McPartland-DesRoches Vows Exchanged In New Jersey

St. Cecilia's Roman Catholic Church at Englewood, New Jersey, U.S.A., was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when on July 4th, 1959, Miss Sylvia Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael DesRoches of Tignish, Prince Edward Island, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony with Thomas Joseph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McPartland, Brooklyn, N.Y.

The marriage ceremony was performed and the Nuptial Mass sung by Reverend Emmanuel Gallant, pastor of St. Joseph's Cathedral, Quebec, P.Q., uncle of the bride.

The bride entering the church on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Sylvain Gallant, New York, N.Y., who gave her in marriage, was lovely in a wedding gown of chantilly lace over taffeta. The three bridesmaids, Mrs. Evelyn Carroll sister of the groom, Miss Veronica Barrett, and Miss Jean Brunone, all of New York, N.Y., wore gowns of poise-sole over nylon net and taffeta styled on the same lines as the matron

Two hundred relatives and friends came to extend hearty words of good wishes and congratulations to the young bride and groom, after which dinner was served to the bridal party and their guests. The bride's table was beautifully laid with an Irish linen cloth, and centered with a three tier wedding cake, beautifully decorated and topped with a miniature bride and groom. It was flanked with low silver vases filled with summer flowers and tall white tapers in silver candle holders. The toast to the bride was proposed by the best man, Mr. John Miller and was responded to by the groom.

Following the dinner the cake was cut in the traditional manner by the bride and groom, after which they left for Greenwood Lake in New York State to spend a two-weeks honeymoon. On their return they will reside in Brooklyn, N.Y.

A pre-nuptial affair was a miscellaneous shower tendered the bride by several of her girl friends in the Kinsey Club, Brooklyn, N.S. A large crowd of friends were in attendance and she received many useful and beautiful gifts. Refreshments were served and a social evening enjoyed.

NORTH RIVER W. B.

The August meeting of the North River Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Elmer Yeo.

PARTRIDGE FAMILY HAS PICNIC

August 2nd, 1959, was a very special day for the family of Cyrus Partridge, veteran retired railway engineer of the C. N. R., Confederation Street, Parkdale, when, for the first time in twenty years, all members of the family were together, except Mrs. Partridge, (Anna Belle MacKenzie of Murray River), who died in 1930, and Gordon, who is married and living in Sussex, England.

A happy day and evening were spent at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sutherland on the Hillsboro River, and at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allison MacDonald, Brighton Road.

An interesting fact about the reunion of this large family was that, out of a total of 60 children, grand-children, and great-grand-children, 43 were present. Sharing in the happy occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Glover MacDonald (Olia MacKenzie of Murray River), from New York City,

Mrs. Lester Partridge, New York, Mr. Jack Lee, of London, Ontario.

MR. AND MRS. J. GERARD BURGE Young Couple United In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Florence Clarkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Clarkin of New Wiltshire, P.E.I., was married to James Gerard Burge, son of Mrs. Annie Stewart and the late James Burge, Charlottetown, P.E.I., on Saturday, July 25th, 1959. The place of the ceremony was St. Anne's Roman Catholic Church, Lot 65.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Father McCarthy, who also celebrated Nuptial Mass. Present in the Sanctuary was the Reverend Father Preston Hamill.

The organist was Mrs. Lloyd MacPherson, New Wiltshire. The soloist was Miss Margaret McIntyre, Charlottetown.

Summer flowers and vigil lights decorated the altar. The guests pews were marked with blue satin bows in harmony with the flowers on the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length gown of white sabbina neckline, trimmed with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Her headdress consisted of pearls with a nylon illusion finger tip veil. Her only ornament was a strand of cultural pearls, a gift from the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses.

The maid of honor was Miss Verna Clarkin, sister of the bride, while the bridesmaids were Miss Millie Mullen and Miss Ruth McIntyre, R.T. They were dressed identically in sea coral sheath nylon organza over taffeta with matching white picture hats, gloves and shoes. The carried bouquets of white carnations.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Clarkin chose a blue sheath dress and her accessories included a white picture hat and gloves and she wore a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Stewart, mother of the groom, was attired in grey lace taffeta and wore pink accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses.

After the nuptial mass a reception was held at the Charlottetown Hotel for approximately 85 guests. The bride's table was decorated with cut flowers and centered with a three tiered wedding cake.

Mrs. Richard Clarkin, sister-in-law of the bride was in charge of the guest book.

Dr. J.L.F. Burge, cousin of the groom, was the capable master of ceremonies. Congratulatory remarks were made by Rev. Charles McCarthy and Rev. Preston Hamill, L. L. A. Clarkin brother of the bride, and Maurice Cahill, uncle of the bride, also made congratulatory remarks.

Mr. J.D. Burge, brother of the groom, proposed the toast to the bride, responded to by the groom. Mr. Cullen Delorey proposed the toast to the bridesmaids.

Telegrams were received and read from Toronto, Moncton, Prince George and New York. Mr. and Mrs. Burge left on a honeymoon trip to Bar Harbour Maine. The bride's travelling costume was a dress of sheath

Visitors Delighted With Beauty Of Our Island

While the Fair Week is now only a spent dream its impressions and memories still linger. They come back to mind as we go about the cares of our day that after all, as James husband of ours reminds us teasingly, are no more than enough to keep us exercised.

"There are our household duties lightened unbelievably by the coming of electricity to the farm; and the care of the plants with out which we would find rooms and yard extremely bare and colorless. There are the families of the name to entertain at times and enjoy, and also so good to see are the kin and friends and the stranger who happens by our door. At a plaintive bleat we may also carry a drink to what Alex terms "the lambe-goat" or for auld lang syne, a pair of mangels or other treat to the fowls in the poultry yard. A calf of mixed breeding too gets palls at our hands even though we suspect she is apt to become, "Daddy's cow" in the end. Such items if not exactly work in James' mind serve to fill our summer days satisfyingly full and pleasant.

So scenes of The Fair return to us here in the quiet of our every day round. We recall to wonder over their lives because each is an interesting tale, the strangers we met there, hitherto only names to us - in some instances wholly unknown: those from the other Provinces and The States we would have appreciated and enjoy the delights our island offers and take home with them nice impressions of it and its people. And what satisfying compliments on behalf of both we were privileged to hear.

"It's the prettiest island" one said. "We love it! And the folks why they remind us of those in the South. They always have time to stop to chat with the stranger to explain something puzzling, to direct us here or there, or "maybe just talk island" to us."

"We have fallen in love with the island on this first trip. It's so green and pretty. And the folks are so friendly. We plan to return next summer, if all goes well" another said.

And another: "We came last summer for our first visit and liked it so well we bought a cottage, Islanders by this" with a happy smile. "Yes I believe we are! Like it? How can we help it? It's so lovely a spot."

And island hearts warm at the sincerity expressed. And island are fairer to us home-born, the summer sky more blue, the created seas our birthright more sparkling, the red of cliff and by-road an especial shade, and everything dearer to all.

We recall too of The Fair that James (Bless him for his interest and care and concern of herd and flock and family!) nodded, and a ghost of a smile lit his face for the moment when the herd sire won honors in the showing in the company of the sleek animals paraded there. In all the cattle-rings were pictured animals, to the mind of this farmwife: trim pricked jerseys, attractively marked guernseys, grace of the Ayrshire, great handsome holsteins, shewn and shades of the shorthorns, greatness of the herford, fascination of the red poll, charm of the Angus. . . and all, every last animal of every breed obviously the pride of the farmer or herdsman. There was the morning. . . But.

Until tomorrow -- -- Diary -- Good-night. . .

STERLING W. L.

The regular monthly meeting of the Sterling Women's Institute, Stanley Bridge, was held at the home of Mrs. Brendon Reid, there were 15 members and two visitors present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, bills were presented and moved paid. Visiting committee reported two calls made, and two baby-gifts given.

It was decided that $15.00 be sent to Hunter River to help out with expenses of the swimming class, which was held in Stanley recently. $17.00 was received from Mrs. A. S. MacEwen, proceeds from the lobster carnival. Collection for the evening amounted to $1.80.

The September meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. H. S. MacEwen, Summerside, with roll call to be answered by a pickling recipe.

Committees for the following month are: School, Mrs. Lea Reid and Mrs. Brendon Reid; visiting, Mrs. George Fyfe and Mrs. Lea Reid; program, Mrs. Loren MacEwen and Mrs. D. C. MacKay; lunch, Mrs. Frank Bell, Mrs. Roy Douglas, Mrs. Robert MacKay, Mrs. K. R. MacKay and Mrs. Lea Reid.

Mrs. Loren MacEwen made a program which was enjoyed by everyone. Lunch was then served by hostess and committee in charge. Meeting closed by singing.

ROYAL CHAPLAIN DIES EXETER, England (Reuters) Dr. Spencer Cecil Carpenter, 81, former chaplain to King George V and dean of Exeter Cathedral from 1935 to 1950, died Wednesday. Early in his career he aroused criticism when he joined the Labor Party and ran in a borough election. It was found that a clergyman of the Church of England could not be put up for election and thereafter Dr. Carpenter took an independent line in politics.
