CANADAS RESPONSE TO THE CALL OF THE EMPIRE

When the clarion note of war resounded throughout the world and all the people were called to take part, Canadians, filled with a glorious determination that right should subjugate might and that Democracy should rule through the world, rallied to the flag and showed by their valor and the laurels won on many a hardfought battlefield that the sons of Britain no matter in what field of endeavor, are second to none in the world.

The small army that Canada was able to offer in the beginning of the war was but an item in comparison with the millions engaged before the end, but that small army and those who enthusiastically followed it held the enemy at bay whilst the might of Great Britain was being mobilized.

In the great rally in defence of Liberty Great Britain only asked for 20,000 men not because she required them to win the war, but in view of the moral affect it would have on the world. From Canada over 300,000 voluntarily responded. Of this number about 60,000 were killed in action or died of wounds or from other causes.

It is needless to speak of the great battles in which the Canadians showed themselves worthy of their forefathers: Ypres, Festubert, Givenchy, Messines, St. Eloi, Somme, Vimy, Lens, Hill 70, Passchandaele, Cambria Amiens, and at the last the capture of Mons.

Besides the Expeditionary force that fought on land, there were also the brave sailors who defended the might of great Britain on the sea.

Not only did the men of Canada show themselves true subjects, but the women in their strong patriotism were willing to suffer all hardships, as long as they knew they were doing something for those near and dear who in Europe were toiling so strenuously for right and liberty.

Besides her duty performed on the battlefields of Europe, Canada played a noble part in throwing open to the Allies our immense resources, and the products of our prairies woods and mines, were poured out generously to assist in the destructioin of piratical tyranny. Also when money was needed on the different occasions for the proper carrying on of the war, our Victory Loans were over subscribed. There loans were so arranged that the poorest citizens as well as the richest could feel that he had done something to aid our country in its hour of need.

Now we come to Reconstruction. What is it? Reconstruction means that each and everyone of us will aim to see our country better than when we found it. It means all of us working for the final good with the object of trying to imitate the example set before us by those who died that the great principle of "Liberty" may be prepetuated in the generation that will follow us.

Now that the struggle is over, we may recall the events of the last four years and be proud of the glorious part our beloved Canada took in the Great World War which is happily at an end.
