Popular Margate Couple Observe 50th Anniversary

Cut flowers and potted plants formed the setting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson, Margate, where their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Johnson were at home both afternoon and evening on December 15 on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. Friends, neighbours and relatives called to offer felicitations to the worthy couple, who through the years have faithfully worked for the good of their church and community.

Early in the afternoon pictures were taken and suitable gifts were presented on behalf of the family which includes their four children, also 12 grand children and four great grand children. Remembrances were also received from nieces and nephews and other relatives.

Royal Arch Masons, UCW and the WI. Many cards and telegrams were also received.

Mrs. Andrew Johnson was assisted by Mrs. Keith Warren and Mrs. Clarence Marchbank in welcoming the guests. Mrs. Arthur Johnstone ushered the guests to the dining room where a three tiered anniversary cake flanked by golden tapers centered the table.

Presiding over the silver tea service in the afternoon were Mrs. Harold Palmer, and Mrs. Harold Mill, with Mrs. Rex Kieley and Mrs. Herbert Proffitt nursing in the evening. Mrs. Edwin Johnson and Mrs. Douglas Johnson, Ruth Johnstone, Joyce Warren, Andrea Johnson and Adele Marchbank served. Mrs. Walter Moase, Mrs. Everett Cousins, Mrs. Elmer Moase and Mrs. Arthur Cornish replenished. Little Shannon Johnson had charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Johnson is the former Sadie Paynter and the Rev. A. W. Watson married the couple at the bride's home in 1915-and loving. Our motto: When faced with a problem, don't dwell on it. See what you can do about it. You can do something, if you will but try. Sincerely, S. K.

DEAR S.K.: As your letter indicates, it isn't so much the fact of retirement on reduced income, as it is the state of one's retirement history unfolds, that colors the outcome, in the happy or darkened tones.

And in the case of ER to which you refer, it seemed apparent that she was not in good health, either physically or emotionally, at the time of writing. She was battling with insomnia with bitterness relating to a litany of injustices, and also with the prospect of surgery, for which she lacks medical insurance coverage.

Hence our wrap-up recommendation for her was to consult a geriatric specialist immediately, with a view to getting suitable sedative or tranquilizer medication, to ease her wrathful tensions.

As that aspect of her suffering is brought under control, perhaps she can begin to take profit from your common sense suggestions for quitting the social treadmill of former times and embracing new patterns of activity that better suit her present circumstances. M. H.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: "A word spoken in due season, how good it is" (Proverbs 15:23) The due season is now. The word is CARE. How good is it? So good that in the year 1966 it will mean the difference between death-dealing malnutrition and life-giving nourishment for 37 million children around the world—school children, pre-school youngsters, orphans, war and disaster victims, refugees destitute families the aged and the sick.

Will you please relay this word to your readers?

Every dollar sent to CARE Food Crusade, New York, 10016 N. Y., will deliver an average of 27 pounds of food to the hungry. And from me to you, a word for all seasons: Thanks, Sincerely, S. K., for CARE, Inc.

DEAR S. K.: Many readers will respond generously to your word—I am sure, deeply grateful for your timely reminder on how to do the most good with a dollar and help spread the spirit of Christmas to all God's children. M. H.

Lush Strawberry Cream A Present In Parfaits

Every Christmas morning, two young homemakers I know traditionally exchange desserts for the feast-day.

One homemaker prepares a glamorous Strawberry Christmas Cream in tall, tall parfait glasses (part of the present); the second homemaker has ready her scintillating Cold Strawberry Souffle made in an interesting bowl of glass pottery or metal to be treasured as a memento. This fascinating cold soufflé recipe we shall column today.

Today we are suggesting for your home dessert on Christmas Day, the spectacular Strawberry Christmas Cream, elegant, yet not too rich to climax a festive dinner.

Measurements level: STRAWBERRY CHRISTMAS CREAM

1 qt. fresh California strawberries, hulled and halved
3 tbsp. Kirsch liqueur
¼ c. heavy cream
1 tbsp. sugar
¼ tsp. fresh lemon juice

Turn halved strawberries into bowl. Add liqueur. Stir gently, taking care not to break berries. Cover, marinate (let stand) in refrigerator at least two hours before serving. Arrange strawberries in tall glasses. Top with cream, whipped stiff with sugar and lemon juice.

Note: If fresh strawberries cannot be obtained, use a 1 lb. box of frozen strawberries turned out and marinated with the liqueur in the coldest part of the refrigerator until half-thawed.

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS

Eglinton-Howe Bay WI To Knit For Red Cross

Mrs. Russell Mills was hostess to the members of Eglinton-Howe Bay Women's Institute for the December meeting. President Mrs. John J. MacDonald presided, and the meeting opened with "Jingle Bells" followed by the creed.

Roll was answered by 14 members donating gifts for the Sanatorium.

It was decided to give money to the teacher at Eglinton Howe Bay for Christmas gifts for the pupils. Money was also voted for the TB League and to the Scholarship fund.

Red Cross sewing and knitting was passed out to the members.

Fire protection from the Souris Fire Brigade was then discussed and several members volunteered to canvass the districts for membership fees at the earliest possible date.

Mrs. Chas. Mills reported on the Leadership course held in Souris recently. Mrs. Claude MacKenzie, Mrs. Bruce Stead and Mrs. Frank MacClumpha volunteered to visit the Eglinton school on Dec. 9th.

Mrs. Fred MacKenzie conducted a contest which was tied by Mrs. Frank MacClumpha and Mrs. Russell Mills.

Answer to roll call for the January meeting will be a "Symposium" or "Get wet card." Food committee will be Mrs. Marjorie Stead and Mrs. Ernest Underhazy.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by the committee, and a social hour spent.

LAKE VERDE WI
An enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mrs. William Shea, when the members of the Lake Verde WI met on December 14 for their regular meeting.

The president, Mrs. Joseph Shea, opened the meeting and roll call was answered by an exchange of Christmas gifts. Routine business was carried out and money was voted for Christmas treats for school children, also for a gift for a patient in an institution. The treasurer reported on card games and members decided to knit for the Red Cross.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ira Redmond.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ivan McGuirk, served refreshments and a social hour followed with a game of cards. The prize was won by Mrs. Ira Redmond.

MARSHFIELD WI
Mrs. Wendell McCullum was hostess to the Marshfield WI for the December meeting, which opened with singing of "Jingle Bells", and roll call was answered by an exchange of Christmas gifts.

The secretary, Mrs. Hector Jenkins, gave an impressive report on the WI Leadership Course which was held in Parkdale ball recently. She advised members were asked to give the change in location of the annual convention much thought, and stressed the importance of organizing a group for the farm management course available through the Dept. of Education.

Weekend visits from other Institutes were suggested. Mrs. Frank Ross encouraged amalgamation of small Institutes to provide a greater interest in programming.

The treasurer, Dorothy McFarlane, reported that the recent turkey supper was a decided instead of raisins, when making New Hampshire Turkey-Stuffing.

To Prepare: First slit the chestnuts; boil 10 min.; remove the shells, then core - chop the chestnuts.

OYSTER STUFFING: When making New Hampshire Turkey-Stuffing, omit raisins and apples and add 1 lb. drained shucked oysters, cut in halves.

MARY HAWORTH

Golden Age Citizens Find Interests At Same Level

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: A recent letter was so like my own experience that I might have written it, except that I have already found a solution.

It was the problem of a woman living on retirement income, unable to give gifts on her former generous scale, a fact her friends and relatives seem to resent.

After much heartache caused by much the same tension, I joined a couple of Golden Age clubs, whose members live at about the same financial level as I am obliged to.

Boistered by their company, I was able gradually to withdraw, gracefully I hope, from the society of former associates with the excuse, false or true that I was so busy with my new club activities.

There are many wonderful people in ER's position, who must practise every economy, who adjust to the necessity of living in reduced circumstances, while also managing to go on giving to, and doing for other on a much smaller scale, of course.

I have a part-time job serving the public and I find so many people so much worse off, and so many little things I can do for them. Also, to keep in circulation, I attend flower shows, fashion shows, lectures museum exhibits (all free) I sight-see, and so on.

Our golden age groups have luncheons and card parties. We take turns having a few friends in for a one-dish meal and dessert. We swap ideas on economizing and consider this an achievement. We laugh at our selfishness and have a deep sympathetic mutual tolerance for our incapacities.

Best of all, we enjoy each other for what we are, not for what we have or can give. We need no money to be cheerful

Childhood Tuberculous Infection

Among the 6-17 age group in 85 school districts which had Tuberculin Testing Clinics this summer, it was discovered that since 1961, 30 converted to positive tuberculin reactors and there were 31 new reactors - which means that 61 were infected by unknown contagious TB patients.

The search for contagious persons must be continued to prevent infection of the young.
