What About Dodgers?

Los Angeles Dodgers had a four-game cushion when we sent this column to bed, they were playing Milwaukee Braves at Milwaukee and the time element robbed us of a score before our deadline.

This league race, the San Francisco Giants appear to have a huge task confronting them. Both the Giants and Dodgers have 12 games remaining (including last night's affairs) and in all and are convinced what the Dodgers can do, they can do.

Each team has six home games, six road games remaining. The Dodgers entertain St. Louis Cardinals in three and Houston Colts in a three at home. On the road, it's three at St. Louis and three at Milwaukee.

Giants also have three at home with the Cardinals and three with the Colts. On the road it will be two at St. Louis, three at Houston and one at Pittsburgh (the only road game by now).

Neither team appears to have any edge in this schedule. Anybody who thinks the Colts will play dead may be in for a real surprise. The Dodgers managed to beat them last week 10-0 but the Los Angeles crew could get only three hits.

Mets Kill Reds

CINCINNATI Reds can tell you all about these easy teams. They were in New York for three games this past weekend and managed to win only one. They were playing Milwaukee Braves at Milwaukee and the time element robbed us of a score before our deadline.

Are Yanks Sure Bet?

NEW YORK Yankees own a three game spread over Minnesota Twins in the battle for the American League pennant and the experts figure that's plenty to insure them a berth in the 1962 world series. Each team has five games left to play and the Yankees would like to have a road game to blow the affair at this stage.

However, the Twins aren't giving up without a fight and they are no doubt remembering the feat of the San Francisco Giants in 1959 when the Los Angeles Dodgers sealed victory by winning the playoffs with Milwaukee Braves and then later subdued Chicago White Sox.

But the Twins will have a rugged road unless somebody comes along and provides wholesale relief like the Baltimore Orioles and Tigers on Tuesday night. They swept all five games from the Bombers. Naturally Minnesota and St. Louis are hoping for another such occurrence but that's asking for an awful lot.

The Yankees and Twins are through playing each other for this season unless they finish the 162-game schedule in a deadlock.

New York has five home affairs to play and five on the road. Three of the five home affairs are against the Chicago White Sox, the other two against the lowly Washington Senators. The road trips include three against Chicago, three times and Washington on two occasions.

Minnesota has six tilts at home. They play Baltimore Orioles and Tigers on three occasions each. Three of their four away-from-home battles are at Baltimore and the other is at Cleveland.

On such a schedule, it would seem tough going for Twins to gain sufficient ground on the Bombers to be of any help. The road trips could mean three in a row unless they are less than any good.

And so it's entirely up to the White Sox and Senators as far as the Yankees are concerned. Both these clubs decided to get suddenly hot, things could get interesting in this American League race.

Tonight and tomorrow night the Yankees are at Washington. A couple of Senators' triumphs might make things much more interesting.

MacKenzie's Tie Playoff Series

SUMMERSIDE — MacKenzie's softball team won the first of two games in the playoff series with RCAF for the Prince County Softball title and the C.I.W.F. trophy for the advancing rounds. The game was played at Queen Elizabeth Park last evening, whipping the Flyers 5-2.

The green-shirts, down by three runs, took advantage of a trio of error errors in the fifth inning to score five runs and remain ahead for the rest of the ball game. It was a contest that had few base hits, but featured a lot of fine fielding plays sandwiched in between errors and damaging miscues.

Al Amyot, winning pitcher, allowed only three hits, one a home run to deep left field by Gerry Bernard, which scored two runs. Hooper, the opposing moundman, also gave up three hits.

Besides Bernard's home run, Gerry Moore and Boone hit singles for RCAF. Danne, Glenn, Hugh MacDougall and Clarence Gills got MacKenzie's singles. Jim is a very good pitcher.

The final game of the title and trophy is scheduled for Queen Elizabeth Park on Wednesday night.

Fifteen Turn Out For Final Shoot

Fifteen Island marksmen turned out for the final shoot staged at Squaw Point range last Saturday afternoon by the P.E.I. Rifle Association.

Two riflemen finished with totals of 86 out of a possible 100 points in the 1000 yard match. Sgt. George MacLennan managed to take top spot with 87 points. Sgt. J. H. Vasey, who was having the better score at the longer range, 800 yards.

Close behind them were Sgt. Percy Landring, Charlotteville and Sgt. Ronnie Clark, Winslow, each with 85.

With this shoot completed, Sgt. Landring, secretary-treasurer, issued the call for all riflemen to be returned immediately as the Army small-arms inspection

Backfired as Ralph Pineau hit a long sacrifice fly to rightfield to drive in Shepherd. The throw-in was made to the plate and scored in the first game of the season.

Other New Waterloo horses hit the winners circle were Christina, Galt, Gallant, Boy, Dance, Joe Loose, Highland and June Prince. July Marl, owned by John Hatchford of North Sydney, was the only other winner.

Highland Lad and Dance McLoose won honors in the featured pace with the former posting the night's fastest time, 2:10.55.

Tracidae Cross captured the night's top honors in the featured pace of Southern Queens Baseball League supremacy, with a 2-0 victory over Fanningbrook 2-0 in the deciding game of a best of three final series Sunday.

The series opener went to Tracidae Cross by a 2-1 score on Monday and the 1-1-1 series with a lopsided 2-0 victory on Tuesday night.

In the deciding game Tracidae Cross grabbed the lead in the fifth inning when Gerry MacLennan singled and was pushed to second on a bunt by shortstop Ken Scott. The winning run scored on a sacrifice bunt by Ken Scott.

But a salary dispute that made him pack his bags is not settled. Negotiations between Mahovich and Toronto manager-coach Punch Inlach are to be renewed.

King Clancy, Inlach's assistant, spoke to Mahovich in Toronto on Monday and the former winger agreed to return to camp today.

"I don't think Mahovich was dissatisfied," Clancy said. "We had a nice friendly talk. There are a few things to be ironed out but I don't think there's anything serious to worry about."

Mahovich is reported to have balked at the contract Inlach suggested and demanded about $30,000.

Horses found the somewhat chilly weather to their liking last night at the Charlotteville Driving Club. The winners were: winner lowering bar mark twice, another equalling her record in time table and the third equalling his record in his first trip and lowering his mark in his second outing.

Valley Lass, a five-year-old chestnut mare, owned by Gregory and Kelly and driven by Lorne Kelly, took a lead of 2.17 in capturing the first dash of the night and in her second trip she lowered her mark again, this time with the mile dash of 2:16.2.

Elmer C, another Abner T. Hooper, swept both dashes of an A and B pace and in the first trip equalled her lifetime record of 2:12.2. He took a new mark of 2:11 flat in the second half of this event.

Elmer C was also the winner of a cooler donated to Allison Wood and presented to Gregory and Kelly by CDP President Allan Smith.
