UNITED STATES.
NEW YORK, June 11.
Singleton Van Buren, a grandson of Van Buren, died yesterday.
It is estimated a week's strike of the Longshoremen caused a loss to the S. S. Co.'s of $250,000, and to the men of $140,000 in wages. Most of the companies have taken back the strikers, agreeing to discharge the green hands.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, June 11.
During a terrific thunder storm here tonight, the freight office and warerooms building of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy R. R. were burned to the ground; most of the contents were saved. It is supposed the fire was the result of a heavy charge of electricity entering the building on the telegraph wire.

Another gang of young desperadoes have been arrested in Buffalo, New York, who confess being a part of a regularly organized band who have operated in several cities as well as Buffalo. They confess to over 100 burglaries and larcenies. The police are after the rest of the gang.

Squire Jones, a farmer residing on the Buffalo fork of Tyert's Creek, Ky., became infatuated with a courtesan, and on Friday attempted to bring her into his house. His wife resented the insult and Jones threatened her with a knife. She seized an adze and with the blunt portion knocked him down and endeavored to escape. He recovered and rushed after her, when she turned and struck him with the sharp edge, killing him instantly.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.
On Monday night, at the residence of William Rodden, near Wheatland, a room in which two young ladies, Ida Dunn and Cora Heslep, were sleeping, was entered by a person unknown, and both ladies were beaten nearly to death with an iron bar, which was subsequently found on the premises. None of the family were awakened until some time after, when the groans of Miss Heslep aroused them. She was insensible and was covered with blood and wounds. Miss Dunn was found out doors near the house, also insensible and terribly mutilated, an attempt having been made to ravish her. Armed parties are scouring the neighborhood.

WASHINGTON, June 11.
The warmer Silver Bill has been shelved for the Session, the Senate refusing to take up Coke's resolution for bringing the measure directly before that body. The Legislative appropriation bill as it passed the House on Monday was reported to the Senate and was referred to the committee on appropriations. The House passed a joint resolution providing for final adjournment on Tuesday next and discussed appropriations for certain judicial expenses of the Government, passing it by 102 yeas to 85 nays.

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.
At eleven o'clock this morning, the lightning struck a large warehouse at the oil works of Warren Frew & Co., at Point Breeze. The entire building was soon in flames. The fire spread so rapidly that the whole neighborhood was in danger of being consumed. It spread to the dwelling houses fronting the works, and to the shipping in the Skuykill river and is now burning fiercely.

The latest despatch says that seven vessels are burning and many others are in imminent danger.

DEATH OF THE PRINCE OF ORANGE.
PARIS, June 11.
The Prince of Orange, heir apparent to the throne of the Netherlands, died here this morning aged 33 years.

There was a serious frost in Wisconsin Friday night. Advances from various points in Vermont and New Hampshire show heavy frosts on the same night with much damage to crops. At North Troy, Vt., there was quite a snow storm.

The Intercolonial Railway.

(From the Toronto Mail.)
The discussion of the Intercolonial railway management in the Lower Provinces reveals a singular inconsistency among some of the friends of economy and change of Government. For several years the cry against Mr. Brydges was his extravagance. When Sir Charles Tupper pointed out the waste of public money on the railway he was cheered to the echo. Naturally enough he assumed that the people wanted to put an end to that extravagance. When he showed how great was the yearly increase of expenditure over receipts—amounting in the last two years to over a million dollars—he was applauded by all his hearers. Naturally enough he took it for granted that the people wanted to put an end to deficits on the Intercolonial railway as well as in the treasury itself. Well, when he came into power he at once proceeded to fulfill his promise. He reduced the staff; he lessened salaries; he cut off expenses; he put into operation a complete scheme of retrenchment and strict administration. He has not done so without protest, and the protests have come most bitterly from friends. Under the late Government things were loosely done. Members of Parliament could get almost anything done. The salaries alone on the road were run up $8,000 in the month or two previous to the elections in September, 1878. Under the new order of things this could not be done. Men were dismissed, not taken on; the staff was lessened, not enlarged; salaries were cut down, not increased; members of Parliament had not the same privileges as before. Consequently a good deal of annoyance has been felt, and some of it is being ably expressed in the St. John Sun in editorials and letters. But it is no use being indignant. The Minister of Railways or the superintendent could, at this moment get a dozen—more than a dozen—men for every situation on the road at even less salaries than are now paid the men; and as for freights they have been put down as low as is possible under existing circumstances. The truth is that the deficit on the Intercolonial must be reduced by Sir Charles Tupper. He pledged himself to that, and to that he has bent himself earnestly. The people of the Maritime Provinces applauded his Opposition speeches. They must now support his administrative policy. It is he who is consistent. It is amusing to notice the tone of the Opposition papers in east. They dare not complain of the reductions; but knowing that they who are thus cut down complain, they publish as fully as possible lists of the names of the men whose incomes have been decreased. It is, however, amongst the Government's friends that the most opposition exists. For it is upon them that the pressure comes heaviest and first. But what the Minister was to do with an increasing deficit to keep down and a pledge of economy to keep up no one of the critics is able to suggest. The railway must either be run by the Government or by a company. If the Government cannot run it on economical principles a company would certainly not try. It is from the running of the road on liberal terms by the Government that the country has most to hope. And the Minister of Railways fully deserves at the hands of the public the warmest support in a policy of economy, the honesty and thoroughness of which are evinced by the fact that it is the Government's own friends who feel aggrieved at his economy.

An Elaborate Fishing Outfit.

The Beaufort-Southern party left Quebec Thursday afternoon by the steamer "Acadia," of the Allan line, for the Natashquan river. The Monetary Times says: "Perhaps the most elaborate plan of a fishing establishment which has been made of late in Canada is that of the 'Duke of Beaufort,' Sir John Read, Mr. Southern and their English party, who purpose salmon fishing on the Natashquan river on the north shore of Quebec. Bedsteads, tables, chairs, tents, have been made to order for the occasion; a steamer chartered at $1,000 to convey the party down the gulf; the yacht Acadian secured to take them up where the steamer puts them early in June. It is not announced what special arrangements Mr. Southern has made on this occasion for the perpetration of the practical jokes of which he is so fond. But it is nearly certain as anything can be that his party will have 'lots of fun,' and the reclat of this notable pleasure trip can scarcely fail to attract further influential parties from the old countries to our shores in search of sport.

As Mrs. Honora Lacy, of Wilmington, was riding Saturday evening, the contents of the carriage (cotton and straw) were accidentally ignited, the horse ran away and she was roasted alive.

It is reported that the University of Oxford will confer the degree of D. C. L. on Lord Dufferin, the Right Hon. William Henry Smith, First Lord of the Admiralty, and Ivan Tourguenieff, the Russian novelist.

Rev. Mr. Bjerring, pastor of the Greek church at New York, has received a note signed "Nihilist committee," ordering him to stop preaching. The Russian consul has also received a threatening letter.

Mrs. Vredenburg having sued the members of the Crescent City Rifle Club, of New Orleans, secured a verdict of $15,000. Her husband had been killed by a pet bear kept on the club grounds.

AROMATIC MONTSERRAT QUININE CORDIAL which is a combination of Pure Quinine, with Lime Fruit Juice, cordialised by the addition of Aromatics, but ENTIRELY FREE FROM ALCOHOL.

Upon the medicinal virtues of Lime Juice and Quinine it is unnecessary to dilate. The combination of two agents of such universally acknowledged value, in at once a palatable and innocuous form, has been a desideratum long sought, but only now successfully accomplished; for although the Tonic qualities of Quinine have been popularised in the form of QUININE WINES, it is well known these combinations have been attended with serious evils consequent upon the Alcoholic Stimulants they all contain, at once prejudicial to health and demoralising in their tendency.
Aromatic Montserrat Quinine Cordial is guaranteed to contain one grain of Quinine in each wineglassful, and to be entirely free from alcohol, being prepared solely from the Montserrat Lime Fruit Juice combined with Aromatics.
