LISTEN TO REASON!

NO DECEPTION!

L. E. PROWSE does not offer a discount of 33 per cent; to do so, 50 per cent profit would need to be added. Such profit would ruin a farmer or any other man—33 per cent discount means a profit of 50 per cent. But the facts are: He buys for cash only, therefore buy from 15 to 25 per cent less than many houses in the trade, and can afford to sell even less than those who pretend to give those Fabulous Discounts.

Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000) worth of Clothing at wonderful low prices. Overcoats from $2.75, Suits from $4.50 up. Job Lot Clothing at about half-price. Large stock of Dress Goods, Sacques, Ulsters, Sacque Cloth, Ladies' Hats, &c., very cheap. Shirts and Underclothing below competition.

Every sensible man and woman should see his stock and not be led away by sensational advertisements.

Grid Gerrymandering.

(Montreal Gazette.)

The Ontario election law, in so far as it applies to Toronto, is unique in its provisions. This city is admitted to be strongly Conservative, and under ordinary conditions would return to the Legislature, as it does to the House of Commons, three supporters of that party's principles. But, in his manipulation of the constituencies in his own interests, Mr. Mowatt struck on a happy idea for him of so fixing the law that, at any rate, one of his friends would find a seat. Giving the city three members, he would not divide it into ridings, as is the case in Montreal, nor, as is the rule in Hamilton and Ottawa, give each elector as many votes as the constituency has representatives. But he, through his majority in the Legislature, declared that each elector would have but two votes, which may be cast for the same or different candidates. Thus the minority will secure a representative, where, under the British system, the system that prevails throughout the Dominion and throughout the province of Ontario, outside of Toronto, it would have none. The scheme would be comparatively free from objection were it made to apply throughout the country, where in some of the counties the Conservatives might occupy a position similar to that of the Liberals in the city; but these have been arranged on a different plan, and the Conservatives "hived" or gerrymandered till a great part of their voting strength is lost. An agitation for a uniform and equitable law of representation is much needed in the sister province.

A Remarkable Discovery.

A special to the Chicago Times from Springfield, Ill., says: A remarkable discovery, and one that will excite considerable attention in the medical world, has been made in this city by Dr. G. N. Deider, a local physician and surgeon. The case in question is called actinomyces hominis, or lump jaw in the human being. The disease infects cattle and other animals, and was first discovered in a human being in Berlin, Germany, in 1883, and the present case is thought to be the first in this country. The subject of the present case is a young lady employed in a manufacturing establishment, who, about a year ago, was operated upon for tumor of the left jaw, which was extirpated. It grew again, and she went to Jacksonville to consult a physician. By accident the physician was absent, and the case came under the notice of Dr. Dieder, of this city. He secured some of the fungus, and when placed under the microscope it developed the disease, with which the doctor is familiar, having seen it in the old country a year ago while pursuing a series of studies of medical science. It is a fungoid growth, and one of the proofs of the germ theory. The fungus is a mass of yellowish pus containing small plaques resembling seed, mingled with long filaments. The disease invades the lungs, intestines and general system, and, if not interrupted in its course, invariably results in death; but if taken in its primary stage, as in the present case, it can be cured. Dr. Rauch, of the state board of health, examined the fungus and confirms the diagnosis made by Dr. Deider.

The Patriots' League.

At a recent meeting in Chicago to set on foot a movement to counteract the influence of Socialists and their teachings, the name "Patriots' League" was adopted. General John L. Thompson was elected president, Colonel H. W. Jackson, treasurer; and a committee on publication were appointed and the following platform and declaration of principles and purposes were adopted. The primary objects of this League shall be:—

1. To support and defend the government, constitution, laws and institutions of the United States, national, state and municipal, as administered through the three necessary and well defined legislative, executive and judicial departments, and to furnish a channel through which the order-loving and law-honoring sentiment of the country can at all times express itself and make it convictions and strength known.

2. To oppose anarchy, socialism, communism, Mormonism and despotism of all kinds, and all kindred social and political heresies that tend to destroy the peace of society, the authority of government, the sanctions of laws, the rights of property, the liberty of the citizens and the sacredness of the family; and to serve due notice on anarchists, socialists and all similar "ists" and "isms" that human liberty, as represented and protected by American free institutions, has cost too much and is too valuable and too sacred to allow it to be overthrown, undermined, endangered or destroyed by foreign agitators and revolutionists or demagogues of any creed or description.

3. To disseminate sound views and practical, accurate information on political, social and economic subjects by means of carefully prepared books and pamphlets, to be published and sold at the bare cost of production and distribution, and thus place the means of political education within the reach of all; and, in general, to promote and encourage the study and rational discussion of social, political and economic questions by the whole body of American citizens.

What True Merit Will Do.

The unprecedented sale of Boschee's German Syrup within a few years has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected, and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when these diseases make their appearance, will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price 75 cents, large bottles.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Contradiction.

Sir,—In looking over the Protestant Union of to-day, I observe a few remarks on the P. E. Island Hospital. One of them I think it my duty to correct. After my wife resigned the Matronship of the Hospital, I carried the keys and was manager of the Hospital, until I, myself, resigned, which was some three months after my wife gave up charge on account of ill health. If anyone should doubt my remarks, they have but to refer to the day-book at the Hospital and they will then see that I handed over the keys along with the household effects in good condition on the eleventh day of October. The keys were then handed to Miss McDonald who took charge.

I remain,
Yours respectfully,
E. BALLEN.

Dillon the Agitator.

JOHN DILLON, who is the most prominent figure in the anti-rent agitation now going on in Ireland, looks—to judge by the pictures of him which appear in the newspapers—very like a Presbyterian clergyman. He is described as a studious gentleman, a man of property, delicate in physique, and the last person in the world one would expect to engage in political agitation. He is the son of an Irish rebel leader of 1848, John Blake Dillon, at a late period of his life member of parliament for the county Tipperary, and previously a New York lawyer. Mr. Dillon may be said to have inherited that hatred of British rule which makes him an agitator, in spite of the inducements to learned leisure with which fortune has favored him. He is a doctor of medicine by profession, but declines practice, having no need of its financial rewards, and finding more congenial occupation as an Irish member of parliament, and as a speaker and writer representing the cause of his country. The first article in the current number of the Nineteenth Century is from the pen of John Dillon, who takes a gloomy view of the prospects of the coming severe winter in Ireland, and censures the neglect of parliament in not taking legislative precaution for the security of the people in their homes. John Dillon has a slight frame. His face is pale and spiritual, with the beautiful deep brown eyes set in a frame of black hair and beard. As an orator he excels in the command of the affections of his hearers. During two previous imprisonments, Mr. Dillon suffered severely in health, and his friends are apprehensive as to what may be the consequences of another period of incarceration upon his delicate and weakened constitution.

Father and Son Both Killed.

P. Floyd, of Antigonish, has received a letter from his brother in Idaho Springs, Colorado, announcing the death in the mines there, November 23rd, of a father and son named Stevens, belonging to Tangier, Halifax. They had just gone to work at six p. m., and were loading a hole with giant powder when it exploded. The boy never knew what happened to him. His brains were blown out and his body torn to pieces. The father was blown about thirty yards, had legs and arms broken and face smashed. He lived six hours and leaves a widow, two boys and two girls, the eldest six years. A native of Antigonish was killed in the mines at the same place a few weeks ago.

A Button in a Boy's Head.

An interesting and remarkable medical case was treated in Spartanburg, S. C., a few days ago by Dr. G. W. Heinich, specialist on head diseases. The patient, a white boy 10 years old, had for six years been treated by able physicians for what was supposed to be a serious case of catarrh, but no relief could be obtained. His parents became very much alarmed about the boy's condition. Dr. Heinich took charge of the case, and after several days' treatment concluded that the nostril was obstructed by some foreign substance. He finally succeeded in locating the obstacle, and performed a surgical operation to remove it. He was successful, and found up in the boy's head a large-sized brass shoe button, which had caused six years of trouble. The patient is recovering rapidly.
