ELECTORS, ATTENTION!

SEE THAT YOUR POLL TAX IS PAID, AND MAINTAIN YOUR RIGHT TO VOTE.

ANY person who fails to pay his Poll Tax before the Court of Revision is held in June and July, forfeits his right to vote on the Franchise. Read the following extract from the law, and secure, without delay, your right to vote when the time comes:—

1. Every man shall be entitled to be registered as a voter, and when registered, to vote for members to serve in the House of Assembly of this Province for the Electoral District wherein he resides, who is qualified as follows, that is to say:

- (1.) Is a British subject of the full age of twenty-one years, and free from any legal incapacity; and
- (2.) Has during the twelve months immediately preceding the first day of the sitting of the Court for the revision of the Lists of Voters for the House of Assembly, at which he may apply to be registered as a voter, been resident in the Polling Division for which he may claim to vote; and
- (3.) Has paid his Poll Tax for the year immediately preceding such sitting of the said Court of Revision.

Such is now the law. If your name is not on the Register you cannot vote, and your name cannot be placed upon the Register UNLESS YOUR POLL TAX IS PAID. It is no use grumbling about hard times. The Government which lays on the tax knows how to secure payment. You might as well pay first as last; and by paying right away you secure your right to vote and a chance to drive from power, when the time comes, the mixers and muddlers who now prostitute the Government of this country. As we say to one so we say to all who have not already paid their poll tax, "Pay without delay."

The Courts of Revision will be held in Queen's County on the dates named below; and the poll tax must be paid before they are held—payment may be made at the office of the Provincial Secretary:—

- 1st. Belle Creek, Lot 62, at or near the Schoolhouse, 18th June.
- 2nd. Eldon, County Court House, Lot 57, 19th June.
- 3rd. Green Marsh, at Cross of Douse's Road and Murray Harbor Road, 20th June.
- 4th. Pownal, at or near the Hall, Lot 49, 21st June.
- 5th. Fort Augustus, Lot 36, at or near Schoolhouse, Monaghan Road, 22nd June.
- 6th. Clifton County Court House, Lot 21, 23rd June.
- 7th. New Glasgow County Court House, Lot 23, 26th June.
- 8th. Brackley Point, Lot 33, at or near the Hall, by Chas. Kennedy's, 28th June.
- 9th. St. Peter's Road, County Court House, Lot 35, 29th June.
- 10th. North Wiltshire, Lot 31, at or near the Schoolhouse, 1st July.
- 11th. Springton, Lot 66, at or near the Schoolhouse, 2nd July.
- 12th. Crapaud, at or near the Hall, Lot 29, 3rd July.
- 13th. Bonshaw County Court House Lot 30, 5th July.
- 14th. Charlottetown, Court House, 8th July.

Correspondence.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the statements or opinions of our correspondents.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

In conversation a few days ago with a strong supporter of the Government, who had just visited the New Asylum, he spoke in bitter denunciation of the fraud being perpetrated upon the people. It seems that the architects or contractors are not remedying matters in the least. The foundation remains insecure, and the Government show no disposition to carry out their promise made last session. It seems that we must endure all this, and that the protestations of an indignant people have no effect upon our unscrupulous Government.

Yours,
ANTI-SWINDLE.
Ch'town, June 7, 1878.

Our Washington Letter

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4, 1878.

Some person of a superstitious turn of mind has discovered that Friday—so often considered the day of ill-omen—is to President Hayes both a lucky and unlucky day. He was nominated at Cincinnati on Friday; the bill creating the Electoral Commission was passed on Friday; the Commission rendered its decision on the last disputed State on Friday; the count was completed and Hayes declared President on Friday, and on Friday the Potter resolutions were passed. It scarcely seems possible that Mr. Hayes can really feel the composure and unconcern he has exhibited throughout the turmoil that has been raging about him of late. Generally he sits at his wonted desk calmly attending to his usual every-day duties. He declares his conscience to be clear, and if that is true then his composure is accounted for, for he needs no other upholder. And, in fact, he must be more of a man than he generally receives credit for being if he could assume the exterior that he has shown for these last weeks.

He believes in himself, in God, in the mass of people and in his good wife (chiefly in the first and the last, some one has said), and so he is not afraid. No one can have forgotten the terrible events connected with the Chisholm family, of Mississippi, which occurred last year. The funeral services of the father, son and daughter, mob-murdered, were but lately held in this city, Bishop Gilbert Haven officiating. Mrs. Chisholm now holds a position in the Treasury—a $900 clerkship—and is making an effort to raise funds for the removal of the bodies of her husband and children and to raise a monument to their memory. She has property enough in Mississippi, but can neither sell or use it.

A Strange Life.

DISINHERITING HIS HEIR IN FAVOR OF HIS FOOTMAN.

There is a young baronet at present in London whose case deserves commiseration. Sir Chandos Stanhope Hoskyns Reade, ninth baronet, is the son of a Madras officer, and a great nephew of the late Sir Chandos Reade, of Shipton-court, Oxfordshire, and Oddington Park, Gloucestershire, who in his dotage disinherited his heir in favor of his footman—a man of the name of Wakefield, who has since assumed the name of Reade. The story of Sir John Reade's life remains yet to be told. He inherited large landed estates in Berks, Oxon and Gloucestershire, was a Harrow and Ch. Ch. man, and married a niece of the then Lord Elibank. For years his drunken habits were a bye-word, and when he served the office of High Sheriff, at a dinner at the Star at Oxford, his intoxication took the form of dancing upon the table. His wife died of grief; his only son, Compton, of the vice to which he was addicted. Lastly, he was suspected of having got rid of his butler—a man named Sinden—by foul play, and some months after his death, the butler's wife inscribed on the tombstone the words, "It was a mortal hand that did the deed." This led to a coroner's inquest, but the body, on being exhumed, was found to be decomposed, and told no tale. For the last 20 years of his life he lived at Shipton Court in complete seclusion, his only associate being Wakefield, to whom he bequeathed his whole possessions, including the pictures of Chief Justice Reade, temp., Henry VII., and of Sir Compton Reade, the first baronet of the second creation; together with valuable records illustrating the past history of a family which, besides the Chief Justice, counts among its worthies Mr. John Edmund Reade, the poet, and Mr. Charles Reade, the novelist and dramatist. Sir Charles Reade is engaged at present in ascertaining whether there are sufficient grounds to enable him to move the law courts in any special direction; and I am informed that, should the case be thoroughly exploited, some very strange and dramatic details will be made public. It should be added that Sir Chandos Reade's right to the baronetcy has been already decided by a law suit in his favor, the date of creation being 1660—Whitehall Review.

There died in Berlin last April a gentleman named Bersig, the greatest manufacturer of locomotives in Europe. His father began with a capital of $7,500, lent him by a Berlin tradesman, and the son left $15,000,000. Since 1837 the firm has turned over 3,600 locomotives. They employ over 10,000 men.

General News.

Gustave Dore is jolly and round-faced. Portland, Maine, has a Maltese cat which kills snakes.

"Telephonic communication" is now a current phrase in the newspapers.

The Colorado beetle is going through some of the potato fields of Lower Canada. "I am compelled to show you how people die," said, courteously, Leopold de Michele, an old officer of the Italian army, to an official in Rome, to whom he had vainly applied for relief, and drawing a sharpened wire from his bosom, he drove it into his breast.

Jefferson Davis has been awarded, by the Mississippi Court of Appeals, a large plantation for which he once paid his brother, but did not secure a legal transfer, and which his brother (now dead) afterwards sold to a negro for $300,000. This makes Davis a rich man.

A witness by whom Daniel Dean attempted to prove an alibi in the trial for murder at Estillville, Va., was pushed so closely on his cross examination, that he got frightened, and confessed to swearing as he did for $75, given him by a lawyer. The lawyer vanished before he could be arrested, and Dean was convicted of murder in the first degree.

An insane patient, accompanied by his wife and a dog, created a sensation in a Pullman palace car on the Minneapolis and St. Louis road. The conductor and passengers tried in vain to put the canine into the baggage car, but the man irately presented a revolver, and despite a great commotion, "held the fort" to his journey's end.

In a case tried at the Old Bailey, London, a late eminent judge determined that the test of criminality, where a man is killed in wrestling, should be whether the struggle took place in anger. But Mr. Justice Lopes, in a recent case at Liverpool, held that to cause the death of another, even in a perfectly amicable wrestling match, is manslaughter.

It is hard times in New York for handsome churches. St. Ann's Church was to have been sold under a foreclosure, but the pastor's son-in-law came forward with $70,000, on condition that the church raised $15,000. This paid off the debt. St. Benedict's (a German Catholic Church) which cost about $80,000, was to have been sold on Saturday to satisfy a judgment of the builder, but some of the richer members bought up the judgment.

At a recent drawing-room at Buckingham Palace the Queen wore a dress and train of black brocaded Irish poplin interwoven with silver, and trimmed with black feathers, and long white tulle veil, surmounted by a coronet of Indian pearls. Her Majesty also wore an Indian necklace, composed of an ornament of large diamonds, pearls, and a stomacher and ear-rings of large Indian diamonds, emeralds and pearls—all presents from Indian Princes.

The Russian head of the police Department, Gen. Trepoff, after being shot by the girl Vera Zassolitch, thought himself mortally wounded, and made his will, leaving about $3,000,000 to his family. This caused his dismissal, and not public sentiment. The Czar had always considered him poor and honest, and was shocked to find that a man who he thought was serving him through personal devotion had shared in the common corruption of official life.

About one hundred Irishmen, some of them evicted tenants at one time of the Leitrim estate, met in Philadelphia on Sunday to raise a fund for the defence of the men McGrath and Harity, who are charged with the assassination of Lord Leitrim. "We do not wish to countenance assassination," they said, "but we know that the men accused would not stain their hands with blood, even to rid the earth of a tyrant." The meeting finally resolved to issue an appeal to Irishmen to organize a "National McGrath and Harity fund" $150 were subscribed.

At Cumbrasslang, Scotland, a gentleman, who kept a large number of fancy fowls, going into his hen-house at 2 o'clock in the morning, was pounced upon in a rough manner from behind the door, followed by these words, "I have caught the thief." "No," says the owner, "but I have caught the thief." Then a violent struggle took place between the two men, each man determined to secure his prisoner. As soon as they came to the light, the gardener discovered that he had his master by the throat, while the master also found out his mistake. The gardener has since been dismissed.

Wholesale business continues without important changes. The demand is now of such a character that it can cause no activity in any department until a general improvement in trade is brought about. Buyers operate with cautiousness and will purchase only such stock as is absolutely necessary. As the demand is at a minimum and can be no further curtailed the present condition of business must prevail until the opening of the fall trade, when, in consequence of the prospect of a bountiful harvest, it is expected that an improvement will be brought about. The price of breadstuffs has undergone a further decline this week, because of the more peaceful aspect of European affairs, the prospect of an immense harvest, both in the United States and Canada, and the heavy receipts of grain at the Western ports. Provisions have also reached extremely low prices, owing to excessive stocks and light demand—Montreal Gazette.
