The Faults of Preachers.

Some are too weak, and some are too strong,
Some are too short, and some are too long;
Some are too stout, and some are too thin,
Some are always out, and some are always in;
Some are too good, and some are too bad,
Some are too grave, and some are too glad;
Some in their clothes are too equisite,
Some never study, and some never visit;
Some are too fine, and some are too plain,
Some preach the same sermon again and again;
Some, spite of whatever the critics may say,
In the midst of their most solemn sermons look gay;
And some, howe'er pleasing the facts they rehearse,
Are unable to smile, and look grave as a hearse,
Some in their business transactions are muffs,
Some can't keep their temper but get into huffs;
Some are too high, and some are too low.
And in their first sermon told all they know;
Some are too humble, and some are too proud,
Some are too faint, and some are too loud;
Some have many faults, some have but one.
But I never heard of one that had none.

A Cast of the Net.

THE STORY OF A DETECTIVE OFFICER.

CHAPTER II.—CONTINUED.

He swore more horribly than ever I heard any one swear, and springing forward, would certainly have hit her down; but I jumped between them and knocked up his arm. "Bravo!" shouted some women, who had been attracted by the girl's scream; and "Bravo!" said the men who hadn't interfered.

At once the captain turned on me, and let fly desperately at my head; but I was not to be had in that way, and I stopped him and returned a hit that I know must have loosened a couple of teeth; and then he swore again, and began to pull off his coat. So did I.

"Don't fight wid him, my darlin'," said an old Irishwoman, who was selling herrings, laying her hand on my arm. "You're an honest English boy, and these fellows will have a knife in ye if they can't bate yes fair."

"No, Biddy, they shant," said one of the men, coming forward, followed by a half-dozen more. "If there's to be a fight, it shall be a fair one; and mates, we'll put any fellow into six feet of mud who only shows a knife."

His mates said so, too, and they were a rough and likely lot for it, and the river was within a score or so of yards. So with a scowl at them (for I do believe now he meant murder; I didn't think of it then, although I was a policeman), he rolled up his sleeves and came at me.

He was a strong fellow, not so tall, perhaps, but certainly heavier than I was, and I dare say from his manner, fancied he could fight. But fight me! Why, a gent once offered through Alec Keene (he had seen me spar in private at Alec's), to make it worth my while to leave the police, and he would back me against any ten-stone-four man I fancied, for a hundred; and I was half inclined to take it too, only something important turned up just then. Well, in two rounds I settled the captain. He tried to catch hold of me and throw me; but I knocked him clean off his legs each round, and his friends took him away.

"There's one comfort at any rate in having had the row," I thought; "he'll never suppose I'm a detective after this."

I wished, however, it had never come off, there was so much fuss. Why, if I could have drunk shilling and sixpences, I might have had them, I do believe. In a place like that you get a crowd directly; and, although the affair did not last three minutes, there was a hundred men, and as many women, too, anxious to treat me; and I was naturally obliged to drink with one or two, not at the Anchor though.

The affair made such a stir, that I read in one of the local papers the next week how Jem Mace had been down in the neighborhood of the Docks, incog.; and that for once the brute strength of a boxer had been used in a good cause, and all that sort of nonsense. I know I have always found the best class of boxers very good fellows.

Of course I was vexed at this shindy having taken place so early, as the quieter I kept myself the better; and I would have given five pounds to have been out of it. My wishing this only shows you never know what is coming; and something came out of this street fight that I never expected.

FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPO-PHOS-PHITES

—:o:—

The Promoter and Perfector of Assimilation.

The Reformer and Vitalizer of the Blood.

The Producer and Invigorator of Nerve and Muscle.

The Builder and Supporter of Brain Power.

Fellows' Compound Syrup is composed of Ingrediants identical with those which constitute Healthy Blood, Muscle and Nerve and Brain Substance, whilst Life itself is directly dependant upon some of them.

By its union with the blood and its effect upon the muscles, re-establishing the one and toning the other, it is capable of effecting the following results:—

It will displace or wash out tuberculous matter, and thus cure Consumption.

By increasing Nervous and Muscular Vigor, it will cure Dyspepsia, feeble or interrupted action of the Heart and Palpitation, Weakness of Intellect caused by grief, weary, overtax or irregular habits, Bronchitis, Acute or Chronic, Congestion of the Lungs, even in the most alarming stages.

It cures Asthma, Loss of Voice, Neuralgia, St. Vitus Dance, Epileptic Fits, Whooping Cough, Nervousness, and is a most wonderful adjunct to other remedies in sustaining life during the process of Diptheria.

Do not be deceived by remedies bearing a similar name; no other preparation is a substitute for this under any circumstances.

Look out for the name and address J. I. FELLOWS', St. John, N. B., on the yellow wrapper in watermark, which is seen by holding the paper before the light.

Price $1.50 per Bottle, six for $7.50.

Sold by all Druggists.

Dec. 6, 1877.

The Greatest Medical Discovery since the Creation of Man, or since the Commencement of the Christian Era.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTERS are acknowledged by all who have used them, to act quicker than any other plaster they ever before tried, and that one of these plasters will do more real service than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure; but with these it is entirely different: the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

Physicians in all ages have thoroughly tested and well know the effect of Capsicum; and it has always been more or less used as a medical agent for an outward application; but it is only of very recent date that its advantages in a porous plaster have been discovered. Being, however, convinced of the wonderful cures effected by DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTERS, and their superiority over all other plasters, they now actually prescribe them, in their practice, for such diseases as rheumatism, pain in the side and back, and all such cases as have required the use of plasters or liniment. After you have tried other plasters and liniments, and they have failed, and you want a certain cure, ask your druggist for DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER. You can hardly believe your own convictions of its wonderful effects. Although powerful and quick in its action, you can rely on its safety for the most delicate person to wear, as it is free from lead and other poisonous material commonly used in the manufacture of ordinary plasters. One trial is a sufficient guarantee of its merits, and one plaster will sell hundreds to your friends.

Ask your druggist for DR. MELVIN'S CAPSICUM POROUS PLASTER, and take no other; or, on receipt of 25 cents for one, $1 for five, or $2 for a dozen, they will be mailed, post paid, to any address in the United States or Canadas.
