United Church General Council Votes $100 Pay Increase For Ministers

by RAE CORELLI Canada Press Staff Writer SACKVILLE, N. B. (CP)—The United Church of Canada 16th general council voted its ministers a $100 annual pay increase Wednesday which will make the 1955 minimum salary $2,800. The 375 lay and clerical delegates attending this 10-day session of the highest United Church court passed a corollary proposal that the church set $3,000 a year as the minimum salary for ordained married ministers, a goal "to be reached progressively as early as possible.

The report was one of several brought down at the afternoon session which the business committee set aside as "a cleanup sitting" for dealing with matters bypassed in the hectic pace so far. APPROVE CAR ALLOWANCES The committee report also: 1. Got approval for a proposal that the graded scale of car allowances now paid ministers in aid-receiving charges "be maintained and increased as far as funds provided in the budget" will permit. Ministers now get 15 cents for each mile covered in Sunday traveling to and from their churches by car plus a flat depreciation payment of $25 for up to 39 miles and $25 for distances 40 miles or over. Thus, a minister who has to drive 100 miles every Sunday to perform his duties would be paid a total of $1,005. The minimum payment is $400 which means the minimum salary before Wednesday's change actually was $3,100—$2,700 basic and $400 in travel allowances.

"Aid-receiving charges" are those whose members cannot afford to maintain a clergyman without the help of additional funds from the missionary and maintenance fund of the church. 2. Got approval for a suggestion that "all pastoral charges" try to raise the salary of their ministers. This underlined the fact that the payment of the minimum salary—or any amount over it—isn't compulsory on the part of churches. 3. Got approval for a proposal that the minimum car allowance paid to ministers on self-supporting charges "be maintained and increased as far as funds of these churches will permit."

The council rejected a motion to increase the car depreciation allowance by an across-the-board $75 a year. CALL FOR HOUSING The delegates also adopted a resolution calling on the government to do everything possible to alleviate the housing shortage and to co-ordinate immigration and employment legislation. The council also adopted the report of the committee on civil and religious liberty which said that "for the most part" a "friendly and tolerant relationship" existed between Roman Catholics and Protestants in Quebec province. The report deplored "McCarthyism" which it said "demonstrates the vulnerability of any community which leaves large numbers of its citizens in political apathy and ignorance.

The resolution fixing the 1955 minimum salary passed easily 139-90 but only after sharp debate during which nearly every lay delegate who spoke insisted that the increase be introduced and while most ministers arguing that it shouldn't be. MAY RELAX CONTROLS ON POLIO VACCINE By ALTON P. BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Reporter NEW YORK (AP)—Strict controls over use of gamma globulin against polio will apparently be relaxed somewhat about Oct. 1. One or two pharmaceutical firms have announced they will begin selling some of it through drug stores then. Doctors could obtain it for youngsters whose parents wish to can afford GG shots. Widespread use of GG might affect the scientific testing of how effective the alk polio vaccine has been this summer. But spokesmen for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said they do not expect much effect. The vaccine has been given to more than 400,000 youngsters in test areas throughout the country. What happens to them this fall will be compared with what happens to non-vaccinated youngsters in the same areas to see whether and how much the vaccine conferred protection. The vaccine stimulates production of antibodies against polio viruses. Gamma globulin is a medicine obtained from blood of persons previously exposed to polio virus, which contains antibodies. GG shots can give temporary protection against sickness or paralysis from polio. The polio foundation has been buying up all supplies of GG, turning them over to the Office of Defence Mobilization which controls distribution through state health officers for use in epidemic areas. The ODM recommended that use of GG be discouraged in that "the test areas so far as possible.

The foundation's contracts to buy GG expire Oct. 1. Personals Mr. and Mrs. George Caldwell of Chicago, Illinois, are visiting the Island. The main point of interest during their stay is to visit Green Gables. Friends of little Karen McAleer, Elm Avenue, will be sorry to hear that she has entered the City Hospital for an operation. All wish her a speedy recovery. Mrs. Earle Boulter, Albany left on Friday morning for Lachine, Quebec, to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Sgt. and Mrs. Walter C. Barlow.

TORONTO, (CP)—Byrne Hope Sanders, director of the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion, told the Ontario Public School Trustees' Association Tuesday only 53 per cent of Canadians support an association with the British Commonwealth. She said institute findings show 63 per cent of Canadians over 50 endorse the association. At that time, 21 per cent thought Canada should be associated with the United States and 24 per cent thought Canada should be independent.

Earlier 15 chaplains and three crew members parachuted safely from a C-46.

Discussed Uniform Truck Regulations

Messrs. William Brennan and Tony Gallant were in Saint John yesterday to attend a meeting between the New Brunswick Motor Carrier Board and Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island representatives. A meeting somewhat similar to that held yesterday but on a much wider scale is scheduled for Winnipeg in the near future. Expected to attend from this Province will be Judge C. LARGE ATTENDANCE AT OPENING OF CHARLOTTETOWN HOSPITAL BAZAAR

The annual Bazaar in aid of the Charlottetown Hospital was officially opened at 8:30 o'clock last evening at the Community Centre by Most Reverend Gregory J. MacLellan, Vicar-Capitular of the Diocese. In a concise but informative address, Monsignor MacLellan traced the history of the Hospital and punctuated the highlights which have marked the progress of the institution from a small beginning to the gratifying status it now enjoys among hospitals on this Continent. He spoke in words of highest praise of the sacrifice and devotion which characterized all those who worked so vigorously and so effectively in the past in the interest of the sick in the community.

"We must continue to stand together and work together to provide for those who need our care as in the past and to maintain the noble traditions of those who have gone before as we carry on the work which they began, following the example of He who healed the sick," Monsignor MacLellan concluded. Dr. W. J. F. MacMillan, O.B.E. Chief of Staff of the Hospital spoke briefly, adding his words of appreciation on behalf of the Staff and all those who are associated in the effective operations of the hospital. A FINE RECORD "You will rejoice with me to know that your Hospital was able to contribute $80,000 in free work to the sick during the past year, which is $20,000 more than we were called upon to extend to those requiring such service in the previous year," Dr. MacMillan said. Mr. Loman MacAulay was Master of Ceremonies. Following the declaration by Monsignor MacLellan that the Bazaar "is now officially opened," the various booths became active in the sale of inviting articles and other attractions for which the annual bazaar is noted. A canteen which catered to coffee, hot dogs, and sandwich addicts was in keen competition with the Fish and Chips booth throughout the evening. Home cooking, fancy work and a Baby's Booth sponsored by the Junior League also drew large numbers, while the amusement tables and booths were patronized extensively.

On the stage, entertainment was provided by the Lads and Lassies Band in a medley of reels and marches interspersed with group dancing in the Highland fling War. The bazaar will be continued each evening for the remainder of this week with a change of stage entertainment at each session. Tonight Frank McIntyre and Jimmie Flannigan will be heard in vocal numbers, Margaret Rhynes will be seen in Highland dances and Harry MacGillivray will contribute numbers on the pipes. The hearty co-operation of the C.W.L. of both St. Dunstan's Basilica and the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer parishes, associated with the B.Y.C.O. St. Charles' Auxiliary, St. Veronica's Guild and the Junior League, combined to make the initial night of the bazaar a huge success. The nicely decorated booths and inviting surroundings of the well-appointed auditorium, contributed in no small measure to the enjoyment of the large number of patrons.

National Park Swimming Tests

The National Park officials and the Red Cross have experienced excellent co-operation again this summer in the maintenance of the life guard service at Dalvay, Stanhope, Brackley and Cavendish beaches. The Red Cross each year trains the life guards in swimming, life saving and first aid. The Red Cross also issues and regularly inspects the equipment for the first aid posts which are established in the life guard stations. The National Parks management in return encourages the life guards to conduct classes in swimming and water safety during the periods of the day when the beaches are not frequented by bathers. Summer visitors and residents alike benefit from these instructional periods.
