a practical one. The more bids a player makes, the greater the chance he will make a bidding error. Also, the more bids he makes, the greater the chance his partner will make an error.

But some hands do occasionally come up that require lengthy bidding sequences. When these occur, the long road to the final contract is followed, as witness today's hand.

North had slam aspirations as soon as South opened the bidding, but facing him was the specter of two heart losers. He bided his time by bidding a spade. The raise to two spades didn't take care of the heart problem.

The three club bid, which ordinarily would show the ace, was a manufactured bid designed to elicit a heart response from South. When all South did was bid three spades, the basic problem remained unsolved.

North then bid four diamonds. These were tall words from South's point of view. South had bid in minimum terms throughout, having twice shown willingness to play under game.

North's bids were obviously shaped as slam tries, since he could have bid game directly twice before. So South bid four hearts, though he lacked the ace, to show his hand contained greater or equal values than he had previously shown, as well as some heart control.

That was all North needed to know. He jumped to six diamonds.

Keep alert—chew gum

Avoid traffic jitters and driving drowsiness. Chew gum while you're behind the wheel. Chewing helps relieve strain and tension—helps keep you feeling fresh and alert for safer driving.

Chew any brand of gum you like but chew while you drive. Naturally, we recommend Wrigley's Spearmint Gum—for lively, satisfying flavour and real chewing enjoyment.

Negro May Get Execution Stay

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A Negro sentenced to die next week for a robbery in which an 82-year-old white woman says he tried to rape her may get a stay of execution.

Jimmy Wilson is scheduled to die Sept. 5 for a robbery that netted him $1.95 but the State Supreme Court, which upheld the verdict, has been asked to reconsider.

A source at the court said Monday that because of the time element, a reprieve probably will be granted. If the request still is pending Sept. 5, the reprieve will be automatic.

Wilson, 35, was convicted of robbing Mrs. Estelle Barker at her home in rural Perry County the night of July 27, 1957. She told the jury the Negro, who had worked for her as a yardman, choked her, tried to rape her and took $1.95 from her purse.

Although Wilson was unarmed, prosecutor B. L. Chard McLeod said the Negro put Mrs. Barker "in fear of her life." Under Alabama law, McLeod said, threatened violence can constitute an element of robbery the same as the use of a weapon.

Robbery is punishable by death in the electric chair in Alabama.
