St. Catherine's, Ont.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"For a number of years I have been troubled with a general tired feeling, shortness of breath, pain in the back, and constipation. I could get only little rest at night on account of the pain and had no appetite whatever. I was that tired in my limbs that I gave out before half the day was gone. I tried a great number of medicines but did not get any permanent relief from any source until, upon recommendation of a friend, I purchased a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which made me feel better at once. I have continued its use, having taken three bottles, and

PROFIT IN POULTRY.

HOW TO MAKE MONEY FROM THIS INDUSTRY.

A Warm House Necessary and Good Feed With Plenty of Water—What Accommodation is Required for 25 Fowls.

In the first place, build the poultry house where cold winds of winter will not strike it. Select the sunniest place possible. High and dry, where barns and other outbuildings will protect it. Have it as convenient as practicable to the dwelling, for fowls need more attention than any kind of stock during bad weather, especially in winter. They then need a warm house, good feed and plenty of fresh water.

In order to keep the house warm batten every crack and bank up about the bottom. For banking, drive stakes about eight inches from the outside of the wall. Place old boards inside these. Some distance from the stakes dig a trench and throw the earth between the boards and the wall until a solid bank of soil two feet high and eight inches thick is formed all around the chicken house except at the door. This will keep the floor warm and prevent all draughts. This is an important item as the fowls are on the floor most of the time during the day.

Every farmer should have at least 25 chickens—24 hens and a rooster. For these, a house 10x14 ft. and 7 ft. high under the eaves, is sufficient for both summer and winter. For the frame use 2x4 scantling, cover these on the outside with matched board or ordinary smooth boards and battens. For the roof use good shingles. All the lumber should be smooth on both sides. You can then paint the outside of the house and whitewash the inside.

Some professionals heat their poultry houses with a stove during the coldest days but this is expensive and requires careful manipulation. If the fire gets low or goes out the fowls are apt to take cold and have the roup. If the climate is very cold, sheathe the inside of the house and pack the space between the outer and inner walls with sawdust. Here the harder breeds such as Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, Brahmas, etc., will do well without artificial heat. They will lay all winter. Where the thermometer seldom goes lower than 8° or 10° below zero, a lining of tarred paper is usually sufficient. Never choose a tender large-combed variety of chickens if you live in a cold climate.

Provide large windows for the south side of the house. For 25 fowls place three roost poles across one end. Let them rest on a strip of board nailed to the wall two feet from the floor. A piece of one inch board two inches wide with rounded edges will answer. Place the first one foot from the wall and the other two 1½ ft. apart. These can be removed when the house is being cleaned.

Six nests 10 inches square, two feet from the floor and on the end opposite the roosts, will provide sufficient room for laying. Never place them on the floor of the house. Have a solid partition between each, so that the hens cannot fight. Line with soft straw, never hay. Clean out four times a year and burn the old material. Nests used for setting hens must be cleaned before putting in the eggs and after the chickens are hatched. It is a good plan to sprinkle a little sulphur in the bottom of each nest as there is where lice usually start.

Clean out from under the roosts at least once a week, sweeping the whole house clean. A little land plaster sprinkled about prevents bad odors, adds to the value of the manure and keeps the floor from rotting. The floor should be six inches above the ground, made of dressed and matched lumber. The ground beneath it must be well drained so no water will stand near the house. Make a box 3x4 ft. and one foot high with sides sloping outward. Into this put about three inches of fine gravel. This will take the place of oyster shells and is much better for the fowls. A flock of chickens treated as directed above will be a source of pleasure and one of the most profitable kinds of live stock.

WHITE ASIATIC LILIES.

They Have Great Beauty for Decorative Purposes Especially for Church Altars.

One who will glance over the list of standard lilies now in cultivation in this country will be struck with the fact that very few are natives of America. A large proportion have been brought from Europe and Asia—in fact almost all that come under the head of cultivated lilies, the few purely American species being largely wild, and but little thought of, although their beauty warrants more generous treatment. Among the lilies for which we are indebted to Asia is a group distinguished by its white flowers, Lilium candidum (shown in the accompanying illustration), speciosum and longiflorum. These flowers are worthy of more general cultivation, even, than they now have, because of their great beauty for decorative purposes, great masses of such magnificent white bloom being especially suitable for altar decoration in churches and for decoration elsewhere, where pure white flowers are especially appropriate. Lilium candidum is perhaps as satisfactory to grow as any those mentioned, from the fact that it bears so many blossoms upon one stalk, whereas the others usually bear but one. Such lilies are very attractive when growing in a little cluster by themselves upon a well-kept lawn, their erect stalk and many nodding flowers giving them a very graceful and beautiful appearance against a background of green turf.—American Agriculturist.

Many deaths are reported in Macao, in the Portuguese settlement of China, at the mouth of the Canton River, as the result of the plague which made its appearance there a short time ago. The governor of Hong Kong has refused to establish a quarantine against the infected region and what are called the unofficial members of the Sanitary Board have resigned. The general feeling is that an outbreak of the plague is probable at any time.

Some men have more elbow room than they have head room.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Good Photographs.

A fine lot of Photos, taken by MR. C. LEWIS, were laid on our table a few days days ago. Those Photos are of gentlemen who attended the funeral of the late Sir John Thompson at Halifax—Lieutenant-Governor Howlan, Bishop McDonald, Dr. Doyle, and many others. They are to be put in the large picture, which is to be painted at Toronto, of the interior of the Church, representing the funeral. Mr. Lewis has the best fitted Gallery in the Province; the arrangements of light are correct; he uses the Dallmyr Lens, which is free from distortion. All work first class; prices very reasonable.

HOW SHOPPING WOMEN LUNCH.

Everything Goes That Tastes Good, and Dyspepsia is the Penalty.

"I suppose no man ought to complain of what puts money in his pocket," remarked a well known doctor the other day, "and therefore it is not a matter that I am going to move heaven and earth to reform, but at the same time I don't mind giving anybody the benefit of my opinion that the lunch parlors that have sprung up in the shopping districts have been productive of much dyspepsia among women, especially the class whom I might call chronic shoppers.' But that such is the case is, of course, purely the fault of the women themselves, who persist in gorging themselves on pies and cakes and meringues and creams and puffs, and all manner of concoctions that are prepared with an eye single to their capacity for tickling the palate, without any regard to their digestive qualities.

"It is a fact which has brought many dollars to my pocket that when it comes to ordering what they call a light lunch most women will order the very things that they ought most to avoid. Instead of the plain and wholesome they will choose the variegated and bilious. They are much worse sinners than men in this respect. Where a man would take a ham or a tongue sandwich, a woman, nine times out of ten, would select, by way of a starter, a cream puff or a tart, or some indigestible compound with a 'hifalutin' name. Though at home they feed with some regard to the eternal fitness of things, when on these 'luncheon orgies,' as I call them, women seem to abandon themselves to a reckless desire to gratify their tastes, utterly regardless of the pains and penalties which it entails on their stomachs. Everything goes—sweet and sour viands, hot and cold fluids, light and solid compounds, without any regard to natural order and precedence.

"There is something coming, too, that is going to make matter worse. That is the 'rapid transit lunch' for women in the shopping district, as we have it in the down-town business districts for men. Then when women have simply to stretch out their hands to get whatever tempts their appetites most, and in an atmosphere where fast feeding is contagious, many will soon fall to wondering what makes them so cross and irritable, and their husbands will be racking their brains for excuses for staying out late more frequently. But as a doctor with a keen appreciation of the good things that money will buy, the prospect is one that I can at least regard with philosophical resignation."—New York Herald.

NOW FOR GOOD POTPIES.

A Baltimore Woman Has Invented a Much-Needed Crust Supporter.

Many a good cook has failed of success in baking a potpie, or meat pie, as it is sometimes called, by reason of the vexatious behavior of the top crust. In preparing this savory and popular dish for the oven the pan is lined, bottom and sides, with the pastry, the required quantity of meat and vegetables is put in and a top crust is laid over all.

There is nothing to sustain this top crust, however, during the increase of temperature in baking and it often sags down and becomes soaked with the liquid in the pie, in which condition it persistently refuses to "brown" and the result is wholly unsatisfactory.

This trouble is all done away with, however, by the invention of a skeleton crust supporter, made of metal, which is adjusted on the top of the baking pan. The crust is laid on this supporter and it never fails to "brown" all over, for it cannot sag and come into direct contact with the filling of the pie.

There are openings in the supporter, which allow the vapors from the cooking meat and vegetables to ascend into the top crust and flavor it, so that the good qualities of the pie are in no way diminished. In serving the pie, too, the supporter is of advantage, for the top crust may be removed bodily and cut separately while the filling is being dished out.

The accompanying picture shows what this new device is like. It was invented by a Baltimore woman and is described in The Baltimore News.

ABOUT BLUSHING WOMEN.

Some of Them Still Exist In Spite of the Cynics.

Some time ago a man took it upon himself to assert that the modern woman has forgotten how to blush. The imputation was launched at femininity in general with so much bitterness and asperity that one might gather therefrom that blushing is a virtue, and that not to blush is criminal. Whatever the connection between this sudden hightening of color and innocence in the case of women, however, the blush is considered a sign of grace by men. Cynics have always maintained that women can cry at anything, and at a moment's notice, and it is indeed pretty well known that many actresses can squeeze out real tears nightly at the proper moment; but blushing is more difficult to acquire as an art.

Blushes are evidently considered as important by the generality of men. For instance, to call a man "an unblushing scoundrel" is a distinct slur on his character, and to tell another that you blush for him used at one time to be a pretty common form of insult. Even now the phrase, "we blush to relate," is to be found in our daily newspapers. The poet Young lays it down in his "Night Thoughts" that "the man who blushes is not quite a brute." Darwin's observations determined the fact that blushing is confined to the human species.—Philadelphia Press.

TOOTHACHE!

This is addressed to all those who are suffering from Toothache, or who may require treatment of any kind at the hands of a Dentist. I make the very best Teeth, guaranteed, for $5 a set. If not satisfactory, money refunded. Gold and Silver Fillings a specialty. The following letter from Dr. Robertson, of Crapaud, as regards the PAINLESS EXTRACTION of Teeth, speaks for itself:—

TO J E McDonald, D D S, Summerside, P E I

Dear Doctor,—I am so well pleased with the work you have done for me, that I will take it as a special favor if you will give publicity to this letter. I positively assert that after an experience extending over twenty-two years under the hands of many dentists, you are the only one who ever extracted a tooth for me ABSOLUTELY WITHOUT PAIN. The TEN teeth you removed for me at one sitting did not hurt a particle, as Mr James Dawson of Tryon, who was present at the operation, heard me testify. The man who invented your method should be knighted.

I am yours, gratefully,
H. W. ROBERTSON, M. D.

EPPS'S COCOA

BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in packets, by Grocers, labelled thus,

Dairymen, Attention

Of the Cheese and Butter Factories in operation in 1894, we furnished, to the satisfaction of all concerned, the necessary apparatus for the following:—Winsloe, Hampton, Tryon, Crapaud, Grand River, Dunk River, Mount Stewart, and Vernon River Bridge.

In the summer of 1894 we made nine Cheese Vats (each holding from 650 to 700 gallons of milk), and two Butter Vats (each averaging 400 gallons of milk); no complaints were made—satisfaction given.

From our large experience in the past we are now better than ever prepared to meet the wants of Dairymen. We guarantee satisfaction, and respectfully solicit the patronage of those who are contemplating the erection of Cheese or Butter Factories.

Our make of Vats is superior to all others, and our fifteen and twenty gallon Cans are the best and cheapest in the province.

Terms to suit puchasers.
