MISS BETTY MCCABE Appears On Boston TV

Because of professional appearances on radio and TV, Miss Elizabeth M. McCabe, "Betty", daughter of J. Harold McCabe of Charlottetown, was chosen to represent the Greater Boston United Fund in that media during its current campaign.

Miss McCabe is a member of the American Women in radio and television, the Broadcast Executive's Club, and is included in Who's Who of American Women.

Her black lashes, of her eyes should miss a small adventure. Ant steeple-jacking, unbelievably.

Or woodcock, frozen out. Hardly beyond finger touch.

Oh, you quietly On program, miss. The burnt thrush will bear no sound To hit his singing.

Almost hold your breath And hear the wind High in the spruce Above the hill.

Pack away the heart song Small-boy. Against the time when growing Crows your hours too full:

Walk slowly... "What's new with you?" Curiosity, our only company at the moment, inquires pausing in his primping at the door, before stepping off into the moonlight.

"Nothing-nothing at all." "What about Tabby's babies?" "There's not a word! She comes in to her meals, and then vanishes."

"That's odd, very odd" he remarks, polishing an ear. "We haven't found Tabby's kittens yet." Alex offered this evening "It's just because we don't seem to have the time to search for them, do we?"

MARY HAWORTH Nervous Mother Inhibits Child's Self-Confidence

Dear Mary Haworth: I am a group. For example, as you girl of 12 with a problem. My mother won't let me cross the streets, waiting your chance to cross the street. We live in New York City.

When I go to the store for her light, however, as to why she keeps you on such a short rein. I suggest that you get first-hand counsel from some wise, understanding adult who can take stock of the situation with you.

I will be starting the seventh grade in school this month. I want to respect my mother's wishes but I also want to be able to cross the street. What should I do—R.L.

Dear R.L.: As I am not familiar with the traffic situation in your neighborhood, I can't evaluate the significance of your mother's inflexible opposition to your crossing the streets, except by way of the train station.

I should think that if you are old enough and responsible enough to go alone to the store for her, you are likewise (mentally and physically) to cross streets safely at the intersections, by going with the light and double-checking oncoming traffic with your eyes before you leave the curb.

Maybe your mother is such a stay-at-home, leading such a shut-in life, that she has developed an unreasonable fear of moving traffic or street accidents. Unreasonable in the sense she is beginning to retreat from the necessity of wrestling matter-of-factly with routine risks that might be taken in stride, if one is to deal rationally with one's environment.

Or, possibly, there is a certain amount of street gang turbulence in your neighborhood, with troublesome youth on the prowl in cars, in life pursuit of excitement at times.

If so, your mother may be trying, solitiously, to spare you the fright or harm of being accosted or molested by such a cost or go! James comes in at this busy day's close. "Well, look at that clock!" he exclaims. "Dear me, how fast those days go!"

Until tomorrow—Diary—Good-night.

SANDRA SQUAREBRIGGS RICHARD DUNN ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. John Squarebriggs, Charlottetown, P.E.I., wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Elizabeth, to Mr. Richard Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dunn, Fredericton, N.B. The marriage will take place Saturday, October 26, at 2:30 p.m. at Trinity United Church, Charlottetown.

MR. AND MRS. PETER MADORIN Wedding Guests Received At "Gregor's By The Sea"

Trinity United Church in Charlottetown was the setting for a double ring ceremony when Shirley Jean RN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John MacPherson, 21 Upper Prince St., Charlottetown became the bride of William Hubert Peter, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Madorin of Quebec City.

The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion with baskets of mixed flowers. The guests sat on a honey-satin bower marked the white.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Gerald Myras. Royston Stafford, organist, accompanied Miss Barbara Rogers who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Oh Perfect Love."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk tulle with a white eyelet accenting the bodice, neckline and elbow length sleeves. Her hair was styled in a classic bouffant skirt ended in a chapel train. Her carried a cascade bouquet of white miniature roses with stephanotis and ivy.

The officiant was Miss Joan Williams RN of Halifax, N.S., classmate of the bride's bridesmaid, Mrs. Fran MacPherson, sister of the bride and Mrs. William Garwood of Halifax, N.S. They were bridesmaids of romance pink peaches and cream with white miniature roses with stephanotis and ivy.

The bridesmaids wore white tulle dresses with circular tulle veils. They wore white shoes with length white gloves and carried semi-cascade bouquets of white carnations with tiny pink roses.

Jan Smith of Quebec City supported the groom. The wedding was blessed by David Smith, brother-in-law of the groom, and John Macintosh, both of Halifax, N.S.

Following the ceremony a reception held at "Gregor's By The Sea" Brackley. Lighted tapers burned on either side of the bridal table centered with a three tier wedding cake, topped with silver wedding bells.

For receiving Mrs. Madorin chose a bone shawl gown with embroidered lace bodice, and matching tulle shoes. Her accessories were shades of bone and coffee and her corsage was of white roses.

ELLEN'S DIARY Tabby Cat Keeps Secret Her Babies Hiding Place

When the weather lends its charm to the harvest, the children at this farm are obviously well pleased. The younger lads catch rides on the trucks bringing in the grain, while Mack seizes every opportunity to man a tractor after school, or otherwise help with the work.

And all the time skies are harvesting, gossamer frosts and there is a harvest-song in the breeze. We hear too the son, Mrs. Norman Ripple of Quincy, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. John Macintosh, Toronto, Ont.; and Mr. J.P. MacLeod of Montreal.

Seeing the youngsters so happy, we sometimes wonder what, most of all, they themselves are gleaming of these pleasant harvest days. A poet with a pretty name, one indeed which brings to mind scenes of Biblical harvests, reminds all such lads in her verses that in the best of times there is more to be gathered in, than in the grain Rachel Graham says.

50th Anniversary At Little Sands

Mr. and Mrs. Archibald M. Munn of Little Sands celebrated their 50th anniversary of their wedding recently with a family dinner party at their home.

Mrs. Munn, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Woodridge, Covehead Road, was united in marriage to Archibald Munn, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Neil D. Munn, Wood Islands on August 20, 1913 by the late Rev. E. A. Westmorland.

All members of the family were present; their two daughters, Sarah, Mrs. Ivan Gordon, and Mrs. Gordon and sons, Jean, Archie, Elsie, William and Iva of Abney, P.E.I.; Ellen, Mrs. William White of St. John's, P.I.; Mrs. Munn's sister, Florence, Mrs. Frank Flynn and Mrs. Flynn, Yarmouth, Mass.; and Mrs. Munn's brother, Samuel Woodridge and Mrs. Woodridge, Covehead Road, P.E.I.

Ellen, Mrs. Perry Wilson, Cambridge Mass., who was the bridesmaid, was unable to attend but telephoned during the evening to extend her wishes.

A beautifully decorated three-tier wedding cake centered the table, and was cut in traditional manner by the bride and groom of fifty years ago.

Their granddaughter, Miss Jean Gordon, was in charge of the guest book.

The honored couple received many gifts, cards, and phone calls from relatives and friends and were recipients of congratulatory letters from Prime Minister Pearson, A. W. Matheson, J. Macmillan M.P., and Dr. Bonnell, M.L.A.

The evening was pleasantly accentuated by movie films.
