

Consider Ways To Import Feed Grain By Water

"We ought to be looking for some way to import grain here other than by the railway," Premier J. Walter Jones stated in the Legislature yesterday afternoon while discussing the recent decision of the Dominion Government to cut the freight rate assistance on grains.

Jones thought the grain might be brought down here by boat and stored in silos. "I would welcome any resolution to remind the members in Parliament to fight for the subsidy," he stated.

He stated that under the agreement the subsidy was to be continued until July and if that were the case money for the assistance would come under the supplementary estimates in the House of Commons. The subsidy, he stated, amounted to $8.00 a ton.

The discussion was opened by the Leader of the Opposition, Mr. R. R. Bell who asked what action the Government was going to take to counteract the loss in assistance in freight rates.

Hon. C. C. Baker, Minister of Agriculture, stated during his speech on the draft address, that he was advised during the Dominion-Provincial Conference at Ottawa that the assistance was to be discontinued.

He stated that he pressed on Mr. Gardiner, the necessity of continuing the assistance and asked that the farmers be assured of this assistance at least a year in advance.

Mr. Gardiner, he stated, was not sure who was benefiting from the program. "I told him that if the assistance were dropped it would mean an increase of $8.00 a ton more to the Prince Edward Island farmer and that he would have to go out of business."

Outlines Route Of St. Patrick's Day Parade

The route of the St. Patrick's Day parade was outlined last night by Chief Marshall Leo Dowling at a smoker and entertainment of the B.I.S. members in the Whelan Memorial Hall. Mr. Wilfred Smith presided at the smoker.

Chief Marshall Dowling stated the parade would move off from the Whelan Memorial Hall at 9:30 on St. Patrick's Day morning. The members will pause at the cenotaph where they will place a wreath in honor of their fallen brethren.

Then they will proceed to Pownall Street and from there to Kent. They will pause at O'FCY for a broadcast after which they will proceed to Queen, Richmond, Great George and thence to the Basilica where High Mass will be offered at 10 o'clock.

After Mass the parade will form up and return to the Whelan Hall via Richmond, Prince, Kent, Great George and Grafton Streets. A short program will be conducted inside the hall with a number of stunts present.

The parade will be marshalled by Chief Marshall Leo Dowling. The Hecce Band will accompany the parade.

Maranda said he asked her why she told him Guay's affairs. She replied: "I am like a mother to him."

Guay had come to his restaurant a couple of times with a girl who had been introduced to him by Mrs. Pitre as Guay's niece.

The girl was Marie-Ange Robitaille, a 20-year-old waitress, related her love affair with Guay, climaxed by the time-bombing of the airliner.

She was 17 when she first met Guay in a restaurant.

Later she and Guay went to live at a distant St. Lawrence River north shore point but she returned to Quebec soon after and Guay followed.

After the crash, police questioned her, Marie-Ange said. She visited Guay once more at Mrs. Pitre's house, after tipping off police, and there he asked her if she loved him.

She said: "No."

He called on business to take these five steps:

1. Follow a pricing policy in the public interest. Business should not try to increase mark-ups—margins of profit—"just a little more" to protect itself against cost advances. This was one of the causes of "panic buying" and boosted prices still further.
2. Increase production and cut down on waste.
3. Avoid industrial and commercial hoarding.
4. Pare non-essential capital expansion and investment to the bone.
5. Cut down on non-essential employment. This will have the effect of freeing manpower for defence production.

Boost Yesterday In Price of Butter

An increase of six cents per pound on butter yesterday morning was coupled with an increase of exactly a week ago of two cents, now has housewives paying 70 cents per pound for this non-luxury food in Prince Edward Island.

Approximately the same price is now standard in all three Maritime Provinces, while in Toronto consumers are paying 85 cents per pound. Cheese, which used to be valued at half the price of butter, is now selling wholesale at 40 cents per pound, and has remained at this price for some time. No increase in this price is expected.

Restaurant operators in the Province state that their present menu prices do little more than meet their costs on many foods, and it is expected that a revision will take place in the near future. As the basis for the increased prices they will take present high prices of all foods, fuel, and overhead, together with the higher wages which must now be paid to their help.

For prices are a little lower than previously but beef has been steadily climbing until now the lowly hamburger sells to restaurants at 58 or 60 cents per pound. Restaurant operators say that the 10 cents increase in the price of hamburger sandwiches which was brought into effect last year does not by any means cover the more than 75 percent increase in their present cost.

Sharp Drop In Returns From N. B. Potatoes

FREDERICTON, March 13 (CP)—A large reduction in financial returns to New Brunswick potato growers for the 1950 crop, as compared with previous years, was reported in the Legislature today by H. C. Greenlaw (L-York).

Resuming the Throne Speech debate after the week-end adjournment, Mr. Greenlaw, a prominent potato exporter, said that normal returns for an average potato crop in the Province were from $17,000,000 to $20,000,000. So far this shipping season, however, only about $5,000,000 had been received.

Although fewer potatoes were on hand than at the corresponding date last year, the situation was worse because the same markets were not available. Shipments to the United States had practically ceased since the low duty rate quota was filled long ago. New Brunswick shippers and growers had to depend almost entirely on the Canadian market, which could not absorb the balance.

Mr. Greenlaw said he considered that New Brunswick growers were not receiving "the same consideration as producers in other parts of Canada and even foreign countries."

Tests For First Aid Instructors

The Red Cross first aid committee has issued instructor certificates to nine candidates who recently completed tests in various phases of the instructors' examination.

These men and women are fully qualified to teach standard first aid courses and Red Cross officials recommend that the residents of this Province take steps to organize and attend lectures in first aid procedures.

The following people have been awarded first aid instructor rating: Miss Mary C. Campbell, Emerald Junction R.R. 3; Mr. Albert Gallant, St. Timothy's; Mrs. Anita Gallant, Plusville; Miss Marguerite Houston, Mayfield; Ms. Gilbert Harper, Emmore; Mr. J. Darrach Murray, Emerald R.R. 3; Mrs. Marion Nicholson, Flat River; Miss Marion Woolridge, Covehead Road; Miss Geraldine MacDonald, Cardigan.

to as high as 60 cents in the new butter year. A final decision, however, is not expected until about a week before the season begins.

The Government's stocks were purchased from producers during summer months last year when the market, as usual, dropped and producers sold butter to the Government at the 53-cent-a-pound support level.

After the butter-producing season ended in October, the Government began selling supplies at 57 cents a pound, basing Montreal, in carload lots. The four-cent-a-pound difference in buying and selling prices covered storage and freight costs.

With production down and Canada on the edge of a possible butter shortage, the Government had little trouble disposing of stocks. In fact, as Mr. Gardiner said in the Commons, sales were confined throughout the selling period to those dealers with less than two weeks' supply in sight.

Counterfeit U. S. $10 Bills Circulating

TORONTO, March 13 (CP)—Superintendent M. F. E. Anthony of the R.C.M.P. estimated today that "several thousand dollars" in counterfeit United States $10 bills are still circulating in Eastern Canada despite the fact that a counterfeiting ring was smashed last year. The ring originated in upper New York State and several principals were jailed.

Not Moved To Prairies

Mr. Gardiner also told David Fulton (PO-Kazloops), that Government butter was not moved to the Prairies, though sales generally could be made in any Province.

Officials said the reason for eliminating the Prairies from the list of purchasers is that the Prairies usually start producing butter well ahead of other Provinces.

Prairies production steps up in March. It doesn't get into full swing in other Provinces until about mid-April. On March 1, Canada had 14,900,000 pounds in storage. Last year in March, 12,500,000 pounds were produced and Mr. Gardiner estimated that Canada will produce about the same amount this year.

The Government found no problem in selling butter in 1950-51. So acute became the demand that five Canadian butter dealers made arrangements to import 4,800,000 pounds from New Zealand for distribution in Eastern Canada.

They were Olive and Dorion, Lovell and Christmas and A. A. Ayre Company of Montreal; Canada Packers Limited of Toronto and Eastern Township Produce Company of Sherbrooke, Que.

Sister John of the Cross, Superior of the Sacred Heart Home, passed away suddenly in the Charlottetown Hospital last evening after being taken ill the previous day. She was a sister of Mr. D. A. MacDonald, Glanfinnan, Chairman of the Potato Marketing Board, and was well known in Charlottetown for her devoted work in connection with health and social service.

The remains will be taken to the Sacred Heart Home this afternoon where Requiem Mass will be held tomorrow morning at nine o'clock, and then to Mount St. Mary's for a nine a.m. burial will be in the funeral Mass on Friday morning Community Cemetery.

Sydney Girl Is Campus Queen At Dalhousie

HALIFAX, March 13 (CP)—Dalhousie University students took their last fling at all things that are nice about college life today. Tomorrow they begin studying for examinations, little more than a month away.

I was Munro Day—in honor of George Munro, an early benefactor—and after black and gold had been flaunted for 24 hours of gaily and fun-making the campus queen was chosen.

This year's queen is attractive, red-haired Sally Newman of Sydney, N. S., a senior arts student. Miss Newman is a graduate of Sydney Academy and came to Dalhousie on a regional scholarship. She was crowned by Frances Doane of Halifax, last year's queen.

Along with the campus queen contest, there were dances, hockey and basketball games, one-act plays, competitions among barber shop quartets, and scores of other things that are not tolerated by the faculty when exam time rolls near.

Munro Day had its beginning in 1832 when students petitioned the board of governors to proclaim a holiday in honor of their great benefactor, George Munro. The holiday has been celebrated annually since that time. For the last decade the date of Munro Day has been permanently fixed as the second Tuesday in March.

C.N.R. Appointments

MONTREAL, March 13—The appointment of E. A. Ryder to freight traffic manager of the Central Region, Canadian National Railways, with headquarters at Toronto, and of C. L. McCoy to traffic manager of the Atlantic region of the company with headquarters at Montreal, was announced here today.

Rocky Point Ferry

He noted that about $80,000 had been spent on the Rocky Point ferry last year. This would have gone a long way on building a bridge over the West River, he observed.

He wondered how the people in Rocky Point felt over the Premier's statement about setting up a liquor store in that locality. "It was were lots of communities the people would be put out by such reflection of their habits," he stated.

Premier Jones replied that Mr. Matheson might get some votes on the matter, to which Mr. Matheson answered, "Possibly, but I would just as soon not obtain votes in such a manner."

Farmers in the past few years had followed the pattern of the Government and borrowed and borrowed at a low rate. The farmer bought and he finally found himself in the same position as the Government, — down, he stated.

One of the big problems facing the farmers was the uncertainty in prices, he continued. While the beef prices are steady the other prices are not so good. The price of butter during the past year has been low and consequently we now have a shortage.

With regard to hogs he noted that Island farmers had paid the highest prices for feeds ever. But when we came to market hogs the price was comparatively low, he stated.

He noted that a great deal of grain had been shipped out of the province during the past year. He knew that the Department of Agriculture could not interfere in this matter but it grieved him to see business men buy grain and ship it out of the province at 70 cents a bushel. "We are now paying about $3.30 for oats," he added.

The fishermen in 2nd Queens had a good lobster season last spring and a good mackerel season in the fall, he stated, but they barely made wages fishing cod in the summer. He was sorry that nothing had been done to repair Rustico Harbour.

He thought that the attitude of the Government towards rural electrification was a joke. "If you want an extension to a line you don't go to the premier, or the Minister, but to the Maritime Electric Company," he stated.

He noted with regret that it was becoming increasingly difficult to secure the services of doctors in rural areas. This seems strange, he stated, especially as the road conditions are improving.

With regard to roads, he stated there were many bottlenecks in Second Queens. The Colville and Rustico roads were neglected, the road from New Glasgow to Caversham had not been improved, the road from Brasley to Hunter River and the South Shore Road to Rocky Point were bad," he stated.

He stated that the Island's vacant seat in the Senate and in the House of Commons were just political manipulations for politics sake.

Says Protests Justified Re Tax Agreement

The Opposition resolution introduced in the Legislature in 1947 with regard to the Dominion-Provincial tax agreement was amply justified in the light of the address given in the House this year by Mr. William Hughes, former Provincial Treasurer, declared Mr. J. Philip Matheson, Second District of Queen's, in speaking on the Draft Address on Monday evening.

Citing Mr. Hughes' analysis of the Island's fiscal need claims, and the manner in which the present agreement had failed short of satisfying these claims, Mr. Matheson recalled that the Opposition resolution of 1947 had criticised the payments as being unable to stabilize the revenue of the Province, and of falling to safeguard the Province's statutory claims.

"Tonight we heard that the first offer made to this Province was $2,000,000, and later they increased it to $2,100,000," Mr. Matheson said. "That was quite a revelation to me, to know that at that time they were going to stop at that."

"But we didn't get that $2,100,000, because we already received $647,000. You are claiming credit for the statutory subsidies as well. You only got the standard amount that the other Provinces received, plus what we had already obtained through agreements presented to Ottawa throughout the years."

"At the time that this agreement was argued, it was claimed that we were getting $22 per capita, when we only received the standard of some $15 per capita plus the old subsidies."

"This was precisely what we contended at that time, and the facts have proved the wisdom of the resolution which we introduced, and which was killed in 1947 on the floor of this House. We certainly hope that we shall get a better deal at the next conference."

Mr. Matheson said that there was no question as to the importance of extending old age pensions provided by his sentence. The letter asks that the recipient go to Havana, Cuba, taking with him $9,600 cash to pay the prisoner's fine, and after picking up further information and documents there proceed to Mexico City.

In Mexico City the fine would be paid, the baggage check would be picked up and the recipient would be on his way to pick up the trunk containing the $385,000.

Spanish Prisoner Swindle Masquerades Under New Name

A Charlottetown business man has received correspondence on what is known as the Mexican Prison Swindle.

Formerly the attempt to get men from their money in this manner was made under the Spanish Prison Swindle, but recently the locale has been changed to Mexico. Newspapers in the western parts of the Dominion have been giving much publicity to the facts in the hope that no one would be taken in by the very plausible story.

The local man, after receiving the first letter, air mail from Mexico, showed it to the proper authorities and then to satisfy his own curiosity sent an answer, with the result that the entire plan was outlined for him.

The first letter states that the writer is a prisoner in a Mexican prison, but as he is in charge of the prison school is allowed certain privileges, such as letter writing without censorship. He states the recipient's name was given to him by a friend, as a person of high integrity, and asks if he would be willing to help him save $385,000 which is inside a secret compartment in a trunk deposited in a Customs house in the United States.

The writer offers one-third of the money for assistance in securing it for himself and his 18-year-old daughter. He does not sign his own name but asks that an answer be sent to a third person who has access to the prison.

After receiving the letter requesting details, the "prisoner" wrote again enclosing a newspaper clipping of his arrest for bankruptcy, and an official form covering his sentence. The letter asks that the recipient go to Havana, Cuba, taking with him $9,600 cash to pay the prisoner's fine, and after picking up further information and documents there proceed to Mexico City.

Still No National Dish In Canada

TORONTO, March 13 (CP)—The managing director of the Canadian Restaurant Association told today why Canada still hasn't a national dish.

"You can't merchandise the food you aren't able to secure," said Mrs. F. G. Montgomery at the Association's seventh annual meeting here.

"You might be able to get all the materials for, say, a fish dish, in the Maritimes, and find them impossible to obtain in Western Canada."

Mrs. Montgomery suggested an alternative: regional dishes. For instance, the district around Lake Erie might try white fish.

"The best white fish in the world comes from the north shore of Lake Erie," she said. "Yet you can't buy these fish in Canada. They are shipped direct to New York."

Mrs. Montgomery praised at least one aspect of the Canadian restaurant business.

"Canadian coffee is improving in quality," she said. "American visitors say they have noticed marked improvement in our coffee-making in the last few years."

Withdraw Book On Dionnes

NEW YORK, March 13 (CP)—Edward Goodkind, editor in charge of a book about the Dionne quintuplets, said today the book was withdrawn from publication in Canada because of "copyright problems." He would not elaborate.

Speaking for the publishers, Doubleday and Company, Incorporated, he said the book will be released in the United States March 15 on schedule.

Last night, George E. Nelson, vice-president of Doubleday Canada Ltd., the Canadian subsidiary, said in Toronto that "The Dionne Legend, Quintuplets in Captivity" has been withdrawn in Canada because of certain inaccuracies."

Goodkind said earlier today that "we have heard about the withdrawal in Canada but the whole thing is so vague we don't know any more. We are trying to find out."

The book was written by Lillian Barker of Atlanta, Ga.

Goodkind said Miss Barker knew the Dionne family well. The book deals with the early life of the five sisters and the family's relations with the late Dr. Allan Roy Rafoe who brought the quintuplets into the world.

Reviews Activities Of Agriculture Department

"Farmers may not have a great deal of cash in their pockets but their standard of living is the highest ever," stated Hon. C. C. Baker, Minister of Agriculture, during the debate on the Draft Address in the Legislature yesterday.

He added that farmers were not in any such terrible straits as argued by the Opposition. As evidence of their prosperity he noted that there were 1,300 more automobiles registered in 1950 than in 1949, and a large increase in the registration of trucks in the same year.

In his address Mr. Baker gave an extensive review of the activities conducted under his department. These included field and root crops, livestock, cold storage plants, and Falconwood farm.

The 1950 crop year was favourable as far as field crops were concerned, he stated. The hay crop was a bit below that of the 1948 and 1949 crops but he estimated that it compared well with the crops over the past ten years.

There were 1,200,000 more bushels of grain produced in 1950 than in the previous year. He believed that the Province could produce as much every year without affecting the fertility of the soil. The acreage of wheat was increased over that of 1949, the oat acreage was the same, and the barley acreage was down.

Most Important Industry

"The dairy industry in my opinion is the most important in the Province," he said. "The proceeds exceeded $3,500,000 in 1950." He stated that it was rather alarming that the sale of dairy cattle was being carried to the extent that it is and added that the female animals should be kept on the farm. He commended those breeders whose recent high R.O.P. records appeared in the press.

He briefly noted that the Government had constructed storage facilities for the dairymen as requested by the Dairymen's Association.

Falconwood Farm is being carried on in a very efficient and profitable manner under the supervision of the Department and Messrs. Unsworth Gurney and George Darrach.

There are 61 head of cattle on the farm, 29 cows in milk, with a production of 1,400 lbs. a day. Other livestock includes 16 brood sows, one boar, 161 hogs and 500 laying hens.

He thought that it was good business to put up a pit silo and store silage at the farm. 22 acres of grass were put in silage and fed from Oct. 22 to Feb. 27. "When we first began to feed silage we took away 25% of grain ration and the production remained about the same," he noted.

He reviewed briefly the work done by the fieldmen in his department and by the Women's Institutes.

With regard to the establishing of a sugar beet industry in the Province, he said it would cost $1,000,000. He stated that high quality sugar beets could be produced and that anything of an industrial nature would be welcomed.

Other services which his department were giving the farmer he outlined as follows: Provincial Laboratory, soil analysis, blood tests for pullorum, bull bonus policy, transportation costs to exhibitions, storage, assistance in killing weeds, bonus at slaughter houses, cold potato warehouses, and the Vocational School.

Train Crashes Into School Bus

FARMVILLE, Va., March 13 (AP)—A passenger train struck the rear of a crowded school bus at a grade crossing west of here late today, killing five Negro children and injuring at least 10 others—some seriously.
