Miss MacMillan
Begins Work In Newfoundland

NEWFOUNDLAND, May 8—In an interview with Miss Elizabeth MacMillan, Organizing Secretary of the Jubilee Guilds of Newfoundland, a Telegram representative was given a brief outline of her plans for the immediate future. Miss MacMillan arrived by the S. S. Fort Amherst on Thursday last, and on Tuesday attended a meeting of the Executive of the Guilds. Yesterday afternoon a visit was paid to the Jubilee Guild which is organized at Upper Gullies, and Miss MacMillan said that she was impressed by the enthusiasm of the members and the remarkable strides which they have taken. Miss MacMillan made a brief reference to her work with the Women's Institutes of Prince Edward Island, of which there are some 254 at present organized. The chief difference between the P. E. I. Institutes and the local Jubilee Guilds lies in the fact that membership in the former is confined solely to women. The P. E. I. Institutes have been in existence since 1914 and are more confined to educational aims than the Jubilee Guilds. The Organizing Secretary stated that she hopes to visit as many as possible of the Jubilee Guilds at present instituted to obtain first hand knowledge of the conditions. She stressed the necessity of proper organization of the Guilds at the outset in different settlements. The importance of the teaching of handicrafts to the younger people is not to be overlooked, for it is on them that the future success of the movement will depend. In the brief time that Miss MacMillan has been in Newfoundland she has been impressed by the hospitality of the people and the remarkable interest displayed in the work of the Jubilee Guilds.

LIVELY SESSION
BROADCASTING
COMMITTEE

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

OTTAWA, May 14—Expenses of members of the Radio Commission and particular inquires about a celebration at the opening of the new Commission station in Quebec created a lively interlude at today's session of the Parliamentary Committee on Broadcasting. Vincent Dupuis (Lib. Chambly), examining Hector Charlesworth, Commission chairman, said he had been told that approximately $400 had been spent on champagne at the Quebec affair and that a member of the Commission had refused to sign the minutes of a meeting dealing with the account. Pressed for the name of his informant, Mr. Dupuis said it was Jacques Cartier, a former member of the Commission who resigned last Fall.

"Mr. Cartier, if he said that, is a liar," Mr. Charlesworth declared. "Then I will move that Mr. Cartier be called," said Mr. Dupuis. "I'd like to see Mr. Cartier get into the box and make any statement of that kind," Mr. Charlesworth said. He was proceeding to say that Mr. Cartier was being "brought to book" and that Mr. Cartier had left the Commission "on two hours notice" when he was called to order.

Mr. Cartier would not be called, Chairman Arthur Beaubien said, as it was intended to end public hearings tomorrow. Col. W. Steele, a member of the Commission, also gave evidence on station facilities and coverage problems. With reference to the banquet incident he said Mr. Cartier was not a member of the Commission at the time but had been appointed when the account came up for settlement. He had refused to sign approval because he had not been a member of the Commission when the account was incurred. Other witnesses today included Harry Sedgewick, Toronto, representing Canadian broadcasters, R. W. Ashcroft, veteran radio executive of Toronto, representing himself alone, and W. T. Burford, representing the all-Canadian Congress of Labor.

Present's Report

Mr. Charlesworth presented a brief in which he said he was happy to be able to report that only in two instances had there been any serious complaint of misuse of the air. One was in connection with the "Mr. Sage" broadcasts in the last federal election campaign, and the other with reference to the continuation of political broadcasting in Quebec subsequent to the provincial election of November last. It was obvious, he said, that "present practices in connection with political broadcasting are by no means ideal and that wider regulatory measures should be considered."

The Commission was of the opinion that so great a volume of political broadcasting as was heard last Fall "was an imposition on the majority of radio listeners."

It felt Mr. Charlesworth said, that "reasonable limitations should be placed upon political broadcasts, taking the form of a definite declaration by Parliament as to how many hours of network broadcasting any organized party might have between the date of dissolution and election day. These regulations could only apply to federal elections."

Personal Expenses

Colin Campbell (Lib. Frontenac-Addington) questioned the Commission chairman on the personal expenses of J. A. Dupont, regional director of programs in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. Mr. Charlesworth said they were legitimate and well within the statutory limits set for government officials. Vincent Dupuis (Lib. Chambly) also questioned the witness on book-keeping and administrative details. Mr. Charlesworth said complaints by the auditor-general of accounts incurred by the Commission came no more frequently than to other government departments.

Mr. Dupuis asked the chairman if there had been complaints of a trip to Newfoundland by officers of the Commission from June 23 to July 6, 1934. The cost was $1,886. Mr. Charlesworth said that expense was incurred when the head of the Newfoundland Government had asked the then Prime Minister of Canada (Mr. Bennett) for special broadcasting trip to Newfoundland by the liner "Northland." The invitation had been passed to the Commission and Mr. Maher, Mr. Buswell, and a company of entertainers made the journey. "Was it authorized by the Prime Minister?" Mr. Dupuis asked. "No," Mr. Charlesworth replied, "it was a goodwill trip."

stand in the world community be today?" and "What should Canada do?" The answers are to form the foundation for a discussion at a national conference opening here on May 28, presided over by Sir Robert Falconer, former president of the University of Toronto.

SENATE GIVES
INSURANCE ACT
3RD READING

OTTAWA, May 14—The Senate today gave third reading to a measure amending the Canadian and British Insurance Companies Act. Initiated in the Upper House, the bill will be sent to the House of Commons for its consideration. One amendment affects provincial insurance companies holding Dominion licenses. Policy-holders in these companies will participate in Company profits to an extent of at least 50 per cent. This provision is similar to the one now applicable to Dominion companies. No debate developed when Senator F. B. Black (Cons. Sackville) made his motion for final reading of the bill.

A special committee of 11 was set up to consider the bill of Senator J. P. B. Casgrain (Lib. Montreal) for establishment of "free ports" or free foreign trade zones in Canada. The body will be composed of Senators Casgrain, J. H. Rainville (Cons. Montreal), William Duff (Lib. Antigonish-Guysboro), C. W. Robinson (Lib. Moncton), Thomas Cantley (Cons. Pictou), George H. Barnard (Cons. Victoria), J. E. Sinclair (Lib. Prince Edward Island), J. H. King (Lib. Victoria) and C. P. Beaubien (Cons. Montreal).

Senator C. E. Tanner (Cons. Halifax) gave notice he would inquire next week if the government intended to consider measures enabling the Nova Scotia coal mining industry to expand its markets in Canada. Answering Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Opposition Leader, on the proposed disbanding of relief camps, Senator Raoul Dandurand, Liberal Leader, said up to May 1 a total of 6,100 men had left voluntarily going to work on ships or returning to farms and logging operations. The number in the camps on May 1 was 14,276 and at that time there were 10,000 jobs in railway maintenance still available. It was expected, Senator Dandurand said, that as a result of this railway work, together with normal reduction in camp strength, no great difficulty would be encountered in hiring the men in camps suitably placed by July 1. Senator Meighen said his question had only been answered to a degree.
