Preliminary

Continued from page 1 the same jury had ruled that the two youths were "murdered by gun shot wounds by person or persons unknown."

The Lindseys, father and son were from Hollidaysburg, Pa., and Clear, from East Freedom, Pa.

Woman Gives Evidence Among the 11 witnesses was Marion Petrie, allm, self-spoken woman who described herself as a "housewife."

Miss Petrie, who was questioned by police about five hours in Montreal provincial police headquarters, led them to the recovery of a European-made pistol, which belonged to Coffin, and to a fuel pump and a pair of binoculars which belonged to the hunters.

Miss Petrie, who left York Centre, last March to live with relatives in Montreal, said Coffin gave the binoculars to her five-year-old son, James, "as a present from the hunters."

Clarence Clear, father of the slain hunter, identified the binoculars as those he loaned to his son before they left Central Pennsylvania last June 5 on a hunting trip to Gaspé.

Coffin testified earlier that he met the hunters in the bush June 10. Their truck was stalled, he said, and he drove young Lindsay to Gaspé to buy a replacement for a fuel pump.

Harold Petrie, Miss Petrie's brother, said Coffin gave him the pump last June in payment for four long distance telephone calls Coffin made from his Montreal home.

Petrie also said he bought the pistol, a P-38 for $15, June 18, because Coffin "was broke". Petrie said it to an unidentified man June 29.

He said Coffin told him he had acquired the pistol while overseas during the Second World War.

Blue towels which Miss Petrie turned over to police Wednesday on arrival from Montreal were identified by Mrs. Clarence Clear as having been bought in Philadelphia. Miss Petrie said the towels were given to her by Coffin.

Miss Petrie, dressed in a pink sweater, dark blue skirt and rust-colored jacket, said Coffin arrived at her Montreal home June 24, two days after he had admitted leaving her.

She said Coffin drove in a truck borrowed from Billy Baker of Gaspé. In the truck, she said, there were two sleeping bags, a pick, a shovel, a saw, some groceries, eggs wrapped in newspaper and a length of chain.

Coffin had "had a few drinks", she said. The Crown may attempt to show that at least one of the sleeping bags belonged to the hunters. They were known to have three sleeping bags, but only two were found during a lengthy search in the bush.

Detective J. Vanhouette of Quebec provincial police has the record from Mrs. Felix Stanley of York Centre a grey-brown suitcase containing a pair of blue jeans and some blue towels and face cloths.

Mrs. Clear identified the suitcase as belonging to her daughter. It had been loaned to her son Fred. She also identified the blue jeans as her son's from a patch she had sewn on. She also said the towels, similar to the one returned by Miss Petrie, were hers.

Mrs. Mary Lindsey, Eugene Lindsey's widow, identified a hunting knife as belonging to her son. The knife, said Capt. Matte, was turned over to him by Miss Petrie.

A wrist watch mechanism found in the bush was identified by Mrs. Lindsey as belonging to her husband.

Marshfield Church To Be Rededicated

When St. Columba Presbyterian Church at Marshfield celebrate their rededication service on Sunday, August 30, at 11:00 a.m., Sunday School at 10:00; Hunter River 3:00 p.m.; Brookfield 7:30 p.m., Sunday School at 10:00. Reverend Lawrence Blaikie, minister. All are welcome.

The other event took place in 1903 and at that time the gallery was removed and the auditorium enlarged 12 ft. in length. The method used was to cut the church in the middle and move both ends out. A spire was added and it is noted that the Scotch Thistle which adorns it cost only five dollars, certainly much less than it would cost today.

The land on which the present church stands was deeded to the church in 1830 by Mr. Donald MacBeth and it is worthy of note that one of the present elders is Mr. Aiholl MacBeth, a great grandson of this man. Mr. John MacFarlane, Mr. Earl W. G. Foster, Mr. Cedric Bailem and Mr. Thomas Foster make up the other members of the session.

The vicissitudes of Scottish Church history was reflected in Marshfield, when for a brief period the Kirk and the Free Church stood in close proximity. After 23 years the two became reunited.

In 1905 Marshfield separated from the Covehead and Stanhope churches which at that time formed the pastoral charge and in 1925 united with Mt. Stewart and Harrington to form the present pastorate.

Some of the early ministers of St. Columba were Rev. Alexander MacWilliams, Rev. George Moffat, Rev. William Scott and Rev. Alex. Mabon. The present minister is Rev. Lee M. MacNaughton of Chatham, N. B. and Brooklyn, N. S. This is Mr. MacNaughton's first charge, although he did serve as a supply pastor at Belfast last summer. Mr. MacNaughton, who received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Dalhousie University, saw six years service in the Canadian Army. Two and one half years were with the Halifax Rifles and three and a half years with the Canadian Army Overseas Corps. He was inducted into the Marshfield charge May 28th of this year.

Two of the most recent pastors have been Rev. Norman Young of Montague and Rev. J. V. Crawford of Mosca Burns, Ont. The rededication service this Sunday will take place at 11:00 a.m. Rev. Mr. MacNaughton will be in charge of the service. The special preacher will be Rev. Stewart Merich of Zion Presbyterian Church.

The Zion male quartette will provide special music for the occasion. —Barter's Film Lab.

Closing Of Primary Church Vacation School

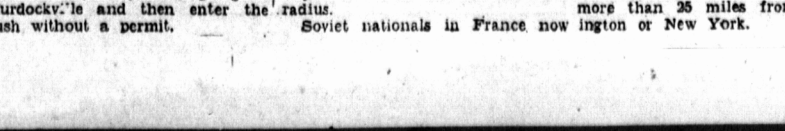

The closing of the Primary Church Vacation School was held in the social hall of Trinity Church yesterday morning. A goodly number of parents and visitors were present.

The program, presided over by Miss Mary Morrison, Joint-Intendant of the Primary School, opened with a Rhythm Band selection under the direction of Master Clive Thompson, young son of the newly appointed organist Mr. Thompson. This was followed by opening remarks of welcome and introduction of staff members. Mrs. Gordon MacDonald then outlined the purpose and project of the Vacation School. Miss Morrison explained how this was presented to the children through the daily program.

Mrs. Earle Baker presented a dramatization with her group. The subject chosen was "The Parable of the Sower". The children then participated in a game, "The Farmer in the Dell".

Rev. Mr. Evans was called upon to make a few remarks after which the program was brought to a close with a worship service under the direction of Mrs. Lloyd Ward. After the Benediction by Mr. Evans, the parents and visitors were invited to see the display of handwork done by the children.

The Junior Closing will take place in Hertz Hall this morning at 10 o'clock.

Rev. L. M. MacNaughton Minister of the Marshfield Presbyterian Church.

Arranging For Clearing Flooded Section After Rain

"A three way agreement is being negotiated between the City Corporation, the Provincial Government and the Canadian National Railway with a view to clearing up the flood situation which follows every heavy rain at the east end of Grafton Street, near the Canada Packers plant."

Under command of Lt. L. N. Henderson of Ottawa, the group performs three times daily at 11:30 a.m., 2:30 p.m., and 4:30 p.m. Each demonstration is of 15 minutes duration and includes gymnastic methods of disarming a soldier who is armed with a rifle and bayonet, disarming a person armed with a revolver, defence against kicking attacks, body holds, choke holds, club attacks and knife attacks.

All members of the group trained intensively for a month prior to the CNE and have reached a high standard of proficiency in this type of instruction which is part of the curriculum of every Canadian Army recruit.

School Cadets Back From Aldershot

Ten Queen Square School cadets and one from Prince St. School arrived home last evening after completing seven weeks of training at Aldershot Camp with 600 other Maritime Royal Canadian Army cadets.

Island reserve officers called out to give instruction at the camp, who also returned yesterday were: Lieut. Ron Nicholson, Lieut. James MacNeill and Lieut. Joseph Condon. Instruction was also given by Plt. Lieut. J. W. F. McCallum, Capt. J. W. Crokin, Lieut. T. A. Bradley of Queen Square and Lieut. Don MacBeth of Prince Street.

Four courses were given at the Camp as laid out by Eastern Command and were designated Junior Leader Course, Senior Leader Course, Driver Mechanic Course and Signal Course. Reports indicate that all the Charlottetown cadets measured up well in the various courses and that the camp was regarded as a most successful one.

Ch'town Cadet

Continued from page 1 naval training ship for a sailing tour to Sandhamn, a famous seaside resort. The visitors met the Chief of the Air Staff, toured City Hall and were guests of the city of Stockholm for lunch followed by a sightseeing tour, and a dinner at the famous "Alhambra" restaurant. Other places visited were the open air museum and zoo at Skansen, Gothenburg, and the central Flying School of the R.S.A.F.

An afternoon with Swedish cadets attending summer camp included hiking on the mountains and a trip to Gotland proved most enjoyable to Sgt. Massey as mountain hiking was a new experience. "Lunch at the American Embassy was followed by a free afternoon for shopping when much of the excess baggage we carried on the homeward flight was picked up," Sgt. Massey said.

"I shall always be grateful to the officers of 60 Squadron for recommending me as qualified to take this wonderful trip and for the support and encouragement received from the R.C.A.F. Association, and hope to be able to pass on what I have learned to my fellow cadets here, as an appreciation," he said.

Sgt. Massey is a son of Mr. W. E. Massey, Provincial Auditor, and Mrs. Massey.

Relax Restrictions On Red Diplomats

LONDON, (CP)—Britain, France and the United States have relaxed travel restrictions on Soviet diplomats in their countries.

The moves—expected to be taken by other North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations—follows similar concessions given by the Russians. The Soviet Union announced two months ago that they were giving more freedom of movement to foreign diplomats and reporters.

In Britain, Soviet diplomats will be allowed to travel within 35 miles of London without informing the foreign office. Previously they were restricted to a 25-mile radius.

Soviet nationals in France now will be able to travel all over the country provided they notify the foreign office a day or two in advance. Previously they were limited to the Paris zone and its suburbs.

In the U.S., Soviet officials stationed in Washington will be able to visit Chesapeake Bay resorts—where they have leased a number of cottages—without giving notice to the state department. However, they will still have to give advance notice to the state department whenever they propose to travel more than 25 miles from Washington or New York.

Baptists Open Convention At Wolfville

WOLFVILLE, N. S. (CP)—Rev. F. Townley Lord of London, Eng., presented the first of his series of devotional addresses Thursday as Baptists from the Maritime Provinces convened here in their annual assembly.

He is president of the Baptist World Alliance and editor of Baptist Times. The Maritime United Baptists Institute opened its annual sessions here Wednesday.

Reports heard during the day indicated a healthy state within the denomination. Miss Mildren Law of Hampton, N.B., president of the Baptist Women's Missionary Society, also holding its annual convention here, opened Thursday's session with a devotional message.

Dr. Esther Clark Wright, Fredericton, reported on her visit to India and outlined the desirable policy of short-term missionaries in that country.

Later Mrs. J. Murray Armstrong, Sussex, N. B., conducted a memorial service, followed by a prayer of dedication for two new missionary recruits for India, Miss Helen Allaby, Saint John, N. B., and Miss Mildren Law, Hampton.

Visitors From California

Mr. and Mrs. James Kahl of Merced, Calif., are visiting the Island for the first time and enjoying their new experience. They left their home State two months ago and travelled leisurely towards the Atlantic coast. Mr. Kahl has a variety of interests, chief of which is the cultivation of six hundred acres of land, including 450 acres of cotton. He also has 70 acres of figs, 50 acres of almonds and 20 acres of walnuts and peaches under cultivation. Mr. Kahl remarked in passing that almonds were bringing 20 cents per pound and walnuts 25 cents.

In going through the city market yesterday Mr. Kahl mentioned that he had never heard the bagpipes. This led to an invitation being phoned him to visit Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Burke, which he and his wife did last evening where they were entertained with piping and Highland dancing by the talented Burke family.

Paton-Young Wedding

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George MacDonald, Kingsboro, was the scene of a pretty wedding Wednesday afternoon, August 12 at 2:30 o'clock when Margaret Young, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Young, Kingsboro, became the bride of George Paton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Paton, Rollo Bay, P.E.I. The bride chose a powder blue suit with white accessories and a corsage of pink musk roses. She was attended by Miss Joyce Stead of Rollo Bay as bridesmaid, wearing a blue suit with white accessories, and carried a bouquet of roses.

The groomsmen were Andrew Paton, brother of the groom. The bride's mother wore a dress of pink crepe. The groom's mother wore a dress of blue velvet.

Following the ceremony a delicious buffet lunch was served. The couple left on a honeymoon trip to Nova Scotia and Cape Breton. On their return they will reside in Rollo Bay.
