

Braves Blanked 5-0 For Fourth Straight Defeat

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Sam Jones and the cellar-dwelling Chicago Cubs momentarily halted Milwaukee's National League pennant drive Friday by handing the league-leading Braves their fourth straight loss, 5-0.

The third-place Brooklyn Dodgers, however, lost a chance to gain ground. Willy Mays' two homers, good for three runs, and a better-than-it-looks 12-hit pitching job by southpaw Johnny Antonelli paced the New York Giants to a 4-2 win over the Dodgers in the first game of a two-night doubleheader in the American League, run-scoring singles by Jackie Jensen and Ted Lepcio in the 10th inning enabled the Boston Red Sox to take the lead for the third time and defeat Baltimore Orioles 7-3 in the opening of a doubleheader.

The rumpaging Cincinnati Reds, fresh from a 3-1 series victory over the Braves, met St. Louis in a night game. A Pittsburgh-Philadelphia night encounter rounded out National League action while in the American League Detroit met Kansas City, Chicago was at Cleveland and the Yankees were hosts to Washington at under lights.

JONES IN CONTROL
Jones, exhibiting excellent control, limited the stumbling Braves to seven hits at Chicago. The big right-hander walked four and struck out seven to boost his league-leading strikeout total to 34.

day night prevented the fast-moving Cincinnati Reds from taking a big step in the National League pennant race as the St. Louis Cardinals scored a 1-0 victory.

The defeat kept the Redlegs 1 1/2 games behind the league-leading Milwaukee Braves, beaten Friday by Chicago. A victory would have moved them to within only 1/2 game of the lead.

Mizzell, in picking up his 13th victory against 12 defeats, struck out six and walked three. He retired the side in order in 3 of 10 in the side in order in six of the nine innings.

The colorful southpaw duelled with Joe Nuxhall until Boyer's 22nd homer of the season went into the left field bleachers with one out in the seventh. It was only the Redbird third baseman's second home run since the all-star game.

NEW YORK (AP)—Herb Plews and Roy Sievers each had four hits Friday night as the Washington Senators overhauled a 4-0 New York lead to defeat the American League leading Yankees 6-5. Yogi Berra drove in four of New York's runs with his 37th home run and a single.

Yogi Berra's home run, a three-run shot, wrapped up a four-run third inning for the Yankees against Bob Chakales, making his first start of the year. Hank Bauer brought the first marker home in a frame with his 22nd home run, an inside-the-park job.

The seventh-place Giants, now 8-11 against Brooklyn for the year, hammered 13 hits, five of them off Carl Erbe, who pitched his ninth defeat in 21 decisions after Antonelli doubled and Don Mueller singled for a 3-0 New York lead in the second inning.

Yesterday's rain was the first real break in over a month of good old time typical summer weather. Beginning the last three days of July and carrying through to the 6th of September the weather could safely be classed as superb. There were the odd days when low clouds with mist and showers and a breeze with a punch to it left something to be desired but for the most part it was succession of sun dappled wood roads, blue wavelets breaking on sandy beaches and the hill-sides aglow with the yellow tinge of ripening grain.

That was all the information I needed and I made a call as a farmer overlooking the creek and marsh. The farmer met me in the yard. I knew he wasn't the culprit for he didn't shoot. "Have you heard any shots on the marsh lately?" His eyes blinked once or twice before he answered: "No things have been very quiet." I looked him fair in the face and replied: "Don't hand me that line partner. This marsh has been shot out in the last two weeks!" He heaved a sigh: "Yes that's right. Who told you?" I replied: "The ducks." It was just as simple as that.

Its too much to expect that such a pleasing condition can exist until the opening morning but the intense interest of sportsmen in game conservation, as evidenced by the phenomenal build up in the different Branch Game Associations membership, will cause the potential poacher to think twice before going out after an illegal duck dinner.

I haven't had time to check on the pheasants I released a few weeks ago but I plan this coming week to take a brace of Pointer pups and give the area the once over. They are over 8 months old and at the curious stage and interested in anything new. The calling card of the fox in a fence corner will send them into a huddle for minutes before they wander off to find something new. If any pheasants have died or been killed by predators they'll check the spot like they found a gold mine. With food so abundant one would wonder why any should die of their own free will and a darker colour and didn't believe on taking chance of game warden's or anything else. When I approached it squatted on the moss as tight as possible and closed its eyes. When I picked it up for removal to safe quarters it left me enough warts elize to keep me in warts all my life if this fable was true. There's nothing in the story that made me any warts. While typing this column I happened to glance up at the wall and spotted a clipping tacked thereon. It wasn't there when I left the office and looks like B. Graham's handiwork. It reads thusly: Sign on a Gateau Farm "Attention Hunters: Please Don't shoot anything on my place that isn't moving. It may be my hired man." Very appropriate! I must say with the hunting season coming up.

Ti-Cats Play At Ottawa Al's Travel To Toronto

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
The surprises of the Big Four football season opens two weeks ago will be put to the test today when the same teams play return engagements.

Rough Rider, who dropped a pair to Alouettes after heating Hamilton, will have end Joe Cummings back in the lineup for the first time since the opening game when he suffered an ankle injury.

This coupled with the opinion that the law of averages is against Eskimos winning them all—especially those close ones—gives rise to some thought that the champions might be ripe for a loss to Saskatchewan Roughriders at Regina tonight or to the Stampeders at Calgary Monday night.

Tiger-Cats have no serious injuries among their regulars.

Wirkowski is expected to handle the bulk of the quarterbacking although Knox may get in for a few plays and will be used as defensive safety.

Stampeders seek their second victory of the season tonight at Vancouver when they go against British Columbia Lions, who with a 3-3 record are tied with Saskatchewan and Winnipeg Blue Bombers in second place. In the other Monday night game, Riders are at Winnipeg.

BACKFIELD TROUBLE
