Swim Classes At Tignish

The Tignish Sports Recreation Association will sponsor Red Cross water Safety Swimming classes commencing on July 18 for all children of the Elementary school district of Tignish. Approximately 125 children are expected to be enrolled, and will receive their training from three instructors who have successfully completed a training period at Red Cross swimming school at Charlottetown. The classes will be sponsored and promoted by the Tignish Sports Recreation Association, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Reg. Eldershaw. Supervision will be provided by volunteer members of the association. During the past few years a great number of tragic drowning accidents have taken place in the Tignish area, and it is the hope of Red Cross workers that swimming education will help to eliminate many drowning fatalities in our province and alert the older people of the importance of children learning to swim at an early age.

Summerside Boy Rides First Winner

Last fall 20-year-old Gus Poirier was one of many promising exercise boys who wanted to become a jockey.

When an accident sent the Summerside, P.E.I. youth to the hospital, where doctors told him never ride again.

On Monday the curly-haired youth flouted the doctors, riding the first winner of his career, Jiveoil, in a photo-finish over Balinod in the eighth race at Woodbine race track.

"It's a great feeling," said Poirier, "I want to be there more often."

When a horse he was on hit a rail last November it broke Poirier's hip, pelvis and right leg. He was in the hospital for four weeks and on crutches for three months. He still walks with a slight limp.

Jiveoil, owned by John Calhoun and R. W. Young, returned $19.90, $7.90 and $4 across the board. The four-year-old filly was only the third horse Poirier had ridden in a race.

This year's Anniversary service at Tignish will mark a new change in protestant church history for the western part of the province where Alberton and Montrose pastoral charges, having a total of seven churches, have come together to form one pastoral charge that is supervised by Rev. M.R. Pocklington and a student assistant, Brian Gazzard. This is a new venture that is expected to be worked out over a two year period.
