Live Kangaroo Inspection Proves Difficult Problem

TORONTO (CP)—Somewhere in the depths of a dusty customs shed at Saint John, N.B., are some cans of Australian kangaroo tail soup.

The shipment—en route to the Australian pavilion at the Canadian National Exhibition—was seized because Aussie importers were unable to produce certificates required by Canada customs.

The Canadian government will admit only meats accompanied by certificates filled out by government employees stating the animal was healthy before it was killed and that the meat was fit to eat when packaged.

"Did you ever try to catch a live kangaroo in the woods and inspect it," asked Assistant Trade Commissioner George Zegelin of Montreal.

"We have the same laws about the import of meats at home and we respect the demands of the Canadian authorities," he said.

"But that's a problem the exporters are dealing with now. We would like to be exporting this Australian delicacy, but there aren't any government inspectors who can ride a racing kangaroo to inspect the others before they are killed.

"Some of the exporters are working on plans to build an enclosure where they will bring the live animals for inspection —but it has to be over 14 feet high—because those blighters can really hop."

BALTIC

Mr. Darby Brown of Baltic is making a rapid recovery following a recent accident which occurred on the farm when Mr. Brown had the misfortune of having one of his fingers severed.

Miss Mable Casely, Hamilton, is visiting relatives in Halifax, N.S.

Miss Gertrude Cousins returned to her home in Baltic past the probably best contract of three notrump.

South responded four hearts and West led a club. Declarer won it in dummy and led the nine of hearts. East, so pleased with the contract that he hadn' doubled, covered with the jack. South took the ace. West unexpectedly showing out.

However, South didn't let the 6-0 trump break upset him. He made the contract despite the bad division of trumps. He cashed three rounds of diamonds and ruffed a diamond in dummy.

Next he took two high clubs, ending in his hand, and led his fifth diamond, ruffing in dummy with the eight. East, who by this time had only trumps left, overruffed with the queen.

East could then do no better than cash the king of hearts and return a heart, but South had the 10-6 left, both of which were high, and they provided tricks number nine and ten. South scored, in all, three trump tricks in his hand, and four diamonds and three clubs to make the contract.

East was disappointed by the result, of course, but he shouldn't have been. South had made four hearts, surprisingly enough, for a score of 620 points, but he wound up with a bottom on the board.

At the other tables, the North-South pairs either contracted for three notrump, making four for a score of 600 points, or else collected at least 700 points for defeating West in a high spade contract.

All of which shows that it doesn't much matter how well you play the cards if the bidding lands you in an inferior contract. The bidding is at least as important as the play.

Good play is not invariably rewarded. For example, take this hand played in a duplicate pair tournament.

North's double of three spades was certainly not the best of all possible bids. It would have been more appropriate to bid three notrump over three spades—North could hardly expect his partner to pass the double, and any suit response South might make would go

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X E
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
