been free of tolls. To impose them now might invite retaliation from the United States on other connecting links in the Great Lakes.

Dominion Foundries and Steel Limited said the tolls would impose an undue hardship on Ontario steel manufacturing.

Simultaneous hearings were held at Washington. The Seaway Authority now will get together with the U.S. St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation to consider the tolls recommendations before the governments of the two countries sign a firm agreement on joint tolls.

Opposition to Welland ship charges also emerged at Washington. The Buffalo Chamber of Commerce said such tolls would constitute an undue burden on inter-lake shipping.

Complaints also arose from other tolls recommendations as shippers and manufacturers sought to get lower rates for their products.

BULK CARGO
Producers of newsprint, cement, fertilizers, lumber and other products suggested these items should be classified as bulk cargo which would carry less than half the charge of general packaged cargo. The seaway tolls committee has suggested that all domestic packaged cargo get the low 12:00—Here's The Weather and Sign Off

Lands On Power Line But Lives

STAYNER, Ont. (CP)—Morris McLean, a Toronto amateur parachutist, jumped from 2,500 feet on to a high tension power line near here and lived to tell about it.

McLean, 24, an iron worker said he had flown Sunday from the Lake Simcoe Flying Club to pick up a parachute at the Stayner Flying Club in this town 33 miles west of Orillia.

He said that after he jumped the wind dropped and carried him on to the wires instead of over them.

"I landed on a pole and nothing happened until my wrist watch touched one of the four wires," he said. "I was hanging on to a metal bar, trying to get the chute off when the power shot through."

The current burned McLean's left wrist where it entered and his right hand where it grounded out. His wrist watch was also burned away.
