Prince Edward Island after four rounds of play in the Dominion Schoolboy competitions have yet to register a loss. They came through yesterday with two wins, one a close victory over Saskatchewan by the narrow margin of 6-5 and last night with a 9-6 defeat being handed to the Nova Scotia rink.

In the evening game against the Nova Scotia foursome the local rink took an early lead, scoring an impressive four-ender in the first. They held the Nova Scotia rink scoreless till the fifth. In this end the opposing team registered two points making it 5-2 for the Island rink.

The P.W.C. lads got one in the sixth but the Nova Scotians came back strong to score a three-ender in the seventh and draw to within one point of the local rink.

In the eighth the Island rink retaliated with a 2-ender to give them a 3 point lead. In the ninth both teams matched rock for rock and Nova Scotia had the last stone made it count, but the local team got this one back in the final to end the game 9-6. The second and fourth were dead ends.

EXTRA END GAME

In the contest between Manitoba and New Brunswick, Manitoba registered their first win of the competitions, in an exciting extra end game. The score at the end of the seventh was tied 5-5, and in the 8th New Brunswick scored a 3-ender, but Manitoba came back strong to score one in the 9th and two in the final end to tie the score up and force an extra end of play to decide the winner. This extra was played rock for rock with Manitoba scoring on their final stone to rack up their first victory of the playdowns.

THIRD ROUND

In the most thrilling match to date of the Canadian Schoolboy Curling Championship the P. E. I. curling team of Prince of Wales College fought rock for rock to barely edge Saskatchewan 6 to 5 in the afternoon round.

The other matches played proved to be nothing more than easy workouts for the winners as Nova Scotia slaughtered New Brunswick 15 to 2 and Alberta overwhelmed Quebec 14 to 4. In the other two games Ontario beat Newfoundland 13 to 7 and Northern Ontario took Manitoba into camp 15 to 7.

Aces Are Better Than Hockey Series Showed

The Maritime Hockey Senior League is over and we don't think we'll get many arguments if we say the better team won. We don't believe, however, that the score in games 5-1 is an indication of the relative merits of the two teams. Of the six games, there were two top-sided ones, each club winning one. The other four games were close and exciting. One of them was 6-5, and the other three were won by a two-goal margin. One of these went to overtime and in another the insurance tally was fired into a vacant net in the last minute of play. In total goals the Ramblers scored 31 and the Aces 25.

The best way to put it is to say that Amherst was a steadier team. They didn't have as many playing lapses as the Aces had. Their passing was superior but we didn't think they out-skated or out-hustled the Summerside Club.

Now that it's over we'd like to see, and we believe many fans would like to see a series for the Island Championship. Aces have had their fling at the Allan Cup play-offs, and we understand the Royals will get a chance to play in the strictly Maritime playdowns. Neither of these settle the question of Island supremacy.

We think both clubs would benefit by such a series. It would keep the Aces longer in action, and the competition would keep the Royals fit for their coming series. If interest is held at a high level, the clubs should also benefit financially. Last year Parkdale was eliminated in mainland competition with Fredericton and came back to take part in Island play-offs. There is no reason why the Aces could not do the same.

The Cape Breton clubs are just about to start their semi-finals so there should be time for Royals to engage the Aces in a play-off series before the Cape Breton winner is ready.

P. E. I.-Sask. Match Was Really Something To Watch

By DUCK ACORN

Prince Edward Island and Saskatchewan played one of the most outstanding curling games to be witnessed in Charlottetown for many a moon and the crowd were on their feet all the way through the ten ends.

The first end started out as just an ordinary game, and the Sask. skip wicketed off a long guard to land up for shot. In the second end, Burke lost every rock until he came up himself and had to make a cold draw for a one.

In the third end, the Islanders nursed two rocks through the entire end until the skips took over. Burke's first rock was hogged with Hansen a shade short and just at twelve o'clock, Burke's last rock was a foot wide leaving, making a big miss for the local team, as they had a two-ender going. Hansen raised one in to win the end.

In the fourth end it was a straight knock out battle with Burke rolling out on his take out to keep last rock in the fifth end. In the fifth end, Sask were in for a three when Saunders, the vice, drew to the pocket to lay shot. The Sask. vice came in with a beautiful take out rock, clearing the house of the only Island rock. Saunders kept the Islanders in the game by drawing again to the shot rock.

Hansen came down with take-out weight pinched out the shot rock, and, in doing so, scattered his rocks around the house. Burke had to freeze to protect the house from falling in on him and the team, and he made a nice shot. Hansen tried for a pinch which would give him a big four-ender and he got a big hand from the crowd for a good take-out. Burke had to draw to the four foot circle.

When Burke laid his rock down, the boys took a hold of it and swept it all the way; so much so, that they swept it past the four foot circle and it just hung on enoung to cut Sask. out of three rocks, leaving Hansen's rock the counter.

PRESSURE MOUNTS

In the sixth end, two big Sask., misses set up the Islanders for a three, when the skips took over, and at this time the pressure was really boiling. Hansen took out the number two and rolled out himself. Burke also made a take out of a Sask rock and he slipped through the ring to the outside. This still left two for Hansen to go for. Hansen made a nice take out and rolled behind an Island rock to be well guarded.

Burke in attempting a chip caught his number two rock and rolled to the button to settle for one and at the end of six ends Sask. were in front 3-2. The fourth end was blanked out. After the first rocks had been thrown, P.E.I. had the vantage pressure mounting with every rock. At the end of the second's stone, Sask., had one in the house at 11 o'clock in the twelve-footer.

Saunders once again made a perfect freeze and has been a tower of strength to the Islanders cause in the afternoon game. Not to be outdone, Sask. vice repeated with a perfect freeze and Saunders was asked to move without disturbing his own and he made it amid the wild cheering of the Prince of Wales College supporters who were filling the rink with a continuous noise of support.

Once again the Sask. vice came with another good rock the pressure is now on Burke as he leaves the back with his first rock which was a dandy take out with a roll that nudged against Sask No. 2 leaving the Islanders with two rocks. This has been a reversal of form with 10 rocks in play.

Hansen slipped through the port to go to the 12-foot line to leave P. E. I. still one and two and at this point the crowd let out a roar when the rock slipped past. This is the guard that will tell the story as Burke delivers to cover the shot rock.

It turned out to be a half guard forcing Hansen to a cold draw. In making his play he nicked the guard and he rolled in to cut out the Islanders by inches. This left the score 4-4 at the end of the 8th end.

Once again the Island had two in when the second threw their first rocks. Sask. got clear of one with the Island coming back to still lay one and two. The Sask. vice made his shot but is out in the open.

Saunders on his attempt was narrow leaving and got enough of the rock to take it out as he went out himself. Sask. vice came down and he was a shade wide and rolled out with his take out. On Saunders attempt he was just nibbling at twelve o'clock. Hansen took off the front rock and as he did so, pushed it back on a rock just on the back line to keep it alive for P. E. I. Burke elected to draw to the 12-ft. circle at 9 o'clock.

Hansen went for this No. 1 and rolled out on the take out. Burke had to draw for two and the boys swept it all the way. He made it good; although the boys appeared "broomhappy" and almost swept up two for a three-point lead. The shot rock on his last shot for the shot at 2 o'clock just as the 12 foot circle rolled. Hansen made, the score reading 6-5 for P. E. I. In the 10th end, P. E. I. won the match, 9-6, by keeping the house clean in 3rd straight victory against the Islanders. The final score was 9-6.
